

TEAMS AWAIT WHISTLE; OLD SCORES TO BE SETTLED

when the average back would be stopped. Noble's running mate at left half was Bay Gardner until last Saturday when Gardner broke his collarbone. Anderson, a substitute for the position was carried from the field in the same game with a fractured leg. For this place Dobie has a choice between four or five men all of whom have been showing up about the same in practice. Logg, a subline man of last season; Briggs, Kerry, Campbell and Brandthaler, are possibilities.

Hainsworth, another sub last year, has landed the fullback position out of a host of candidates. He is much the same type of a player as Shiel, his predecessor, being a consistent line-plunger. Not a spectacular man, he is always ready when called upon to make the necessary distance.

Dobie has unearthed a quarterback from Tacoma, "Ching" Johnson by name, who is proving a worthy successor to Smith and "Bud" Young. Built low to the ground, he can push and pull his way along with tacklers all around him. At running back punts, the Seattle papers say, he resembles "Ans" Cornell, being at his best in a broken field.

The center job has fallen to Lawrence Smith, a sophomore from the championship Broadway high team of Seattle. He is a big husky of the type that usually fill the northerner's line. Vic Morrison and Seagraves hold down the guards and Morrison does the punting. Seagraves is one of Dobie's most dependable men and is the only old man on the line who has played more than two years. A report from Seattle states that Morrison might not be allowed to play here due to low grades. If this should prove to be the case Johnson would take care of the punting.

Ernest Murphy and Bill Grimm, the latter of the famous Grimm family that has done so much toward winning championships for Dobie, are playing the tackles. Both are big, heavy men and hard to handle.

In George Smith and Ted Faulk, Washington has duo of classy extremto penetrate the Oregon defense for gains when the yardage meant touchdowns. At no time during the game were Dobie's men inside Oregon's 25-yard line.

Washington started her scoring in the first five minutes of the first quarter. Smith, quarterback on Dobie's team, negotiated a field goal from the 30-yard line after a heartbreaking march down the field. The final score was hung up in the third quarter when Hunt, Washington end, received a forward pass from a fake punt formation and raced 30 yards for a touchdown. Smith kicked goal. Only once more during the game was the Oregon goal in danger of further violation. In the third quarter a Washington back recovered a fumble and had pranced 35 yards before he was downed from behind by an Oregon tackler.

The stars of the battle were Parsons and Beckett for the Oregonians and Shiel, Miller and Hunt for the Seattle warriors. Johnny Beckett, this year's captain, was playing his second year at tackle for the varsity and consistently outpunted the toe artist of the northern institution. Parsons, the man evidently much feared this year by Dobie's crew, was a consistent ground gainer, and a constant terror to the opposing forwards.

Oregon has several men on the present team that took part in that memorable battle. Jake Risley played at center, Snyder was seen at guard, Beckett at tackle, and Huntington and Parsons in the backfield. Dobie has two men on this year's squad that were among those present at the matinee. Captain Seagraves, this year at guard, played center and with Noble at half made up the veteran duo.

Although the game was a victory for the purple and gold, the score does not show the real strength of the Oregon team. Both Cook, who played at guard, and Beckett had just recovered from sickness. Malarkey, star halfback, was out of the game and "Anse" Cornell was only in the game a few minutes before he was carried from the field with a badly sprained knee.

Last season witnessed no game between the two institutions and this year's contest marks the first chance for Oregon to avenge her defeat.

Three years ago, on Multnomah field, in Portland, the teams fought a wonderful 10-7 battle, in which Charley Smith, then untried, and acting for Bud Young, who had been injured, was the Washington idol. Wayne Sutton had scored the first Washington touchdown on a forward pass, and Parsons had come back with a terrific line buck that carried him past the forwards and allowed him to evade the secondary men and wriggle his way to the tying score. In the last few moments of the game, unable to get the ball closer than within twenty yards of the goal, Smith dropped back, and with infinite preparations, booted the ball between the posts for the winning tally of the game. It was truly a battle of giants, with the mighty toe of Fenton, offsetting the gains that Washington was able to make on line plunging.

of the downpour in that they have a heavier team and depend more on straight line plunging to advance the leather. Both elevens use the direct pass system from the center to the backfield which will make accurate handling of the ball a real problem. With weather conditions as they are a fumbled punt or a misdirected forward pass may mean a victory for either school.

Washington money has already found its way to the local cigar stores. The Seattle supporters are betting even money that Dobie's men will win, and are offering odds of 5 to 3 that Oregon will not trim their team by more than six points.

Dobie's cohorts have been in town since Friday afternoon and are quartered at the Hotel Osburn. Uncertainty yet reigns in their camp as to who will play left half back in place of Roy Gardner and Art Anderson who were severely injured in the Whitman game last Saturday. Logg, last year's pivot man, has been jerked to the backfield and has first call on the vacated niche. Dobie however is well supplied with subs, having brought 22 men with him.

Bezdek has done little more than round off the team's play the last few nights. Scrimmage ceased Wednesday night—fortunately without any eleventh hour injuries. Thursday and Friday nights the entire practice was devoted to signal drill in order to become familiar with the slimey oval. As the boys trotted to the showers Friday night Bezdek gave out his final assuring words to the fans. "The boys are ready—you can be sure they'll give a good account of themselves."

The best part of the bleachers will be used by the students. Student body tickets must be presented at the gate or the admission price will be charged.

Jimmy Sheehy, chairman of the committee to secure the closing of all stores, reports great success, for the majority of the stores are closing during the game in order to let their employees attend. All students and alumni are invited to the dance in the armory which will be given for the alumni under the auspices of the junior class, says Joe Hedges, chairman of the dance committee. A registration booth has been placed in Johnson hall where the alumni can register, and where they will be given free tickets to the dance, and to the reception which will be held in the armory between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Eugene Alumni association.

You'll meet them at the Club Billiard Parlors.

Vote For

74 X W.W.BRANSTETTER
REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR COUNTY CORONER.

I received nearly the entire republican vote at the primary election and respectfully solicit this same hearty support at the coming election.

For more than 10 years the office of coroner has been held by one firm and a member of this firm is now a candidate for another term of two years.

I have commodious quarters and ample facilities that will enable me to conduct the office in the most economical manner.

Is it not only fair and just that I should be permitted to serve you and Lane county in this capacity during the coming term?

The law will not permit me to spend the money it would require to mail a personal letter to each voter in Lane county. I therefore use this form to solicit your vote.

W. W. BRANSTETTER.
