

THREE HUNDRED MEN AT Y. M. C. A. STAG MIX

Speeches, Spirit, Cider and Cock Fight Enliven Evening at Villard Hall.

Three hundred men, nearly half of whom were freshmen, were introduced to the Oregon spirit at the Y. M. C. A. stag mix held in Villard hall last evening. Starting with a three-block serpentine that wended its way past the fraternity houses, up Eleventh street to the campus, and finally ending with another serpentine that filed past the doughnut, apple and cider laden counter, the line broke up with yelling and singing.

An interclass cock fighting tournament brought the crowd to its feet amid a continuous din of cheering and yelling. Downard, Callison, Langly and Brown survived the eliminating matches and represented the Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, respectively, in the semifinals. After Downard and Brown had been vanquished, Callison won the right to meet Mitchell, last year's winner of the cup, by out-bucking Bob Langly. In this match Mitchell succeeded in remaining on one foot long enough to become the permanent possessor of the cup.

Short speeches were made by President Campbell, Coaches Bezdek and Hayward, Secretary Foster of the Y. M. C. A., and Cloyd Dawson, president of that organization. President Campbell defined the Oregon spirit as the biggest asset to the University and named as its three characteristics the spirit of courage, cheerfulness, kindness and courtesy, with the supreme quality of service.

Coach Bezdek added the quality of clean sportmanship to those set forward by the president. "We want the championship of the Northwest, but only through clean sportmanship. Prospects are poor. Out of 17 of last year's letter men, only seven are back, due to financial depression. I believe, however, that the Oregon spirit will win, but what we need is the help of a lot of Freshmen. There are several Freshman games scheduled. Every man who weighs over 125 pounds should be out."

Bill Hayward emphasized the coaches appeal to the freshmen, and added, "This is the chance of the frosh. And if you can't do something in football, take a shot at something else (and as a final resort try track. Oregon has always been strong in track. There is a chance for all. And I would rather take a man who has never seen a track suit than a high school 'sta.'"

Breaking away from the conventional Y. M. C. A. appeal, Secretary Foster asked that all the men try to help him to become acquainted and to put him in a position to assist them. "I would like especially to meet the Freshmen, for, while I cannot be a father to them, in that Dr. Straub has that position, I would wish to become their big brother."

President Cloyd Dawson dealt with the opportunities afforded the freshmen this year in forensics.

A keg of cider, three boxes of apples, and too many doughnuts to approximate, found welcoming resting places during the last few minutes of the gathering.

SOCIAL, CUT AND HONOR

Freshmen will not be admitted to the University now unless they have the full fifteen high school entrance units.

President Campbell is quoted as saying that the reason for the general stiffening of entrance and other requirements by 10 per cent was the marked improvement in high schools over the state. High school teachers are of late almost all college graduates and the students are coming better prepared each year.

Friday evening the Delta Gamma girls were hostesses at a formal dinner party. The color scheme was pink and green. Huge masses of Gladjolias filled each room. At an informal luncheon Tuesday noon Mrs. Clifford Simms entertained. Tuesday afternoon the canoe party on the Mill race was followed by a Eugene luncheon at the Country club.

SQUAD IS VERDANT

show stuff with more training. And of last year's second string men, those who seem to be showing the most Montieith.

The old men seen in the harness are Cossman at center, Risley at end, Snyder and Beckett in their accustomed places, Huntington and Bigbee at half and Captain Cornell in his position at quarter-back for the fourth year.

In the kicking department Beckett, Montieith and Huntington hint, by their work, that the booting will be ably taken care of, both in punting and place kicking.

It seems probable that Cornell is due for nothing but light work as he is already complaining of the knee which bothered him so much during last season. It was hoped the operation performed last year would leave it as good as new, but no doubt now remains as to its weakness. If it should be injured again Oregon would be up against the difficult task of finding a quarter, which from present indications is impossible. Montieith looks good after a trial in this position. "Charley-horses" are in vogue already, but outside of these bruises no one is suffering from injuries, as yet.

Training table began Friday night and the boys feel like new men with some of those favorite steaks under their belts.

This afternoon the first and second teams will line up against each other for scrimmage. A possible line-up will be as follows:

J. Cossman	C.	L. Cossman
Miller	G.	Johns
Risley	E.	Teggart
Ensley	T.	Callison
Snyder	G.	Crawley
Beckett	T.	Skidmore
Bartlett	E.	Mitchell
Cornell	Q.	Montieith
Huntington	H.	Earl
Hoskins	F.	Spellman
B. Malarkey	H.	L. Bigbee

RAY GOODRICH APPOINTED TO FILL REGENT VACANCY

The appointment of Ray Goodrich, of Eugene, to succeed S. H. Friendly, who died a few days ago, as a member of the board of regents of the University of Oregon, was announced recently by Governor Withycombe. The term which Mr. Goodrich fills expires April 15, 1919.

Mr. Goodrich is assistant cashier and director of the First National bank and is a graduate of the University of Oregon with the class of 1904. He was born on a farm in Yamhill Co. 34 years ago, being the son of the late T. Goodrich, one of the best known early pioneers of that section of the state. He received his early education in the district schools of Yamhill county and attended the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis two years, coming to the University of Oregon in 1900. While at the University he was a member of the varsity football team during each of the four years, was also a member of the baseball team and was prominent in oratory and debate. He represented the University in the state oratorical contest one year and was president of the associated students during the last year in college.

Taught in Portland

After his graduation from the University, Mr. Goodrich taught one year in Hill military academy in Portland, and spent two years at the University of Washington, finishing a law course there. He was admitted to the bar in the state of Washington and Oregon and came back to Eugene in 1907, entering the service of the First National bank. He has gradually risen to the position of assistant cashier and was elected to the directorate some time ago. He is vice-president of the Eugene Commercial club and is a member of the city library board.

Mr. Goodrich said that he had no idea as to whether or not he would be appointed as a member of the executive committee of the regents, which position Mr. Friendly held at the time of his death.

Friends of the University expressed themselves as confident that the appointment would meet with the approval of all. Mr. Goodrich was one of the foremost workers for his alma mater in its times of trouble during the past few years and has always

Raymond Burns Chosen Freshman President

Ye verdant Frosh met in conference assembled and succeeded in electing one Raymond Burns, of Coquille, yesterday afternoon in the echoing recesses of Villard. The other officers selected by the hopefuls were: Genevieve Dickey, vice-president; Katherine Fraley, secretary; Archie Bird, secretary; John Bromholt, class poet.

On the first ballot Virgil Alexander of Eugene was chosen president, but resigned immediately with fitting explanations.

Dean John Straub opened the meeting with a talk to his newest class. Giving advice and counsel, he explained to them some of the customs and traditions of Oregon and exhorted them to work in the best interests of the University and its well being.

been active in everything looking to the welfare of the institution.

Kappa Alpha Theta gave a formal dinner dance Wednesday evening. The sorority colors, black and gold, were used in decorating and tiny yellow parasols graced each plate. Thursday noon a Kewpie luncheon was given and Friday afternoon a tea at the Hotel Osburn.

The University of Oregon exhibit at the Oregon State Fair, at Salem, September 27 to October 2, will feature the Departments of Geology, Zoology and Botany, and the new departments of Law, Commerce and Architecture. The Educational department will exhibit the "Ashland Educational Survey," which was compiled by Prof. Fred C. Ayer, Prof. Don C. Sowers and Superintendent H. R. Frazier, of Everett, Wash.

A circular letter has been mailed to every member of the faculty and their co-operation is expected.
