Not long ago an advertisement was inserted in papers throughout the state, saying that such donations would be welcomed. This was followed up by letters to railroads and other big concerns explaining that while such gifts would be instructive,

"We want to build up the museum," said Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the Department of Geology. "The only true way to do this is to get the peo ple of the state so intereested that they will send in specimens. The museum will never grow if we have to go out and hunt up things."

"We will have a pretty good collection by the time we move into the new Administration Building. It is one of the best small museums in this part of the country. At O. A. C. they
