

CONFERENCE BASEBALL NOW ON EVEN BREAK

CRIPPLED SHORTSTOP CHANGES INFIELD; TO BE OUT OF GAME TWO WEEKS

THREE PITCHERS ARE USED

Welch and Beckett Up in the First Game and Tuerck on the Mound in the Second

By Harry Kuck.
Oregon's baseball team returned Sunday from a week's tour through the Willamette Valley and to Seattle, with an even break in the two conference games with Washington and with all the practice games in the "win" column, but with a crippled shortstop, and hence a disorganized infield.

"Skeet" Bigbee wrenched his ankle Wednesday sliding into second base at Forest Grove, in the last practice game, and will be out of the game for two weeks. This accident sent "Bez's" crew against Washington Friday with a different team. Sheehy played second and Grebe was shifted to short.

The game was a rout from start to finish. Welch lost his second game in four years on the mound for Oregon. He threw wildly and the team back of him bobbed nearly every chance. Beckett took up the burden in the sixth with the score 8 to 0 against him, and Washington took kindly to his offerings, too. The team is credited with 16 errors and three hits.

When questioned about the 17 to 0 slaughter, the coach said: "The boys were too cocky and eager. They all fought the ball in the field and swung at everything with the club. Too much success in the preliminaries."

The next day Oregon came back. Tuerck and Lieuallen composed the battery; "Buck" Bigbee was stationed on second and Sheehy shifted to center. Caution was the by-word and the boys put up an entirely different brand of ball. "Bill" pitched a five-hit game, and three more errors were ejected from the fielding systems. The ninth inning was nearly disastrous for Tuerck. The first man up walked. The next man got life on an error, but the third, instead of being instructed to sacrifice, clouted the ball to left field into the waiting hands of Gorman, for the first out. The next man struck out and the next got on. Three on, two out, one strike and three balls on the batter; score 2 to 1; but the would-be hero took the next ball instead of waiting, and Cornell tossed him out at first.

Coach Bezdek is satisfied with the one win against Washington. The trip was extremely valuable in that it provided ample seasoning. The Varsity beat Salem High, Willamette, Chemawa, Mount Angel and Forest Grove in the barnstorming session.

The next conference game is with O. A. C., on the home grounds, May 1st, and the team ought to be in good shape by that time.

The boys worked out yesterday under Lieutenants Lyle and Buck Bigbee; the coach being on scout duty in Portland. He is expected to take up the reins today, however.

Ithica, N. Y.—Life saving squads have been organized at Cornell and a society formed under the name of the Life Saving Society. Practice is held every day at the University tank, where the men are instructed in the life saving work by competent assistants.

Official figures recently made public in London verify the claim that English university students have responded to the call for recruits. Upon issuing a call for crew men at Oxford, it was found that only coxswains remained in attendance at the university.

EVERYTHING IS LOVELY, SAY LOTTERY DANCE MANAGERS

Crowd and Hilarity Expected to Break All Records—Novel Features Are Promised

All preparations for the Lottery dance to be held next Saturday night go on swimmingly, say the five Seniors who have the big wriggle in tow.

"The men are coming through nobly in the matter of looking out for their partners," said Bert Jerard yesterday. "I look for the largest and most representative attendance ever seen at a University dance."

"Of course, there are a few 'crabs' who refuse to accept the result of the lottery. Right here I wish to correct an impression that the committee is going to try to force anyone to attend. It is true that we are trying to find out all the girls who have not been asked, and to provide for them if possible. But we are bringing no undue pressure to bear on any reluctant swain. If anyone cannot enter into the spirit of the occasion, we'd rather he would stay away."

"We urge those who do intend to take their partners, but have neglected to notify them, to do so before tomorrow evening. At that time a census of the unbidden girls will be taken, and new partners found for them."

Concerning the dance itself, the committee will divulge only their general plans. It will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock, in order to give ample time for the 16 steps, and the admission, as already advertised, will be only 35 cents per couple. Strict informality in dress is urged. There will be numerous features, including a novel Paul Jones and other schemes for mixing the crowd. The committee is also trying to arrange an exhibition by two of the cleverest professionals who have yet been brought to Eugene.

DR. R. M. MATSON TO BE ASSEMBLY LECTURER

Eminent Tuberculosis Specialist Will Give Illustrated Talk, With "White Plague" as Subject

Dr. R. M. Matson, who with his brother, Dr. Ray Matson, is in charge of the Portland Open Air Sanatorium, and who is known as one of the most eminent specialists of tuberculosis in the Northwest, will deliver an illustrated lecture, in Villard Hall, Wednesday, during assembly hour, on "Tuberculosis; Its Cause, Prevention and Cure."

The Open Air Sanatorium is located at Milwaukie, seven miles from Portland, on the Willamette River, and commands a view of both the city and the river. Here the latest means known to science are used in combating the "white plague." The brothers visit the medical schools of Europe in succession and bring back with them the latest scientific discoveries of the continent along this line.

Two years ago Dr. Ralph Matson introduced the method of cure known as "artificial pneumo thorax" into the sanatorium from Vienna. A still more recent method, known as "double pneumo thorax" was brought back by Dr. Ray Matson when he returned from Vienna last November.

Both brothers are graduates of the the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland, and later they did graduate work in the University of Vienna and in the hospitals of Switzerland and Germany.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, for the past eight years president of the West Virginia Wesleyan College, was chosen to succeed Dr. Fletcher Homan as head of the Willamette University.

WINNER OF MEET WILL RECEIVE GOLD MEDAL

SUCCESSFUL RELAY TEAM GETS SILVER CUP; TOMMY BOYLEN TO MAKE AWARDS

STUDENTS TO BE POLICEMEN

Committees Will be Appointed After Spring Vacation and Campus Improvements Decided Upon

The trophies for the different events of the Interscholastic track meet, which will be held Friday afternoon, May 14, will be presented at the Junior Prom, which will be given Saturday evening, May 15. The first prize is to be a gold medal, the second, a silver medal, and the third, a bronze medal. The silver cup will be given the successful relay team, and an appropriate banner will be given the school winning the meet.

The awards will probably be made by Tommy Boylen, President of the Student Body, said A. R. Tiffany, Registrar, today. The expense of purchasing the awards will be met by the Student Body.

One of the new features of University day, May 14, which will be inaugurated this year, will be the police system, according to a statement made by Tom Boylen, President of the Student Body, yesterday afternoon. A special deputation of students will be appointed, who will call the roll and check up the names to make sure that every fellow is there and that each one works.

The chairmen of the different committees, of which there will be six or seven, will be appointed some time this week, Tommy Boylen stated. The number of committees has not been definitely decided as yet, but the work of at least four is known. These will be: a committee to put the track in shape for the annual meet between the University of Oregon and the University of Washington track teams, which will be held that afternoon, May 14; a committee to work on the baseball diamond; one to labor on the tennis courts; and a committee to assist the members of the Women's League with the noon-day lunch.

Discussion as to the campus improvements which will be made at that time has taken place between Boylen and H. M. Fisher, Superintendent of Grounds, but final decisions have not been made as yet. Two possibilities are the building of more cement walk, and the continuation of the work of filling in the frog pond, which was begun last fall. Boylen stated that he would be glad to receive any suggestions as to campus work which should be taken upon University day.

The program for the week-end is as follows: Thursday morning, baseball game between the University of Washington and University of Oregon; Thursday evening, Senior Play; Friday, University Day; afternoon, annual dual track meet between the University of Oregon and the University of Washington; evening, Glee Club concerts; Saturday morning, Interscholastic Track Meet, preliminaries; afternoon, Interscholastic Track Meet, finals; evening, Junior Prom.

DR. STRAUB'S LECTURE HAS UNUSUAL EFFECT AT NYSSA

Nyssa, Or. (Special to the Alumni Section)—Nyssa High School heard Dr. John Straub, of the University of Oregon, in his lecture, "Capitalize Your Brains." Immediately after the lecture, the parliamentary law class met and passed unanimously a resolution to the effect that members will attend the University of Oregon after graduation from high school.

REDDIE WRITES PLAY PRODUCED BY GUILD

CONFESSES AUTHORSHIP ONLY AFTER PERFORMANCE PROVES SUCCESS

CROWDS GREET PRODUCTIONS

Production Will be Given Thursday Evening in Villard Hall, at Price of 25 Cents

Mandell Weiss.

"My Man and Lady," the play that received the praise of being the best amateur production to appear in Southern Oregon towns, where the Guild Players played a week's engagement, will be presented Thursday night at Villard Hall. The places where performances were given are Glendale, Gold Hill, Central Point, Medford and Ashland, and in each of the towns a packed and enthusiastic audience greeted the performers. A request that they be placed on the itinerary whenever the contemplation of a tour is being arranged, was made in every place. The performances in each of the five towns were given under the auspices of high schools, and the entertainment provided for the cast, during their stay, will be of lasting remembrance.

Of more than local interest was the fact that Professor Reddie, himself director of the players, was the author of the play. This was not known until after two performances of the play had been given. The play was written by Mr. Reddie some 15 years ago, and this is the first time it has been presented.

The local performance on Thursday night will undoubtedly be the smoothest production yet presented and it has enough of variety to insure a success here. The same cast that made the tour, Mr. Reddie, Beulah Stebno, Marian Tuttle, Fred Hardesty, Mandell Weiss, Hemor Kellems, Ernest Watkins and Mrs. T. Thorne, will take part in the play.

As the performance is mostly a complimentary one, the price of admission has been put at 25 cents, thus giving an opportunity for all to see it. The curtain will rise at 8:00 o'clock.

FACULTY REARRANGES ALL CLASS PERIODS

Four Hour Courses to be Confined to Ten O'Clock Hour Where Possible

The faculty has decided upon a schedule for next year, by which the four and three hour courses will be more evenly distributed over the week, avoiding the present over-work on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and the scarcity of work on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Laboratory courses consisting of part recitation and part laboratory are to be scheduled according to the number of recitations per week.

Four hour courses are to be confined to the ten o'clock hour as far as possible. One hour courses are to be given on the days and at the hours where the symbol (1) occurs, and at no other time.

The new schedule is as follows:

Hour	M	T	W	Th	F
8	3	3	2	3	2
9	3	2	3	2	3
10	(1)4	4	3	A	4
11	3	2	3	2	3
1	3	(1) 2	3	(1) 2	3
2	3	(1) 2	3	(1) 2	3
3	3	(1) 2	3	(1) 2	3

Separation of the sexes in the classroom is being discussed at the University of Minnesota.

JUNIOR PREXY USES GAVEL TO SWAT THE LEBANON FLY

Prentiss Brown Devotes Vacation to Purging Home Town of Winged Pests

J. Prentiss Brown, President of the Junior class, spent his spring vacation slaying flies. The way it comes about is this:

Brown is taking Social Biology, and learned what mean little critters flies are. Also, Prof. Hodge instructed just how to go to work to slay them.

Incidentally, Brown takes considerable pride in his home town, Lebanon. So when he went home spring vacation, instead of laying around and making up lost sleep, he started a campaign for a "Flyless Lebanon."

Under the auspices of the Extension Department, he gave lectures, got the "kids" interested, set hundreds of fly traps, and massacred flies by the thousands. It was one of the most successful fly campaigns in Oregon, according to the results achieved.

And to show that his home folks were appreciative, there were editorials printed in the Lebanon papers praising the Extension Department that would take enough interest in the state to send out fly swatters.

VISITING PARTICIPANTS MUST SHOW RECORDS

LIST OF INVITATIONS WILL BE RESTRICTED TO 100 HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES

Registrar Will Ascertain Qualifications of Prospective Visitors Through Blanks Distributed

A change has been made in the method of selecting the teams from the various high schools of the state for the interscholastic meet which is to be held on the Saturday of Junior Week-End, May 15, at the University of Oregon, according to A. R. Tiffany, Graduate Manager.

Participation in the meet this year will be by invitation, based on records made this spring, and the number of boys invited will be limited approximately to 100. This number will allow the choosing of the best athletes in the state in each event, and will eliminate only those who can have no hopes of qualifying for the finals. The preliminaries will be run off in the forenoon, and the finals in the afternoon.

A notification of the annual event, the date, and an entry blank, which must be filed not later than May 1, have been sent to each high school principal in the state, by the Graduate Manager.

In filling out the enclosed blank, those who do so are asked to please give all the information asked for. The selection of the men will be made by William Hayward, coach of the University of Oregon track team. The blank must be mailed to A. R. Tiffany, Graduate Manager, University of Oregon.

The railroad fare at the rate of one and one-third for the round trip, as well as the necessary expenses, will be paid for all men competing. Each man competing must get a receipt from the ticket agent for his railroad fare when he buys his ticket for Eugene, otherwise he will lose the difference between the reduced rate and full fare.

The entertainment of the visitors is in the hands of a committee, of which Clark Burgard is chairman. The boys are to mail this blank to A. R. Tiffany, Graduate Manager U. of O., Eugene.

A custom has arisen at Smith College of giving organ recitals during examination week.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL WILL HUNT TEACHERS

STARTS THURSDAY ON EASTERN SCOUTING TRIP; TO "SIGN UP" MANY

FACULTY WILL BE LARGE

University Will be Eligible for Some of the Carnegie Pension Fund

President P. L. Campbell will leave Thursday for his annual Eastern tour for the purpose of engaging additional instructors. He will probably visit Washington and New York first, and return by way of Boston and Chicago. He intends stopping off in Wisconsin, and will be absent about three weeks.

The new instructors to be selected at this time will be for those departments in which additional instructors were specified at the special meeting of the Board of Regents, held during the vacation just ended. Beside the authorization of the hiring of new instructors and professors in the departments of Architecture, Economics, Education and Commerce, the Board provided for establishment of a full three year law course at the University of Oregon in Eugene, and appropriated $40,000 for a new building.

Other important measures passed upon at this time were the giving of the Executive Committee power to shift the athletic field at a cost of not to exceed $5,000, and to consider the question of establishing a printing press for the department of Journalism. President Campbell was also authorized to nominate a dean for the new Law School.

September, of the coming semester, will mark the first registration in law at the Oregon campus. Only those students who have Sophomore rating and credits will be granted admittance to work in the Law School.

In the future, no other students, except those now actually in attendance, will be given a University degree at the Law School in Portland. There will be no connection between the Law School of the University of Oregon and the Law School in Portland.

In addition to the regular registration fee of $18, tuition amounting to $30 will be charged those students majoring in law.

President Campbell stated that the fact that the Law Course is to be offered in Eugene rather than in Portland in the future does not reflect any discredit on the Portland night Law School. It means that the policy of the University favors a higher standard than a night school can give.

When this change is effected, the University will be eligible to be benefited by the Carnegie Foundation Fund for retired professors. This fund is open only to universities meeting certain standards set by the Carnegie Foundation. The University of Oregon has had only one disqualification in the past; the training in law given in the night school.

President Campbell expects that the the law courses which will be offered on the Oregon campus will bring at least 50 new students here during the first year.

Among the additional instructors authorized by the Board is one in free-hand drawing, who will work in connection with the Department of Architecture. The salary limit for this position is $1,800 yearly.

An arrangement with Dr. E. S. Bates, of Columbia University, New York, will be perfected on his arrival in Eugene next September to accept the position as head of the Rhetoric Department. Dr. Bates, who is a graduate of the University of Michigan.
