

TRACK TEAM TO START TRAINING FOR BIG MEET

All Big Colleges and Universities of the Coast Will Be Represented On Feb. 5.

(By Chester Fee, Track Captain)

The starter's pistol is soon going to resound on Kincaid field, and the men are to begin training in earnest for the big far western indoor meet, which is to be held in the stadium at O. A. C., on February 5. Such a meet as this is an innovation in the northwest, and it is going to be difficult for several schools throughout the northwest to send representatives, for they do not have facilities and equipment for training their teams. In fact, O. A. C. is the only school in the northwest that will be able to enter a team that is in condition for such a meet as this.

All the big colleges and universities of the coast are entering men, and the meet in itself is going to be one of the biggest events of the winter. Men representing Stanford and California will be present, so the spectators will be afforded a rare opportunity of seeing the athletes from the south in action.

Oregon's team will be about as strong (speaking in parables) as limburger cheese, but their strength will run to putridity, rather than ability. The fact is that the Varsity does not have a man that could cop off a third in such a galaxy of stars, even if they were trained to the very finest point, and with no place to train, but in the mud under the famous shed, where the ground remains as hard as asphalt all the year, we stand about as much show of ever breaking into the scoring as that proverbial celluloid dog has of catching that asbestos cat in warmer regions than Kincaid field.

It seems strange that a truth like this would hold: The better the schedule, the weaker the team; but such has been the case at Oregon in the past, and the same condition arises today. We have prospects for the weakest team in years. Track men are as scarce as hen's teeth, and they can only be found in well endowed museums. Certainly we have some freshmen who will make good before they are out of college, but right now they would look like thirty coppers if Bill should enter them in the meet at O. A. C.

At present not one of the three letter men are getting out, and there are only two or three of the men who came close to their letters last year, who have donned their spikes this season. But they are all doped to be envying soon, and it will no doubt do Bill's heart good to look over the men, and then turn his head to the horizon, viewing in retrospect the men that once graced Oregon's landscape, uttering sadly, "It might have been, several years back, but they've got us this time."

John Bull is slated to step the quarter in the style and time that counts. He is an example for all freshmen to follow if they ever intend to get any place, for nothing but hard work and conscientious training has put John where he is, and if you could have seen him when he first hit the track at Oregon, you would have had difficulty holding back the laugh that sought utterance.

George Eichnor, of Utah, is supposed to have made good time in the quarter while there. He will not be eligible for conference meets, but can go in the opens.

The half mile seems to be a favorite event, with Nelson leading, and several good men strung out behind, including Staub, George (if he can be prevailed on to get out) McConnell (if Hope is lenient) and Montague.

Outside of this one event there is no one who can do anything, and so there are all kinds of chances for men who will train and work earnestly and systematically. Think what it all means; three men are required for every event, and there are at least three events that at the present time look sick unto death as far as prospects are concerned.

Waldo Miller is majoring in law at Stanford.

ALIEN LOANS IS TOPIC

Burle Bramhall Will Speak to U. of O. Commercial Club Tomorrow Night

The subject of foreign loans will be discussed by Burle Bramhall tomorrow night at the University commercial club meeting, in the school of commerce building. With the recent negotiations of some of the foreign nations with the United States for a billion dollar ally loan, the question is natural and important, says Martin Nelson, chairman of the program committee.

After the talk by Bramhall, the meeting will be open to informal discussion.

Professor Don Sowers and Dr. Morton will give short talks on the same subject.

"Everyone interested is invited to come up and hear what we have to say," said Mr. Nelson.

The meeting will take place at 7 o'clock, on the second floor of the commerce building.

The Intercollegiate Socialist society will meet in Professor H. C. Howe's room, Villard hall, Wednesday at 4 p. m. All interested in the movement, either for or against, are requested to be present.

STUDENT TAKES OVER BOND'S BOATHOUSE

"The Raceway," is the name by which the boathouse on the mill-race will be known hereafter. Gerry Watkins, who has registered in the University from Trenton, New Jersey, has taken over the place, which formerly was operated by P. L. Bond.

"A number of improvements will be made and the place will be made as attractive as possible. The brush below the swimming pool will be cleared away and a platform for a Chinese tea garden will be built. Green and yellow lights will be strung around the building and across the race, illuminating the place at night. At present there are 22 canoes in the house. A number of canoes will be added, and a new building, to accommodate the private ones will be built." The work of improvement will begin next spring, according to Watkins.

"From St. Francis to Raphael" will be Dr. Rebec's topic Wednesday, at 4 p. m., in Dr. Straub's room.

The gathering was at work again at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. An advertising conference was held in the psychology room, in which the visitors took an important part. Talks were made by Dean D. W. Morton, of the school of commerce, Dr. E. S. Conklin, on psychology; Professor Thacher of the English department, and Frederick Thorne.

Saturday afternoon discussions were given over to printing and business management, with Fred W. Kennedy, A. J. DeLay of the local journalism department, Dr. Morton, and D. C. Sowers, on the program for talks.

Resolutions as to the purposes of journalism schools, to cooperation among those of this section, to the arrangement of hour, to the publication of text books and opposing the introduction of elementary courses in journalism into high schools, were passed during the convention.

gies, in the east, one of the best. The men from Oregon did it—the wild, woolly men from the west. The winning makes the Aggies no stronger. No worse for our team to get.

We'll go after them so much the harder and we'll win in November, you bet.

For soon will the scalp of the Beaver hang on old Deady's wall. The maxim holdeth forever. The bigger—the harder they fall.'
