

SOCCER OUTLOOK BAD; VETERANS ARE SCARCE

New Suits and Shoes to Be Ordered if Old Men Turn Out.

Exceptionally Hard Game to Learn, Is Opinion of Coach Dymont.

Against 72 men signed up for soccer at O. A. C., there are only 18 out for soccer here. According to Coach Dymont, at least 10 more men are needed, as there are not enough in the squad to make two full teams, and no real team work can be accomplished unless the first team can have practice without splitting up, half playing on one side and half on the other.

The team has so far been held back by the shortage of suits and shoes but new outfits are being ordered. Some of last year's men do not want to turn out unless they have outfits, and the athletic authorities do not wish to purchase more uniforms unless the men have already turned out.

"If we are going to make any showing against O. A. C. or Multnomah, the team must have hard practice and it is practically impossible to get the work out needed unless the size of the squad is nearly doubled. Some of the boys have been turning out every evening and working hard. There are several openings on the team and the probability of at least four games, including two trips and I can not see why more of the old men and freshmen do not show up," said Frank Campbell, this year's soccer captain.

Coach Dymont expects to hear from Multnomah by the end of this week agrees, the first game will be played at Portland on Thanksgiving, either in the morning or as a preliminary to the Oregon-Multnomah football game in the afternoon. This would give the boys a chance to see the football game, also. The return game to be played on the campus some time in December.

Two games have been asked of O. A. C. but they have not agreed as yet. If the games are scheduled the dates will be fixed in the near future.

"Every year it is borne in on me more and more, how hard a game soccer is to learn. Men who are athletes and letter men in other sports often have a hard time with soccer. The game requires a muscle co-ordination needed only in one other sport that I know of, and that is lacross, although the American game of baseball requires it to a certain extent," said Coach Dymont, in regard to the difficulties of the game.

PETITION FOR CLASS HOURS

Student Council Would See Old Custom Re-established This Year.

The custom of class hours will be re-established this year, if the faculty members act favorably on a petition that is being drawn up by the student council.

The class hour was abolished by the faculty last year. References to faculty members, disturbances and "bum comedy" during performances caused the action.

The custom provided each class with an assembly period, once a year, in which to put on a program or stunt for the student body in lieu of the regular meeting.

Karl Becke, Laura Jerard and Martha Beer were appointed a committee, at the student council meeting last night, to draw up and submit the petition.

DEBATING LEAGUE GROWS

Oregon High School Debating League Increases Membership 25 per Cent.

The Oregon High School debating league will this year debate the following question: Resolved, that Oregon should adopt a health insurance law embodying the essential features of the "Standard Bill" of the American association for labor legislation. This question, which is to prove the bone of contention between high school debaters over the state, was announced yesterday morning by Earl Kilpatrick, head of the league, and of the extension department of the University.

The league this year shows a gain of 35 per cent in membership with an enrollment of 65 high schools. This is double the number of schools that belonged to the organization three years ago, and is a gain of 14 over last year.

In each of the ten districts of the league the championship of the district will be determined, the number will then be reduced to two by a series of district debates, and the two teams contending for the state championship will be brought to Eugene to decide upon the winner. This debate will be held during Junior Week End and the winner will be given the University or Oregon cup now held by the Prineville high school.

OREGANA STAFF TO MEET

Gathering at Home of Janette Calkins Promises to Be Lively.

The entire Oregana staff will meet next Tuesday at 7 at the home of Miss Janette Calkins, 588 11th avenue east. All of the staff is urged to be present as the meeting promises to be a lively one.

Meetings of a similar nature will be held every three weeks. The purpose of these meetings is to discuss new ideas, and to create enthusiasm.

The Oregana is published by the student body of the University and Miss Wootten says, "This year the juniors, as a whole are going to have more to do with it than ever."

CLARK WILL LECTURE.

The fourth lecture in the series on "National Factors Responsible for the European War," will be given Tuesday October 17, in Dr. Scaffer's lecture room in the library, at one o'clock.

Prof. R. C. Clark will lecture on "Submerged Nationalities."

Everyone is invited to attend.
