

MONTANA TO DEBATE WITH OREGON APRIL 2

Word from Crockett and Morris Says Debate in California Closely Contested

The University of Montana debating team will meet the Oregon team in Villard Hall a week from Friday night, the question under discussion being that of government ownership of railroads. The same question was under consideration when Oregon defeated Washington a week ago, but this time the negative will be upheld by the home team, composed of Victor Morris and Cloyd Dawson.

Peter Crockett and Victor Morris have not as yet returned from their California trip, and so details of the southern debate are not available. A letter from them states, however, that the debate was closely contested, with a complete analysis of the subject by both sides.

SIX PRIZE HUNTING SENIORS FILE NAMES AND ORATIONS

Six Seniors have filed their names and titles for the Failing-Beekman Prizes: Maurice B. Hill, Manufacture of Textiles in the Northwest; Lawrence Dinneen, Success; Can It be Measured; Peter C. Crockett, World Peace; Victor Morris, Democracy and World Peace; Bert Lombard, Our Relations With South America; James T. Donald, Equality of Opportunity Before the Bar.

These prizes consist of $150 and $100, respectively, and are awarded to that Senior "who shall pronounce the best original oration at the time of his or her graduation." They were donated by Hon. Henry Failing, of Portland, and the late Hon. C. C. Beekman, of Jacksonville.

Last year the prizes went to Janet Young and Harold Quigley, respectively, while in 1913 they were won by Carleton Spencer and Howard Zimmerman.

SOUTHERN SCHOOLS MUST RECOGNIZE OREGON IN SOCCER

ment, "and it will not surprise me if some of the old men are made to work exceptionally hard if they are to keep their positions on the team. Competition for places will be a more interesting fight than it has been in the past."

In reviewing the work of the players, Professor Dymment said that the men had taken an interest in the game which was gratifying to a coach, and that their work, considering the limited time most of them have played, was worthy of praise. They stayed by the game from September 25 to March 13 without a falter or once letting interest lag; they played for love of the game itself.

Since soccer is not yet a conference sport, no honor emblems are awarded.

To Neil Ford, captain of this year's team, Coach Dymment attributes much for the success of the season because of the excellent executive ability he exercised and the earnest, energetic way in which he took hold of the inner workings of the game, both as a player and as an executive. Many times Coach Dymment was unable to be out with the team, but Captain Ford kept things alive and in perfect running order.

Since soccer is now supported by the college as a student activity, it is considered that the game will be greatly boosted in the future. For a long time there was doubt in the minds of all those interested as to how long they would be able to exist. This, of course, was a drawback.

If all the expectations of those interested come about, there will be at least forty men out for places on the team next year, not counting the regular "gym" classes. This is an increase of 400 per cent over the first turnout two years ago.

The library of Harvard University, with a total of 1,120,000 books, stands today as the foremost institution of its kind in America. That of Yale is second in magnitude, containing 900,000 volumes. Columbia, with a total of 530,000 volumes; Pennsylvania with 450,000; Chicago with 431,362, and Cornell with 423,570, come next in order and complete the sextette of America's greatest university libraries.

WORK WILL CONTINUE

Dr. Weatherford's Influence Has Effect in Attempt to Create a Better Atmosphere

The work of Weatherford is to be continued. Cloyd Dawson, chairman of the conservation committee of the Greater Oregon Committee has already begun activity. His intentions are to use the Greater Oregon Committee as a nucleus and to attempt to create an atmosphere around the University that will tend toward a higher moral and spiritual life.

An attempt is being made to get Dr. John H. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Portland, and Walter M. Sumner, Episcopal Bishop of Oregon, on the campus some time during April. These men will give talks and hold interviews with the men on moral and religious subjects.

Charles Koyl extends a cordial invitation to every man in the University to enlist among one of the several Bible classes which are now being organized.

Koyl said today: "The Weatherford meetings were successful, but next year we are going to do better things and we are going to get a bigger man here. Either Sherwood Eddy, John R. Mott, Robert A. Spear, or Billy Sunday, will lecture before the students here at Oregon next spring. We are going to keep hammering away until we raise the moral standards in the University. We had some men with pep in this Greater Oregon Committee, and that pep is just beginning to creep out."

An active campaign will be initiated this spring to raise funds with which to erect a new Y. M. C. A. building on the campus. The building would not contain a gymnasium and swimming tank, but would be equipped with a large assembly hall, a spacious lobby and a number of rooms for Cabinet meetings and so on.

DON ORPUT APPOINTED YELL LEADER BY STUDENT COUNCIL

Don Orput, who served as assistant yell leader under Ernie Vosper during the present year, has been appointed by the Student Council to act as yell leader for the remainder of the year.

The appointment of Orput was made necessary by Vosper's departure from the University. He went to San Francisco as one of the first student Exposition guides from Oregon.

Orput is a Senior and entered the beginning of the year from the University of Wisconsin.

The fox trot and all other modern ball room dances are to be taught in the high school at Nutley, N. J., according to arrangements just made by the board of education. "We teach elocution, and we might as well go to the other social graces, including modern dances," said a member of the board.
