LAW SCHOOL FACULTY.

James Duff Barnett, Ph. D., University of Wisconsin. Author of "The Operation of the Initiative, Referendum and Recall in Oregon," and of various articles published in the American Political Science Review, Political Science Quarterly and other magazines. Dr. Barnett is professor of political science in the college or arts and science, but is also a much appreciated teacher of public law in the law school. Professor Barnett will also conduct the six hour course in Elementary law next year. This course has been lengthened to the extent of three hours, and will include a wealth of new material on the history of legal forms and principles, the philosophy of procedure, the rise of the English courts and their special jurisdiction. Practice in the analysis of cases will also be a feature of the course, and special stress will be laid upon the topics known as "Commercial Law," thus making the course of value to all students of the department of commerce.

Walle Merritt, A. B. (1908), J. D. (1912) University of Michigan. Practised law in Cleveland (1912-1913), Minneapolis (1913-1914). Instructor in (1914-1915). Member of the Order of the Coif. Professor of Law University of Oregon.

Robert Patterson Reeder, LL. B., LL. M., University of Pennsylvania. Former member of the Philadelphia Bar, where he practised for six years. Author of the recent and well known work entitled "The Validity of Rate Regulations" which has met with much favorable comment. Editor of the 2nd edition of C. Stuart Patterson's work entitled "The United States and the States under the Constitution." Professor of Law University of Oregon.

Edward William Hope, A. B. (Pennsylvania '98), A. M. (Stanford '02), Ph. D. (Johns Hopkins '05).

Former member of the Los Angeles Bar, where he practised law for three years, and acted as counsel for the Los Angeles Investment company (1910-1913).

Professor of Greek in the University of Alabama (1905-1906); Instructor in the Classics in the University of Illinois (1906-1907); Instructor in Greek in Leland Stanford University (1907-1910).
Dean of the Law School University of Oregon.

PHI DELTS TO EDIT PAPER

To Be Named "Oregon Phi Alumni Link"

The alumni of Phi Delta Theta have just published an eight page pamphlet entitled the "Oregon Phi Alumni Link" which they plan to make a semi-annual publication to be issued in May and December. The "Link" is published by the Delta Sigma fraternity incorporated.

Walter Huntington, '12 of Portland, is editor and Wendell Barbour, '12; George Gabriel, '12; Elliott Roberts, Phillip Hammond, and Loren Roberts are associate editors.

The paper tells about improvements on the University campus, and contains the fraternity alumni and student personals, and a directory of all its alumni.

Following is some of the news which appears in the fraternity's directory.

Sophus T. Blohm, ex-'16, of 161 North Twenty-fourth street Portland, works for the Central Door & Lumber Co., and spends his spare time with the Oregon National Guard, in which he is second lieutenant of one of the companies.

L. V. Belknap, ex-'18, is finishing his freshman year at the Oregon medical school.

David Campbell, ex-'15, is teaching piano in Whitman Conservatory of music.

Raymond B. Giles, '15, South Valjejo, Cal., is working for the Southern Pacific Co. He graduated from the University of California a year ago.

Carlyle D. Geisler, '15, 422 west 115th street New York City, who spent the fall semester at Cornell is at present in the Graduate School of Highway Engineering at Columbia University.

Hollis W. Huntington, ex-'17, The Dalles, is working for the Wasco Warehouse Milling Co.

Merwin R. Irish, ex-'15, will enter Y. M. C. A. work in Portland next month.

Robert E. Morton of Estacada plans to work with the U. S. Forest Rangers this summer.

Charles Oleson, '12, is a farmer at Woodland, Washington.

Howard F. Parsons, ex-'13, is a draftsman with the Lane County Abstract Co., at Springfield.

Elliott P. Roberts, ex-'14, is a rancher at The Dalles.

Clarence W. Walls, '12, is with the Hollis Mercantile Co.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Senior girls meet at east entrance of Villard—undergraduates at north entrance and alumnae at south door of library, Monday at 6:30 o'clock.

CONCEIVE ERRONEOUS IDEA

Books Carried by Law Student Does Not Make Course Expensive.

A large number of the students of the University have conceived the erroneous idea that because the law students are frequently seen carrying numerous large law volumes it must necessarily be a very expensive course. However, this is untrue for the cost of books will probably average about $25.00 for the entire year. This is about $10.00 in excess of the amount which one would be required to expend in the other schools. Of course there is the tuition of $15.00 a semester but when compared with other schools of the same standard one will realize that this sum is merely nominal.

Delta Theta Phi Install

The deady senate of Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity, which was installed at the University of Oregon this year held its annual ceremony of installation of officers Thursday evening in the senate chamber at Friendly hall. The officers installed were: Dean, J. Bothwell Avison; Warden, Chas. Collier; Tribune, Seth L. Smith; Clerk of the Rolls, Sterling Spillman; Master of the Ritual, H. E. Barnhart; Clerk of the Exchequer, Frank P. Farrell; Bailiff, G. McConnell.

After installation Dean Avison and H. E. Barnhart outlined the plans for the ensuing year's work to be carried out by the fraternity relative to the arguments of legal questions and the discussion of decisions which have lately been handed down by the superior courts.

"These discussions and arguments by fraternity members will fill a need for the prospective lawyer which cannot be taken care of during the lecture by the Professors of the law school in their regular course, said Dean Avison and will be a sort of preface to some of the work offered in the last year's courses of the school of law particularly Oregon Procedure."

HEAR FAVORABLE COMMENT

Professor Reeder Writes Book on "Validity of Rate Regulations."

Professor Robert P. Reeder of the University law school has written a book on "The Validity of Rate Regulations" which has received much favorable comment.

The author treats of the principles of constitutional law which are involved in rate regulation both on principle and authority and has presented in one book a summarized analysis of the question of rate law.

The three essential fields to be considered in rate making have received attention and the result is a work valuable alike to the economist, the railroad man and the lawyer.

In reference to Professor Reeder's book the American Political science Review says: "The work is one of interest not only students of the more technical problems, but also, and indeed especially, students of constitutional law in general. Both classes of readers will find the work well written exceedingly accurate, and thoroughly documented."

The discussion of the due process clause in the work has been especially well received. This is Professor Reeder's first year at the University having come here from Pennsylvania.
