

WASHINGTON SPIRIT HIGH FOR BIG GAME

Men to Enter Contest Determined and Fearless: "Never Say Die" Motto.

Rooters Along With Band and Drum and Bugle Corps to Invade Eugene.

H. Sherman Mitchell
University of Washington, Seattle, Oct. 31.—(Special to the Emerald)—Interest in Saturday's game is at a high pitch and several hundred students, the band, and the drum and bugle corps will leave for Eugene on a special train Friday night. Washington's rooters will root as they never have before. There is truly no optimism here regarding the outcome and there will likely be little Washington money offered.

Oregon will find a fight on her hands when the two elevens clash and whichever team emerges victorious will know there has been a game of football going on. The driving powers of Dobie will go a long way towards balancing the deficiencies of the men and the old spirit of "never-say-die" will be in every man on that field Saturday.

The brunt of the offensive in Saturday's contest between Washington and Whitman fell on Noble. "Cy" responded valiantly every time, and capped the climax of his career with an eighty yard run from kickoff, being overtaken only a yard from the goal. One play put the ball across.

Whitman's trick plays and forward passes were generally disastrous. Both teams completed two passes for short gains. Most of the shots, however, fell into opponents' arms. All of Washington's scores were the result of straight football.

Faulk at left end played a steady game and his toe was responsible for Washington's first score. Out of five goals from touchdown, four went true, and his kick in the first quarter was for thirty-five yards. He caught both of the varsity's successful plays.

The entire line, Smith, Grimm, Morrison, Wick, Seagrave, Murphy and Faulk, showed up fairly well, and the two tackles, Grimm and Murphy, made good gains on tackle-around plays.

Noble and Johnson in the backfield did most of the ground gaining. Hainsworth and Anderson opened the holes and were used mainly for interference.

COMEDIES TO ALTERNATE

"Strongheart" Will Be Presented Next; Two Leading Roles Are Selected.

Beginning with "Strongheart," a play of college life, by DeMille, on November 24th and 25th, Dr. E. S. Bates will begin his new plan of alternating live modern comedies with those of the type formerly produced.

Laura Miller will play the leading feminine role of Dorothy, the part in which she starred when this play was produced by the senior class of The Dalles high school in 1915. Earl Fleischman will be Strongheart, the young western Indian attending an eastern college, and who falls in love with his roommate's sister. The remainder of the cast has not been selected, but assignments will be made in the next two days.

$5000 PRIZE IS OFFERED

Morality Codes Extending Throughout United States Is Announced.

A morality codes contest is announced by Dr. Sheldon which extends all over the United States. A first prize of $5000 will be awarded for the best code. The contest is to be by states, which means that a judge is appointed for each state and codes will be sent to him from his state. This judge will then pick out the best one and send it in to the central judges. Dr. Sheldon is the judge for Oregon, and any person desiring to compete should send in their code to him before March 1, 1917. Any person in the state who has ideas on a moral code which should be taught small children may compete, announces Dr. Sheldon.

EMERALD TO ISSUE SPECIAL EDITION

Will Be Palced on Sale Saturday on Trains for Visitors.

Program for Game Will Be Given, With Positions of Players.

A six page edition of the Emerald will be issued Saturday morning and will be placed on sale on the special trains on both railroads for the accommodation of the hundreds of visitors who are expected here for the big game. The edition will include the regular campus and mail editions and about 1000 extra copies, bringing the circulation to 2500 or over.

Many distinctive features will be included in the paper with the aim of making it a complete guide to the campus and fraternities as well as a directory of the hotels and restaurants of the city. It will have photographs of most of the star players who will take part in the afternoon's game with a list of their former records, the former Oregon-Washington scores, all of the available "dope" on the teams from the comparative scores made in their games to date as well as the opinions of professional sport writers on the probable outcome of the game.

One of the features that will make the paper especially valuable as a program for the game will be an arrangement of numbered circles, by which the players will be shown in their relative positions as they appear on the field.

It is the plan of the management to issue the paper at eight o'clock Saturday morning. From the office it will be rushed to the first or second stations north of Eugene on each of the railroads.

STORES EXPECTED TO CLOSE

McMorran and Washburne Announces They Will Close for Saturday's Game.

Because of the circulation of an erroneous story on the campus to the effect that the McMorran & Washburne store had refused to close on next Saturday for the big game, and that this firm was stopping the other merchants from closing, Carl Washburne on being interviewed said, "we are going to close, and all 31 of our employees are going to the game to see Oregon win."

"MAGAZINE" SHEET OUT WITHIN A MONTH

Emerald Supplement Will Use Short Stories, Verse and the Like.

Money Cleared on Tagore Lecture Will Pay for First Two Issues.

The first magazine supplement of the Emerald will be issued some time this month, according to DeWitt Gilbert, who has been appointed editor of the section.

"The edition will be out something before the end of the month," said Gilbert today. "It will not be a straight literary supplement, neither will it be a straight comic supplement, the main idea being to combine the two. Short stories, verse, an article or two, editorials, campus verse, prose bits, take offs, sketches and the like will be the main idea of the issue.

"We may have massed a good many students who are good at this kind of stuff in making out the assignments of the work, but we don't want that to prevent anyone from handing in a story. We will need about ten times the stuff that we will be able to use, in order to make a selection and use the best.

"If anyone has an idea and thinks that it is a good one, why, see me. I want all of the stuff that I can get and the only way to get it is for the students to come to me and tell me whatever they have in their minds about the issuing of the edition.

"Any special features that anyone has in his mind or any form of poetry, short stories, take offs, or anything else in that line, I want to see.

"The supplement will be put out with the money that was cleared from the Tagore lecture in Villard hall some time ago. There is about enough to put out one more of them. What these arrangements will be remains to be seen from the results of the first two editions," said Gilbert.

"Another thing—we want a name for the edition. Has anyone an idea? 'Emerald Supplement' Magazine Section,' and a few others are names that have been suggested so far. The greater the variety of names the more likely we will be to get one that will suit the issue. Let me know if you have one that you think is good."

The sheet will consist of an insert of one sheet in the regular edition of the Emerald. There is to be no advertising whatever and the entire sheet will be devoted to stories and the like. About 800 words are planned for the entire issue.

The time of issuing will be determined by the time that the material is in the hands of the editor. Gilbert said that he would like to have all of the material that he could possibly get in his hands by the last of this week. Anything in the line of campus literature is what is wanted.

content to buck the line for steady gains and at the psychological moment shoot a forward pass to a waiting back or end for a score. It is the machine precision, the eleven unit charge as one man, the uncanny plug-plug of the Washington team that has conquered so often in past years.

Ever since the California "practice" game Bezdek has been working on the faults that were pre-eminent throughout the four periods. The freshmen have been driving at the line a week with the ball on the Varsity's 10 yard line and have been able to shove it over regularly within the allotted four downs. What Cy Noble and the other Washington backs will do to it remains to be seen. Bez has also given the boys long sessions on handling the forward pass and has drilled the backs on how to break up an aerial attack—so noticeable in the Berkeley game. Team play from now on and the ability to get the play off in rapid succession will be the end toward which Bezdek's efforts will be directed.

the alumni finish eating, and then go down and mix with them.

Girls of the four classes will serve the lunch, cafeteria style, from four booths. The menu for the dinner, according to Jeannette Wheatley, chairman of the eats committee, will be: sandwiches, salad, beans, pickles, coffee, and ice-cream.

Homecoming day stationery will be placed on sale in the fraternity and sorority houses, announced Martin Nelson, chairman of the publicity committee, and all members will be asked to write at least one letter on this stationery. "Five or ten cents' worth will be enough, and will help a great deal," said Nelson. Nelson said that 1500 sheets of this paper has been sold up to the present time, and he remarked that the girls are the biggest purchasers.

A. R. Tiffany, graduate manager of the associated students, states that there will be 1600 reserved seats for the Washington game, 800 of which are in the grand stand and the other 800 in the bleachers directly across the field. All reserved seats will be under cover, and cost 50 cents more than the others. Student body tickets are good for general admission, and will be punched at the gate. Tickets for the game will be available in a day or two, stated Mr. Tiffany.

Invitations have been sent to all the editors of the state, and those who come will be given complimentary tickets to the game. Guests of the President will also be given complimentary tickets. Sections of 400 seats, 500, and 50 have been reserved for the Washington, Portland, and Coos Bay contingents. There are seats for between 8,000 and 9,000, said Mr. Tiffany.

A committee composed of Bernard Breeding, chairman, Floyd Westerfield, and Milton Stoddard has been appointed by Nicholas Jauregui to see about the down-town decoration. The co-operation of the chamber of commerce and the Radiators is to be solicited by the committee. Willamette street, between 11th avenue and the depot, is to be decorated with both the Washington purple and gold, and the lemon-yellow and green of Oregon. No definite scheme has yet been formulated for the color arrangement, according to Jauregui.

Jeannette Wheatley, chairman of the refreshment committee, asks for about twenty-five freshman boys to help her with the decorations in the gym, and with the serving.
