DOPE SPILLS NEARLY EVEN AFTER DUST OF JOUST SETTLES

Return of Parsons and Work of Risley and Beckett Is Encouraging.

The "old dope sheet" is once more on the boards. For as usual "bear stories," coupled with the walls of coaches; along with the proverbial false prophet, occupy the center of attraction. As October draws nigh the fans are out with their supply of early-season predictions and calculations, few of which will live as long as a fish out of water. Suffice it to say that Oregon ushered in her season last Saturday by taking a 16 to 7 drubbing at the hands of Multnomah Clubmen, while O. A. C. handed their Alumni a 3 to 0 defeat on the same afternoon. The ever-prevailing campus question is, "How do we compare with O. A. C.?"

Dr. Stewart's proteges have had the benefit of a longer training season than the Varsity, but the rail-birds can content themselves with the knowledge that the lemon-yellow squad will be all okus when the big game rolls around.

Coach Bezdek is confronted with the problem of shaping a formidable eleven, with such men as Captain Cornell, Beckett, Risley, Snyder Huntington and Cossman as a nucleus. Oregon stock took a big jump when Johnny Parsons stepped off the "rattler" from Portland. Johnny will add confidence and "pep" to the green Oregon backfield and will, in a measure, make up for the loss of Cook and Bryant.

Just as Hoskins fills the dark horse's berth on the Varsity squad, so it appears that Corvallis fans are going to spring big Harry Cole on Bez. It was a well-directed boot from the 42-yard line by the famous discus hurler's toe that sent the Alumni home with the short end of the score in their struggle with their Alma Mater. Cole is a big, rangy chap and should prove a bulwark to Dr. Stewart's forward line. Along with Laythe, Hofer, Anderson, King, Bissett, Hayes and Dutton, O. A. C. should present an impregnable defense.

According to all reports, Dr. Stewart is far from satisfied with the Aggies' showing Saturday. They were unable to pierce the Alumni's line, Abraham and Yeager being the only ones good for consistent gains. "Unless they improve a whole lot, we will be licked by every team in the conference," said the Corvallis mentor.

At present writing, Oregon's forward line has the edge on the Orange and Black. "Blacksmith" Cossman is going to be a hard man to handle for rival snapper backs, and Recruit Cawley and Bill Snyder should take good care of the guard positions. The former broke through the Slubman's line time and again Saturday and speared the backfield before they got under way. Johnny Beckett and Ensley and Bartlett can be depended on to take care of the wings. Jake takes to his new job as a duck takes to water, and his tackling was a feature of last Saturday's melee.

Monteith, who is subbing in Anse's shoes at quarter, runs the team well, but is woefully weak in handling punts. Parsons, Malarkey and Hoskins, along with Bibbee and Huntington will no doubt comprise the backfield.

O. A. C. has in Abraham, Hoerline, Captain Billie Newman and Yeager a quintet of fast, heavy line plungers that are bound to be heard from. Oregon boosters are not a bit sorry to learn that Art Lutz will not be back to don the moleskins again. His place will be a hard one for Stewart to fill. The Aggies will again use their effective direct side pass to the backfield, thus adding an extra man to the interference.

Hugo Bezdek's motto is "The harder the going, the better I like it." This is the dope he infuses into his men and it is that "do or die" spirit that has characterized Oregon's teams in the past. You can rest assured that Oregon will entertain the Corvallisites royally when they say "Ready" on the afternoon of November 20, on Kincaid.

times before and had always been settled in the same way.

Inasmuch as one of the arguments against intercollegiate sport is that the men who make up the teams have their work interfered with at the expense of their scholarship, statistics sent from the registrar's office in 1911 may prove interesting.

The general average, for the first semester, of students not in student activities was 84 per cent. The average of the football team was 85 per cent. Of the basketball team 80 per cent, and of the track team 84.4 per cent.

The average for students engaged in more than one activity was found to be 87.4 per cent. The freshmen football teams' average was 82 per cent; their basketball teams' 83.4 per cent.

once season begins for the Varsity, when they will stage a world war with W. S. C. at Pullman. The Farmer team has always had the reputation of being fighters, so if we expect to emerge from the large end of the horn of plenty, we have to plant the little seeds that grow into big deeds. And one of the places for that is the bleachers. If football men can devote their time and energy to the game, then the non-participants should at least sacrifice a portion of their spare time and a few vibrations from their throat for Oregon.

The schedule for the remainder of the season, as it now stands, is as follows:

October 2, Pacific University, at Eugene.

October 9, W. S. C., at Pullman.

October 16, Idaho, at Eugene.

October 23, Whitman, at Walla Walla.

October 30, Willamette, at Salem.

November 20, O. A. C., at Eugene.

November 25, Multnomah at Portland.

November 6 and 13 do not appear on the schedule as yet, but will no doubt be filled later on. The first date is that the ill-fated Washington manager absolutely refused, breaking a written contract to do so, under cover of a game with California, pretending that we had led them into a game too early in the season. Why didn't they yell before instead of turning snake and wriggling out, forgetful of that transparent skin of "honor" they regard so highly?
