SUMMER SCHOOL

Every graduate who is teaching should consider carefully the advantages of spending six weeks at the summer session of the University. No better opportunity for professional growth is easily available. Added to this opportunity will be the advantages of increasing acquaintance among the leaders in school work in the state. At the two big conferences on educational problems, the list of those present will be almost equivalent to a "Who's Who" of the school men and women of Oregon.

The chance to do work in comparatively small classes with G. Stanley Hall, J. Duncan Spaeth, J. Elwood Cubberly, Charles R. Frazier and our own Henry D. Sheldon, and to come into personal contact with these truly significant men, is a chance which is not offered to Oregon teachers by any other institution.

BASEBALL

Shall there be an alumni baseball game during commencement week? If so, when? And whom shall we play? Shall it be the Seniors, that those fledgling alumni may be brought to know their proper place in the scheme of things? Shall we give the faculty a chance to redeem itself after the recent series with the professors from the Agricultural College?

Unfortunately, there is no elected officer of the association who carries the title of manager of athletics. However, a mere detail like that will never prevent the alumni from scheduling a baseball game if they really want it.

The baseball fever affects some people more readily than others. Several graduates have already expressed the opinion that commencement can hardly be called complete without a ball game. What about it?

MISS DELILAH PROSSER IS WIFE OF DR. FETTEROLF

On Wednesday, May 26, Miss Delilah Prosser, graduate of the University, and for some time a member of the faculty of the School of Music, became the wife of Dr. George Fetterolf, a leading physician of Philadelphia.

Numerous alumnae, close personal friends of the bride, assisted in receiving and doing the honors of the occasion. Miss Jessie Prosser was bridesmaid, and a brother of Dr. Fetterolf acted as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Fetterolf left on the afternoon of their wedding day for Portland. From there they went to San Francisco to visit the P. P. I. E. They will go to their future home in Philadelphia by way of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

Secretary Makes Annual Appeal for Prompt Payment and Submits Financial Statement

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni of the University of Oregon is today sending out the following letter to all members of the Association who are not life members:

"Enclosed is a statement of the condition of the finances of the Alumni Association on May 20.

As usual, the spring collection of dues must meet the June bills. Can you conveniently send in at once the annual dollar for 1915-16

"Throughout the year a page of the Emerald each week has been devoted to news of the alumni. Should this be continued? Or should the alumni attempt a publication of their own?"

"Your opinion on this and any other matters of interest will be gratefully received, and, if you so desire, will be transmitted to the annual meeting.

"Your dollar will do more good right now than at any later time, for it will help avoid the necessity for contracting a loan. Please send it in whatever form you find most convenient."

BEN WILLIAMS PAYS HIS DOLLAR AND GIVES VIEWS

Ben Williams, '10, statistician for the Industrial Accident Commission of Oregon, visited the campus on Memorial Day, which was for his office a holiday.

After securing a receipt for dues for the year 1915-16, Mr. Williams expressed his interest in student and alumni matters.

"I am really surprised," said Mr. Williams, "at the showing which the graduate manager, Mr. A. R. Tiffany, has made this year in wiping out the indebtedness of the Student Body and finishing the year with a surplus. Close connection through several years with the finances of the Student Body has taught me what a difficult task Mr. Tiffany has accomplished.

"I am in favor of a day that shall be known as Alumni Day at commencement time. Many busy alumni can come back only for one day, although this might easily be increased to two, if Alumni Day were placed on Saturday or Monday. Of course, Tuesday of commencement week is practically Alumni Day as matters now stand, and has the advantage of being the day before Commencement Day, which is in a way the culminating point of the interest of the week. I have talked with Walter Winslow, '06, who presented the idea at the last annual meeting, and hope that he or someone else will present a feasible and detailed plan for an Alumni Day in 1916."

TSCHANZ WILL STUDY AT CHICAGO AND COLUMBIA

Herman C. Tschanz, '12, has resigned the superintendency of the Coburg schools, after two years of successful experience. Mr. Tschanz has introduced manual training and has vitalized the course of study of the schools of this little place in a remarkable way.

From Chicago, Mr. Tschanz will go to Columbia University in quest of the work which will bring him the degree of Ph. D.

Miss Pauline VanOrsdell, '14, who has been a member of the faculty of the Coburg High School for the past nine months, has returned to her home at Dallas.

Frank Templeton is in the commission business in Portland.

Paul R. Willoughby, ex-'12, is a partner in the Haberdasher, in Eugene.

Miss Lucia Campbell, who recently took an advanced degree at the University of California, has returned to Eugene for the summer.
