

SEARCHLIGHT THROWN ON INDIA'S NEEDS

Dr. Murray Appeals for Doctors; Urges That More Students Study Medicine.

The need of doctors and nurses in India was the theme of a lecture delivered in Deady hall Thursday by Dr. Lovell J. Murray, of the student volunteer movement.

Need of Medical Attention

There are 30,000,000 people in the country and the lack of medical attention and supplies is terrible, the speaker said. The hospitals are small and can accommodate only a small number of patients. Many of the sufferers are left in their native village and are visited by traveling doctors who make the rounds as often as possible. These physicians sometimes treat as many as two hundred cases a day and at times as many as two a minute.

Small hospitals have been erected from time to time by various denominations who have missionaries in the field, but because of a lack of funds they have not been sufficient to meet the demand. Since there are hospitals it is necessary only for the American people to supply the men and women needed to be of a real service to India. It was only a short time ago that one of the Rockefeller hospitals stood vacant for a year and a half because there was no one to take charge of it. For these reasons Dr. Murray urged that more students take up the study of medicine.

Religious Welfare Absent

The religious welfare of the Hindus has suffered also. There have been missionaries in the country for some time, sent by various religious denominations, but the majority of the natives remain true to their gods and to their caste systems. So strict is the system that a man of one level of society may not even buy goods from a man of another in the usual way. He must not approach nearer the seller than within shouting distance and then must leave his money and stand back while the man of higher or lower caste places the goods where he may return and get it.

It is very difficult for a Hindu to become a Christian. Perhaps the greatest drawback, Dr. Murray said, is the fact that he is not allowed, after turning Christian, to drink out of the city well and if he should dig a well of his own the water is immediately poisoned.

There are numerous preachers or "swami" who come to the United States to preach. They, however, according to Dr. Murray, give only the philosophical side of the religion, without the practical. These men have large followings in some large Armenian cities and it is difficult to convince some of their adherents that there is a practical side to the religion which is not so appealing as the other side.

REDDIE AND STUDENTS WILL PLAY CHAUTAUQUA

Tour Will Last 16 Months and Will Cover Ten Western States.

Professor A. F. Reddie, head of the public speaking department, has secured a leave of absence from the University for the months of May and June, so that he may fill an engagement with the Ellisen-White Chautauqua company. The tour will last from 12 to 16 weeks covering 10 states, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Montana.

The Comus Players, as they are to be called, will consist of a company of four, of which Ralph Ash, '17, and Janet Young, '14, are members.

The entertainment which they are planning to give is in the nature of a Shakespearean production. A short talk will first be given on Shakespearean production of plays. Then will follow a scene from "As You Like It," "The Taming of the Shrew," or "Macbeth," played in original Shakespearean style, with Elizabethan costumes and no scenery.

The program will close with "Carson of the North Weeds," a play in the French Canadian dialect, which is also given without scenery of any kind.

Mrs. Eric W. Allen will have charge of the dramatic work during Professor Reddie's absence. Mrs. Allen will be remembered by University play-goers for her splendid work as Stasia, the London slavey, in the faculty production of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

BAND NOTICE.

The picture of the Band will be taken Sunday afternoon, two o'clock, at Tollman's Studio. Every one be on time, with sweaters and instruments.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT NOW MADE A "SCHOOL"

Recent Appropriation Makes It Possible To Enlarge The Department. Faculty Is Increased.

The extension department has been made a "school" with Dr. Joseph Schafer as dean.

Dr. S. P. Capen in his report criticized Oregon for a lack of sufficient extension work. Doctor Schafer says that this criticism was justified, but that lack of finances has made it impossible to do more.

The board of regents directed more of the appropriation to the extension department this year than before, making it possible to take up some new lines of work.

The professors now engaged in extension work are: Dr. H. D. Sheldon, Prof. F. C. Ayer and Dr. B. W. DeBusk, of the education department; Dr. Joseph Schafer, Earl Kilpatrick, Prof. J. F. Board, Dr. E. S. Conklin, Dr. J. H. Gilbert, Dr. C. F. Hodge, Prof. A. R. Sweetser, Dr. George Rebec, Prof. O. F. Stafford, Prof. P. P. Adams, Dr. D. W. Morton and Mrs. M. H. Parsons.

Doctor Morton has outlined a group of new courses and has secured some others from the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Adams has opened a new line of work for the carpenter's union of Portland.

Mrs. Parsons conducts English classes in Portland which are attended by from four to five hundred people.

The enrollment in the correspondence school is 442. The most popular subjects are: education, English, history and mathematics. The students registered in the department include many teachers and others interested in higher education, who are unable to come to college.

CRIPPLED INTELLECTUALS TO RECEIVE TREATMENT

Professor Thacher to Head Movement on Attaining Higher Standard in Use of English

If you see ENG. written on your report card at the end of the semester prepare to enter a hospital. The chief physician will be Professor W. F. G. Thacher and his assistants will be other members of English department.

Any of your instructors who consider you notably deficient in English are urged by special legislation of the faculty to commend you to the English department for individual treatment. The hope is to focalize attention on securing higher standard of English, according to Prof. Thacher, who originated the plan.

Hospital Opens Next Semester

"The hospital opens next semester and we hope to have a good many patients. We are certain to have if a large per cent of the faculty cooperate in the plan. There will be no uniformity of treatment. Some cases we will treat with individual assignments and conferences while others may require class work. Uniformity is impossible. No doubt we will encounter some cases for which we can do little or nothing," said Professor Thacher.

The question arose on faculty discussion of the advisability of installing the plan why any student should be passed in English composition if he is deficient. Professor Thacher pointed out that the use of good English is a habit and a reversion may set in at any time after class work and routine has been discontinued.

MAKES ATHLETIC CHANGES.

Radical changes in Trinity's athletic code have been adopted, including a one-year rule, and a rule barring any student who has been a member of a professional baseball team or a money-winner in track athletics from competing in inter-collegiate events. In addition, it is declared that no student over 28 years of age shall be eligible for the football team.

TRAINING CAMP FOR CORNELL

A gift of $10,000 has been made to Cornell University for the benefit of the Department of Military Science and Tactics by Willard D. Straight '01, for the establishment of a summer camp in Ithaca. Six hundred undergraduates may receive instruction similar to that of the United States Army at Plattsburg, during the two weeks at camp.

The position of center on the basketball team at Wisconsin U. is open to any man six feet or more tall, who is willing to come out and try for it.
