Varsity Team Off for Great Game

Last-Minute-Protest Sent by California Against Parsons Is Unsuccessful.

Effort Made to Get Game by Plays

Players Question if System Used With M. A. A. C. Will Prevail.

W. Haseltine.
Speeded on their way by the biggest send-off ever given a lemon-yellow team, the varsity squad eighteen strong, left last night for Berkeley to battle with Coach Andy Smith's men. The players making the trip were Beckett, Parsons, Montieth, Tegtart, Snyder, Risley, Spellman Bartlett, Mitchell, Jensen, Couch, Williams, Dudley, McKinney, Nelson and Cook. Coach Bezdek, Bill Hayward, A. R. Tiffany and Manager Geary made up the rest of the party.

None of the boys were unduly confident of their chances against the blue and gold and all predicted a close game. California has a big, powerful eleven that is as yet undefeated, although Whittier gave them a close rub Saturday, the Bear winning out in the last few minutes of play 31-17.

California sent in an eleventh hour protest against Johnny Parsons yesterday alleging that he had played four years and was therefore ineligible to participate this season. The protest is unfounded however, as Parsons did not make the team his freshman year nor take part in any of the games.

Whether the system that worked so well against Multnomah will prevail against the Southerners is a mooted question which cannot be answered until next Saturday afternoon.

For the last practice before leaving yesterday Bez gave the freshmen California's plays which were used against Whittier last week. The first year men made yardage time and again with a bewildering assortment of cross bucks and forward passes all of which were started from the same formation. The success of the frosh augurs ill for the varsity unless they can fathom the attack of the Californians.

Staff Meets and Eats

Oregana Officers Tend to Business, Toast Marshmallows, Sing Songs.

The second meeting of the Oregana staff took place Tuesday night at the home of Jeanette Calkins and a good time is reported by those in attendance.

After the business part of the meeting a political discussion, was held and then maple mousse, coffee and cakes were served to the following: Emma Wootton, Adrienne Epping, Marian Tuttle, Clytie Hall, Sara Barker, Dorothy Dunbar, Ed Harwood, Kenneth Moores, Curtis Beach, Creston Maddock, Earl Fleischmann, Harvey Madden, Jack Dolph, Don Roberts and Jeanette Calkins.

The rest of the evening was spent in dancing, toasting marshmallows, and singing Oregon songs.

Triple B. Has Meeting

Nominating Committee Appointed, Plans for Year Organized.

The Triple B organization of Sophomore girls held the first meeting of the year yesterday at the Delta Gamma house to decide on plans for the year.

Dorothy Dunn, last year's president of Triple A presided and appointed Mary Murdoch, Louise Wilson, Lillian Boylen, and Margaret Casey on a nominating committee. Mary Dunn and Kathryn Hartley were appointed to look into the social service work which it is the custom of Triple B to do.

Miss Elizabeth Fox, dean of women, was present, voicing her approval of class organizations. She invited the association to meet at her apartments at Bartle Court soon.

Refreshments were served of cider and doughnuts.

Triple B will meet again Tuesday at 5 o'clock at the Delta Gamma house.

Meeting Hour Called Off

Majors Taken to Oregana

Entertaining at the Oregana is an innovation in the way of meeting majors which Dean Ralph H. Lyman and Dr. John Landsbury, of the school of music, have introduced.

According to instructions thirty-five music majors put in their appearance at the school of music this morning at assembly hour. After Mr. Landsbury had given a short talk, the party was divided into relays and the first section ushered into Mr. Lyman's car which was parked outside. In a few minutes there was a reunion at the "Oregana" where the rest of the hour was spent in pulling straws and wielding spoons.

"We music people never can get together like the people in other departments," said Mr. Lyman. "We need to get acquainted and here is our chance."

"Get Together"—Allen

Old Students Should Teach New Ones Declares Journalism Dean.

That the faculty is a subordinate element of a school and that students should get together and build up traditions and hand them down to new students, is belief of Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, expressed before his majors at their assembly Wednesday morning.

Mr. Allen impressed upon the upperclassmen that they should install in the freshmen the right spirit of co-operation and loyalty to the University.

"The University must have a particular type of technique in journalism," said Professor Allen, "and this can be done by developing a desire for care and accuracy in handling the news which molds the opinion of others."

Fair mindedness and an ability to see the other side, to see the facts as they are, not as he would like to see them, and the art of expressing himself forcefully in simple, clear language, are necessary qualifications of a journalist, according to Mr. Allen.

Colin V. Dymont, professor of journalism, urged the students to work together in building up a constructive departmental spirit. "When every man is perfectly loyal to his school, it can produce better men than would be possible without this spirit," declared Mr. Dymont.

Alumni seem to have this feeling redoubled after leaving school as is shown by the letters from the journalism students who have been placed in good news paper positions in the last four years.

Mr. Dymont told where twenty-four of these alumni are and what they are doing in journalism.

A. J. DeLay talked about the mechanical part of newspaper making.

Women Play Politics

Will Form Hughes Club and Give Speeches in Nearby Towns.

The organization of a women's Hughes club will be the feature at a meeting to be held Friday afternoon in the lecture room in Deady hall at 4 o'clock. Stump speeches and songs will be the event of the afternoon, if the program is carried out according to the schedule laid down by Emma Wootton, one of the three organizers of the club.

Adrienne Epping, Jeanette Calkins, and Emma Wootton started the club yesterday afternoon and with the enthusiasm that has greeted the forming of the club since that time there promises to be quite a number of the co-eds out for the "hashing" Friday.

"All Hughes women and those on the fence are invited," said Miss Wootton. "Buttons and club ribbons will be distributed and songs from the campaign song book of the republican party will be sung."

The club is under the auspices of the Lane County Republican committee. At the meeting on Friday afternoon it is planned to have the plans for the coming campaign discussed. Under the leadership of R. D. Calkins, Jr., of the law firm of Smith and Calkins, and secretary of the Lane County Republican Party, the party is planning to make trips in automobiles to various towns of the county and to address the republican women in these places.

"Probably Coburg and Elmira will be the first towns to be visited," said Miss Wootton. "We will sing a few songs in each and make speeches."

California's Game Play by Play for All Students Saturday

Eighteen Hundred Word Report Will Come Over the Wires to Keep Students Informed as to Progress of Battle on the Berkeley Gridiron. Rex Theatre and Emerald Working in Co-operation to Put Over Metropolitan "Scoop."

The Emerald and Rex Theatre will furnish to the students a report of the football game between the Varsity and California play by play. The game starts at 2:30 Saturday afternoon and from that moment until the closing whistle on the Berkeley oval the telegraph wires will be hot.

Two copies will be taken of the game from the wires, 1800 words in length and detailing each play. Manager J. T. McDonald of the Rex Theatre will hold a special matinee at ten cents when the reports will be read as they come in. The regular run of pictures will be as complete as usual.

Another copy will go to the Emerald office and the linotype.

This is metropolitan journalism with in the strictest meaning of the phrase and is a costly undertaking. Never before has such a "scrap" been pulled off in Eugene. Heretofore the streets have been crowded the afternoons of big games played away from home and the telephone wires kept hot for the meager information of "what's the score?"

But in keeping with the progress of the times and the growth of the student body detailed information will be at the service of all the students. Saturday afternoon should see the Rex jammed with students wanting to know about the game. It will be the next thing to seeing the game—at 10 cents per.

From the south come reports that Oregon's pre-season victories over Willamette and Multnomah have put fear into the hearts of the Californians. Betting has dropped and almost ceased and one official in intimate touch with affairs on the California campus says "Oregon will drub us."

Saturday's game is the first conference game of the season. The interest shown in the send-off rally last night has never been equaled. And it is a cinch the same interest will be shown Saturday as the game progresses.

The reports start at 2:30 with the starting whistle and will continue to the close of the game at approximately 4:30 o'clock.

Y. M. Issues Booklet

Contains Information for Foreigners Concerning College Customs.

The committee on friendly relations among foreign students has issued small booklets in several languages for the benefit of foreign students in American universities. J. D. Foster, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., has some of these for distribution to foreign students in the University.

The booklets, which are compiled by Charles D. Hurrey, general secretary of the committee, are written in different foreign languages and deal with matters of interest to the foreigner, such as school customs, school slang, and so forth. They also aim to answer questions referring to North American educational institutions, and student life. The committee of which Mr. Hurrey is general secretary desires to show foreign students, especially orientals, that the Christian religion has something for them as well as Americans.

Kincaid Field Must Do

Decrease in Taxes Means No New Gridiron for Some Time.

That football will probably be played and the underclass mix staged on Kincaid field for some years to come is the opinion of Karl Onthank, secretary of the president. Mr. Onthank says that with the increase in the registration of the University comes a demand for more teachers and instructors and that, as this demand is more important, it must be filled before steps are taken to change the football gridiron to the property east of University avenue, which is owned by the University.

"The amount of taxes to be collected, for example, in Multnomah county for this year has decreased from the amount which was collected last year; and in a number of other counties the decrease is similar," said Mr. Onthank. "This, in a corresponding degree will decrease our appropriation and cause a general tightening up of expenditures. And so, although the plans for the change have all ready been drawn up, I do not believe it will be made for some years to come."

Boisterous Farewell Given Departing Team at Depot

Roaring, Chanting, Singing Lines of Rooters Accompany Squad to Train in Largest, Noisiest Parade ever Witnessed in Eugene. Twelve Students Will Make Journey With Varsity to Southland. Oregon Will Have Good Representation at Berkeley.

Clifford Seivits

Whilst a roaring, reverberating, renting "Oskie" echoed and re-echoed against Old Skinner Butte last evening, Oregon's eighteen representatives of the lemon-yellow rolled away for California. "Pep" is not the word to describe that farewell demonstration. It is altogether too tame. A new expiatory phase will have to be invented to justly depict the spirit.

The University student-body practically responded in body when the bugle was sounded. From Eleventh and Kincaid streets the biggest, noisiest, most enthusiastic parade ever witnessed in Eugene, rallied down town through the business section. The psychology of the moment was intense. "It is the old Oregon feeling re-born and greatly exalted," a bystander was heard to remark.

With a long single file of men on either side of the street and women between; and the famous Oregon chant coming simultaneously from several hundred throats as the drums beat quick, snappy march time, the parade was impressive. It was significant of an all-important fact—that the famous spirit of victory for Oregon is alive in the breasts of the Oregon students. It is the spirit that says "we will" when dope says "you won't" and "you can't."

Yell leaders Jack Dolph and "Slim" Crandall, spot-lighted on the top of a passenger coach, lead in songs and yells and finally wound up with three rah's for Bezdek, Trainer Bill Hayward, Dean Walker, and every man of the squad who is making the trip. Registrar, A. R. Tiffany, referee, Sam Dolan, and twelve student-rooters were with the team. Representatives from the fraternities and from the men's dormitory were sent as the result of lotteries, by which the remaining members paid the expenses of the trip for the lucky one.

It looks as if Oregon's rooting force at the game Saturday will not be entirely inconsequential. Three parties of rooters have departed by automobile and a number left last night at midnight by Oregon electric in order to make connection at Portland with the boat.

Arrangements are being made by Manager T. J. McDonald of the Rex Theatre by which the game may be shown play by play. The news is to be flashed before local fans as the game is in progress.

Frosh Goes Off to War

Was Pre-Medic Last Year

Will Run Machine Gun

Today was Clifford McClean's last day in his native land and in his home. Tomorrow he leaves for the battle fields in Flanders as a member of the 172nd Battalion Canadian volunteers. He is an enlisted man in a machine gun section.

McClean—"Mac" to the boys that knew him, was a pre-medic freshman at the University last year. He entered the second semester. Friendly hall was his home.

"Mac" is quiet and unassuming. He was liked by everyone that came to know him as a smiling, silent and witty Scotchman.

"Mac" declared to his fellows last June that he was going to go over the seas if they would take him. In July he enlisted at Kamloops, B. C., and has trained all summer.

Raymond Jones, "Mac's" closest friend at the University, received a letter a few days ago.

He says, "I belong to a machine gun company and will be with the first to get in action. There will be no waiting for months and weeks in the reserve."

Oregon Wins 12 Times

In 19 Football Games, O. A. C. Victor in But 3-9 Contests Were Ties.

O. A. C. has beaten Oregon in only three out of the nineteen football games they have played. Four games have been tied and seven have been won consecutively by the Varsity players.

Class Goes to Salem

Students in Social Agencies Will Visit State Institutions.

Twenty-five members of Miss Elizabeth Fox's social agencies class will leave Friday morning at 8:35 on the Oregon Electric for Salem, where they will be conducted through various state institutions. They will be met at the depot by automobiles which governor Withycombe has to place at their disposal.

The class will visit the Deaf school, hospital for the insane, the state penitentiary, the Girls' Industrial school, the hospital for the feeble minded, the Boys' Training school, and the Blind school.

Box lunches which will be enjoyed in picnic style along the country road will be taken. Margaret Hawkins is chairman of this committee.

$8728 Pledged to Fund

$2834 Raised on Campus for Women's Memorial Building.

Approximately $8,728 has been pledged to the construction of the women's building to date. $500 of this came in the last week anonymously, $1258 has come from personal gifts, while various clubs and organizations throughout the state have contributed $4,235. The remaining $2,834.85 has been raised on the campus. Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi, as well as Kwama and the 1916 senior class have aided in raising this $2,834.85.

The profits from the reading of the "Melting Pot," which Charlotte Banfield is to give in Guild hall Saturday night will likewise go to the fund.

The campus players plan to increase the fund by giving a play the second semester.

Californians Fear Oregon's Machine

Blue and Gold Expects Drubbing, Writes Ernest E. Vosper From Berkeley.

Southern Campus Is Pervaded in Gloom

So Sure of Defeat That All Betting Has Been Stopped.

E. E. Vosper, Varsity Yell Leader 1914.

Berkeley, Calif., October 16.—Although the Oregon game is only a few days off, there seems to be very little interest shown on the campus. Perhaps this is due to the fact that California expects defeat, or it may be due to the fact that it is not considered one of California's big games. Then also the school is so large that there is a lack of that spirit that dominates the Oregon campus. If it were not for the posters and the sign boards, one would hardly know that there was to be a game.

Football is a topic of the view on the campus. Some of the greatest interest is being shown by Old Oregon students, who are looking forward to the game with interest. Many of them will be eager to see Oregon play again.

Graduate Manager J. A. Stroud has kindly promised to reserve a section for the Oregon rooters at the game. With his help, and interest, Oregon will have a rooting section, perhaps small, but mighty. I have received letters from many of the alumni around the bay, who are going to be at the game. Already I am sure of twenty rooters and before the day of the game, I expect more. Well the Oregon spirit will be there even though we are few in number.

October 17—Prospects for victory over Oregon have fallen. All the coaches were some what disappointed over the showing of the big Varsity team against the lighter Whittier team on Saturday last. The Varsity was slow in getting its plays off and weak on defense. However, Coach Andy Smith has taken the team in hand with the greatest of determination to overcome this weakness. Although Coach Smith has had great difficulties to overcome, because of the game, new to Californians, he has done wonders with the material and has a fair team of large men. The line has seven husky and hard working men, who put all they have into the game. In men such as Liversidge, Russell and Gordon, Cal. has a center trio that is hard to beat. They are large men and fighters.

It is only right to mention quarterback Shapp. He is by far the best field runner that I have ever seen. He is similar to Parsons in that respect. His greatest advantage is his ability to dodge while running at full speed. His ability as field general is only fair. He is a small man about 138 pounds. Another man in the back field that will prove a dangerous man to Oregon is Brooks. His is a terror on offense and one of the fastest men on the team. Wells, Lane and Graf are also good back-field men.

Since Saturday's game, Coach Smith has been giving the men some individual attention in the matter of defense in breaking up passes and smashing interference. He has hopes to smash the Oregon offense and to stop the advance of Oregon's line plungers. He fears the work of Parsons and Montieth and the Huntington Brothers and respects the powers of Beckett and Snyder and Bart-powers of Beckett and Snyder and Bart-hold his own with Risley.

However, so sure are the supporters that Oregon will win that there is no betting at all at this time. The news of the overwhelming defeat of Willamette and the victory over Multnomah has thrown a scare into the supporters of the blue and gold. They fear Oregon's great scoring machine and stonewall defense. As one of the men of importance said to me, "I fear Oregon will drub us."

Despite this feeling the coaches are having the second teams work Oregon's style of play so that the Varsity will have experience.

All Oregon men will welcome the team to the south.
