THE BIGGEST BULL OF THE SEASON

A Reprint From the Everett (Wash.) Daily Herald as It Actually Appeared. Coach "Baggie" Can Hardly Be Blamed for Having Another Game Scheduled Thanksgiving.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON WANTS GAME WITH EVERETT HIGH SCHOOL TEAM HERE THANKSGIVING DAY

The mighty University of Oregon football eleven, one of the most powerful college football machines ever developed in the northwest, the team that recently held Dobie's undefeated University of Washington eleven to a 0-0 tie, has asked for a game with the Everett high school football team here on Thanksgiving day. Coach Bagshaw today received a letter from Dean Walker of the University of Oregon containing that request. As Everett already has a game scheduled with the Jefferson high school of Portland for Turkey Day, Dean Walker's proposition cannot be accepted.

The letter received today by Baggie is as follows:

"Owing to an unexpected cancellation of our Thanksgiving game, we find ourselves without a game for that date, and are very anxious to secure one. Owing to the fact that the Oregon soccer team meets the Multnomah club team in Eugene that day it would be impossible for us to play there. If you could consider playing us on your field on that date we would be glad to come for merely expenses for 15 men, and would help you out by traveling as cheaply as possible. If you cannot consider such a game shall appreciate it very much if you will give me any information as to some other team that might consider it."

Such a proposition from one of the strongest college teams in the conference is unique in the history of sport in the Northwest. Baggie would probably have had nerve enough to have accepted a game, if his team had not been already scheduled. The only reason he can give for Oregon's action is that the annual O. A. C.-Oregon Thanksgiving game has been cancelled on account of the fight over the eligibility of Johnnie Parsons, Oregon halfback, who was allowed to play by Washington after much discussion. This leaves the Oregon team without a game on Thanksgiving, and as Everett has gained a reputation among the Webfooters by swamping the Franklin team of Portland 121-0, a team coached by a former Oregon star, Everett is probably thought by the university men to be the most acceptable eleven available at the last minute.

Just how badly the big Oregon men, with Johnnie Parsons, would slaughter Baggie's team is a question that will never be answered. But for a big university to ask a high school to play a first varsity eleven on Thanksgiving is something that is not done every day.

Editor Oregon Emerald:

Everett, Wash., Nov. 21.—An amusing blunder was printed in one of our local papers. I am enclosing the clipping which will explain itself. The same story was also printed in two of the Seattle papers and is quite generally if not universally believed in this section of the state.

I have been watching with pleasure the splendid progress of our football team and in spirit I was with you in your rally the night before the game with Washington. I saw O. A. C. severely trounced by Washington in Seattle the other day. Altogether it looks like a great year for the U. of O.

With best wishes from the state of Washington,
(Signed) RALPH S. ALLEN, '16.

MANY FUMBLES '15 GAME

Muddy Field Made Ball Hard to Handle Last Year in O. A. C. Game.

Statistics of the Oregon-O. A. C. football game played last year show O. A. C. to have made first downs six times while Oregon, although winning the game succeeded in this but five times.

Nine forward passes were attempted but only two were good for yardage. This netted O. A. C. 19 yards. The remaining seven attempted by both teams were grounded. None were intercepted. This is accounted for by the muddy field.

Oregon was penalized seven times with a loss of 45 yards. O. A. C. fouled but four times losing 20 yards.

The University was considerably better than O. A. C. in handling the ball, fumbling with loss of the ball but seven times. The ball was lost by the Aggies fourteen times in this way. Mud, on the field, this day made the handling of the ball difficult.

Y. W. OF O. A. C. INVITES

Offers Use of Campus Buildings for Oregon Girls Who Attend Game.

The associated women of O. A. C. have extended a cordial invitation to the Woman's League and Dean Mary E. Fawcett of that institution has promised to provide rest rooms in Waldo and Cawthorne halls for the use of the visitors.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet of O. A. C. has invited the local association and has planned a joint cabinet meeting. Miss Frances, their general association secretary, promises that Shepherd hall will be open all day Saturday for the use of the Oregon girls and she extends a special invitation to Mrs. K. W. Onthank, acting association secretary for the local organization for that date.

Dean Fawcett expects to entertain Dean Elizabeth Fox as does the head of the home economics department, who has promised her a dinner at the Practice house, where senior girls are in charge.
