BASKETBALL TABLED; DANCES ARE FAVORED

Absence of Three Faculty Members Delays Action on Winter Sport.

Final Decision Comes Tuesday. Committee Approves Proposed Social Changes.

That student body dances are a possibility and the reinstatement of basketball will be finally decided Tuesday, sums up the business conducted at the faculty meeting yesterday. The committee appointed by President Campbell to consider the question of student body dances gave unanimous approval to the student council recommendation for dances, but further recommended that fraternity dates which would not be utilized be turned in to the student council to be used by that body as dates for the two student body dances a month as petitioned for by the student council.

Due to the absence of three faculty members, discussion of the proposed reinstatement of intercollegiate basketball was tabled until Tuesday when a special meeting of the faculty will be called with these three absent members sitting in the discussion.

It was declared important that these three members of the faculty be present as they were members of the special faculty athletic committee last year that reported favoring intramural sports which resulted in the abolishment of basketball. These members of the faculty are Dr. F. C. Ayer, Dr. George Rebec and Dr. Joseph Schafer. They are out on

FROM THE PENS OF SHIEL AND JAUREGUY (Presidents of Rival Student Bodies)

WALT SHIEL
President Associated Students,
University of Washington.

"We Washingtonians have ever maintained a spirit of friendliness and fellowship with the students of your University. We have met your athletic teams as well as your debate and oratory teams in bitter conflicts, but we have ever retained the feeling that Oregon has played fair. We believe in the spirit of fair play and furthermore we believe that you too are governed by this feeling. In order that our heretofore amicable relations may continue we urge upon you the necessity of your most earnest consideration of the rules governing the Pacific Coast Conference. Your interpretation and action upon such interpretation will determine largely our attitude toward you in the future. Will you take it upon your shoulders to disrepute, maim and possibly kill this new born thing called the Pacific Coast Conference? Think it over Oregon!"

NICHOLAS JAUREGUY
President Associated Students,
University of Oregon.

The Oregon Student Body takes great pleasure in extending a most cordial welcome to its guests of the Oregon-Washington game. We intend to fight to the finish but if we lose, we stand ready to congratulate the winner.

The game today is doubly significant because it marks the renewal of football relations between the University of Oregon and the University of Washington. It is our sincere desire that this game may mark a new era in our relations with the University of Washington, and that it shall strengthen the bonds of friendship now existing between the two institutions.

This is the second game in the new Coast Conference. The winner today takes a stride toward two championships. In this Coast Conference the Oregon Student Body has confidence. It is now but in its infancy, but let its growth be fostered, and let its rules and those of the Northwest Conference be more nearly harmonized, and coast football will take a long step in the right direction.

The canoe regulations as passed by the student council last spring were taken up by the faculty and after discussion turned over to the student living committee, of which Dr. J. F. Bovard is chairman. The proposed action on these regulations is to require a swimming test for all students.

Should favorable action be taken by the faculty at the special meeting Tuesday, Oregon will make its basketball debut into the Pacific Coast conference this winter. The schedule to be made up at the regular meeting of the college representatives in December.

HAND BALL CHALLENGE OUT

Sheehy and Haseltine Accept Gauntlet Thrown Down by Rathbun and Scaiefe.

"Scoop" Rathbun and Frank Scaiefe, the "yell king twins," yesterday issued a handball challenge for a game to be played some time after November 4. A superabundance of pep and the good effects of yell practice calisthenics, according to their statements, were responsible for the challenge.

Two experienced handballers, Jimmie Sheehy and Bill Haseltine quickly accepted the challenge, and a royal battle in the big court will be staged in the near future.

Rathbun admits that he is much over weight, but he is looking forward to a strenuous week-end of training, after which his weight will more nearly equal that of Scaiefe.
