U. OF O. CAMPUS TO BE IN GALA ATTIRE NOV. 20

University to Be Host to Entire State On Day of Oregon-O. A. C. Game.

WILL SUSPEND BUSINESS; BAND WILL MEET TRAINS

Festivities Begin Friday, Nov. 19. Class Rooms Will Be Thrown Open to Visitors.

NOTICE TO ALUMNI.
The University of Oregon urgently requests your presence at her first big Home-coming Day, November 20.

The University will be host to the entire state of Oregon on November 20. Alumni and people of the state will be welded into a more intimate relationship with their University and an all round good time for every one of the 10,000 expected guests will be provided, according to the plans of the Home-coming committee.

City and campus will be in gala attire for what promises to be the biggest Oregon pageant in history. Business will be suspended for the game and the band and automobiles will meet all trains and carry guests and alumni to their destination. Every fraternity, sorority and club on the campus is sending out personal letters urging friends to visit them. Alumni associations throughout the state are boosting the affair and reports are coming in from all sections which say: "We'll be with you, November 20."

Festivities begin Friday, November 19. All classes will be thrown open to alumni. Old school mates can get together, visit old haunts, shake hands with their former instructors and become young again with a reinjection of the old Oregon spirit.

The biggest rally of the year will be staged Friday night. It will be an old-time variety with new-time pep, a la pajamerino. Short, snappy speeches celebrities from alumni, faculty and student body will be delivered while the enraptured throng witnesses a unique and unparalleled substitute for the historic freshman bonfire. The evening's entertainment will be concluded by a series of vaudeville stunts by the different organizations in Villard hall.

The committee is planning to have a stunt practice for alumni led by former Oregon yell leaders, Saturday morning, to prepare a demonstration by old grads during the game.

An all-Oregon campus luncheon, cafeteria style, will be the attraction Saturday noon when stude will meet grad in a spirit of good fellowship. The crowd will mingle to the tune of patriotic Oregon pieces by the band and orchestra.

And the game! The football classic of the northwest! A battle from whistle to whistle for the championship of the state. What Oregonite with the price of a railroad ticket can afford to miss the first Oregon-O. A. C. football game on the Eugene campus since the memorable affair in Corvallis in the fall of 1907. Both teams are eager for the fray and they are evenly matched.

There will be a big dance Saturday night in Eugene's new $80,000 armory, free to alumni. Governor Withycombe, "Pat" McArthur, Mrs. George Gerlinger, President Kerr of O. A. C. and President Campbell will be in the receiving line.

For non-dancers there will be a get together reception in the same building. Rooms will be divided off according to classes and entertainment provided.

The Home-coming committee consists of Max H. Sommer, chairman;

Bothwell Avison, Lamar Tooze, Karl Becke, Don Orput, Louise Bailey, Echo Zahl, Genevieve Shaver, Marie Churchill, Merlin Batley, Roland Geary, Robert McMurray, Jack Dolph, Walter Church and Leslie Tooze.

Alumnus to Practice in Eugene.
Wendell C. Barbour, '12, was among the successful applicants for admission to the Oregon bar this year. Barbour was graduated in the east last spring with the degree of L. L. B. and will receive the degree of L. L. M. in June. His thesis for this degree upon the Theory of Law and Fact recently received special recognition from Dr. Melville M. Bigelow of Boston. Mr. Bigelow is editor of numerous legal texts and periodicals. While at Oregon Barbour was senior class president, manager of the Emerald and Oregon. He is practicing law with the firm of Woodcock, Smith and Bryson, in Eugene.

TWO COUNTIES ARE MECCAS
Oregon Students (Farmers, Teachers and Business Men) Swarm in Woods Around Pendleton.

Union and Umatilla counties and especially the country around Pendleton is a veritable mecca for former Oregon students. When word was received in this neck of the woods that Oregon would play Whitman October 23, tyro farmers, teachers and business men prepared to assemble at Walla Walla and root for the Lemon-Yellow.

Irwin Brooks, assistant cashier in the Athena National bank; Francis Beebe, teaching in Walla Walla; Delbert (Cupid) Easterwood, farmer; Nat Kimball, of Pendleton; Claud Still, of Milton; Clarence Brotherton, of Athena, and Sam Lieuellen, of Athena, united with the Oregon camp followers: Chester Fee, Bill Burgard, Jack Dolph and Harry Kuck and the cosmopolitan group cheered the Oregon team on to victory, with numerous familiar yells.

Two former Oregon women witnessed the game. They were Edith Still, of Milton, and Beatrice Littlefield, who is teaching school at Milton.

Alumni and ex-men welcomed the chance to greet the team and talk over some of the campus news.

"GET-TOGETHER" DINNER HELD AT ENTERPRISE

A "get together" dinner was held by the teaching alumni of Baker, Union, and Wallowa counties last week at Enterprise. Chester Kronenberg '13, superintendent of schools at Elgin, had charge of the dinner.

Among those present were James Donald '15, principal at Muddy Creek; Florence Bowden, '15, who is teaching at Berkeley; Sara Riddle, '12, teaching at Alice; Mr. Achison, Aubrey G. Smith, principal at Union; Mrs. Margaret Bannard Goodall, '04, of Union; Luton Ackerson, '15, principal of the Richmond high school; Eva Roche, '13, of Richland, and Miss Edith Crockett, of Union. Mr. Kronenberg, in writing of the dinner, says:

"We did not attempt to make any sort of an organization on account of the few present, but those who were there express themselves as being very glad that they had even the amount of time they did in which to renew old acquaintances and to tell about the old school. It will be almost impossible for any of us from here to come to Eugene on November 20, but we want the school and the faculty and the present student body, to feel that we are interested in them just as much as if we could be there. We all find the alumni column in the Emerald very helpful in keeping in touch with each other and hope that the management will find it worth while to keep it up throughout the year."

Carlyle Geisler, '15, is studying at Cornell. He visited his brother Raphael, who is at Columbia university, preparing for the consular and diplomatic service, recently. Carlyle is well pleased with Cornell. He says the campus is beautiful and the school finely situated.

OLD GRADUATE MAKES GIFT

University Given Complete File of Oregon State Journal By W. R. Kincaid; Will Help Seniors.

The University library, through Professor F. G. Young, head of the department of economics, has come into possession of a complete file of the old Oregon State Journal.

The file was given by Webster Kincaid, '08, son of H. R. Kincaid, the founder and publisher of the paper. Professor Young says the file will be bound and used for reference in historical and economic research work and that it will be particularly helpful to seniors in their preparation of theses.

The first issue of the paper appeared on March 12, 1864, from the Washington hand press, now in possession of the journalism department in Eugene, and according to the publisher's valedictory statement, was published weekly without fail for 45 years and 22 months. The last issue appeared May 29, 1909.

The names of many men who became famous in Oregon history appear in the news columns and advertisements.

GEORGE NOLAND, 1880, DIES

Klamath Falls Judge Was Graduate of the University of Oregon, Entering as a Freshman in 1876.

Judge George Noland, 1880, of Klamath Falls, died of apoplexy, while driving in his automobile with a party of friends, late Sunday afternoon, on his 58th birthday.

Judge Noland was a graduate of the University of Oregon, having entered as a freshman in 1876. He received his B. S. degree in 1880, B. A. in 1882, and M. A. in 1885. For a few years after graduation he practiced law in Astoria, but on account of his wife's health was forced to seek a higher altitude and settled in Klamath Falls. There he established a lucrative law practice and became one of the foremost citizens of the town. Last December he was appointed judge of the circuit court for Klamath county, to fill the unexpired term of Henry Benson, who was elected to the Oregon supreme court.

He leaves a widow, and a brother, James Noland, of Creswell. Mrs. T. G. Hendricks of Eugene is an aunt. Undoubtedly his death was hastened by the loss of his only son, Virgil, who was accidentally burned to death four years ago at the Sigma Nu house in Eugene.

Dr. John Straub, who was numbered among his many friends, attended the University at the same time as Judge Noland. Dr. Straub pays him this tribute:

"Judge Noland was a man of magnificent and high ideals, absolutely square and fair, a loyal friend and a strong, hard fighter. Although not vindictive, he had the tenacity of a bulldog, and would stick to a point that he believed right. He was a clear thinker, logical and powerful. He was companionable and generous, and would share his last dollar with a needy fellow-student."

GRADUATE IS APPOINTED

D. V. Kuykendall, 1898, to Be Circuit Judge in Place of Late George Noland, '80.

D. V. Kuykendall, of Klamath Falls, was appointed circuit court judge by Governor Withycombe on October 25, to succeed the late Judge George Noland, who died of heart failure Sunday at his home in Klamath Falls.

Mr. Kuykendall, who was graduated from the University of Oregon with the class of 1898, is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Kuykendall, of this city, later completing his course of law at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C. Returning to Oregon he took up his residence in Klamath Falls and was prosecuting attorney for Klamath and Lake counties for several years.

Rex Putnam, former U. of O. student, is football coach at the Springfield high school.
