

LYMAN WILL LEAVE OREGON NEXT TERM

Accepts Position as Head of Pomona College School of Music.

SUCCESSOR HAS NOT YET BEEN SELECTED

Dean to Remain Here Through Semester and Summer School.

Ralph H. Lyman, dean of the school of music, has handed in his resignation to President P. L. Campbell. As yet it has not been acted upon. Mr. Lyman has accepted the position of dean of the school of music of Pomona College, at Claremont, Cal. He will remain here through this semester and the summer school.

Pomona College is 35 miles from Los Angeles. It has a registered attendance of about 600, according to Mr. Lyman. The school of music is supported directly by the college, which is liberally endowed.

The Pomona school is furnished throughout with sound-proof walls, something needed here very much in the opinion of Mr. Lyman. Mr. Lyman will have direct charge of the vocal department in addition to his work as head of the school.

Mr. Lyman has been dean of the University of Oregon school of music since 1913.

In 1913 the school of music occupied four small rooms in the men's dormitory, now it fills an entire building with seven studios, six practice rooms and a recital hall, while its equipment has been largely increased.

"I am sorry to leave Oregon, for I have made many pleasant friendships here," said Mr. Lyman. Mr. Lyman's successor has not yet been chosen.

NEW GRANDSTAND SOON

Student Body May Borrow Funds for Field if Regents Refuse.

Work will soon begin on the new grandstand on the athletic field for which the student body last December voted to bond themselves.

At present everything depends upon the action of the Board of Regents in voting funds for the building of an athletic field, according to Nicholas Jaureguy, president of the student body.

The grand stand can be built within a very short time but the field will require much longer because it must have an opportunity to settle says Jaureguy. If the Board of Regents do not grant funds for the field, which will cost approximately $5,000, the student body will consider taking a loan direct from the bank and begin operations.

MAY EXCHANGE PROFS

University Considers Plan to Swap Teachers With Other Colleges.

As a result of the exchange of professors, F. C. Ayer, of the education school, and C. A. Gregory, of the same department of the University of Iowa, the University may be led to adopt a plan of exchanging professors with other institutions. Karl W. Onthank, secretary to President, P. L. Campbell, thinks this is a good plan, as it enables the professors of the different Universities to become acquainted with outside methods.

"This does not mean that any such plan has been definitely adopted as yet, but if it seems to work well, such action will probably be taken," declared Mr. Onthank. No arrangements have yet been made to exchange with other schools.

HIGH WINS FIRST GAME

Too Speedy for Sophomore Girls in Basketball Series.

The University sophomore girls basketball team was defeated by a team from Eugene high school Tuesday, by a score of 29-8. This is the first of a series of three games to be played between the two teams. It is probable that the high school girls will challenge each of the other class teams as soon as the present series is completed.

WHO WILL GET THE CUP?

SKINNY SAYS HE SHOULD BUT NICK DOESN'T AGREE

"Scoop" Rathbun, Fred Kiddle and "Skinny" Scaife have been appointed by "Prexy" Hawkshaw Geary as the high committee of original jurisdiction in the matter of rescuing the Koyl Cup from the hands of Nicholas Jaureguy, student body president, and awarding this self-same cup to that person whom they consider more worthy of the honor.

The trouble came about when Scaife arose in class meeting of the seniors yesterday morning and asserted that Jaureguy was proving himself no fit person to carry the honor of possessing the Koyl cup which is supposed to go to that senior student who is the best all around man. Scaife's request for a writ of certiorari was awarded by President Geary and he was appointed chairman of the above-mentioned committee.

Late Bulletin:—Scaife called a meeting of his committee this morning. He was the only one present and tonight gave the following report: "In the absence of the other two members of the committee I held a meeting and after considering all matters thoroughly, finally awarded the cup to myself. The committee will now proceed to salvage the cup from Jaureguy."

Latest Bulletin:—Nicholas Jaureguy announced today he was drafting efforts to withstand the onslaughts of the above-mentioned committee for President Geary had not awarded him a writ of injunction.

CUTTINGS SET ON CAMPUS

Mr. Fisher Beds More Than 100; Also Supplied to High Schools.

H. M. Fisher Superintendent of the University grounds, is having 150 or 200 rose slips set out on the campus. Some of the older rose hedges are to be replaced, and in some instances they are to be enlarged to rose gardens to supply more people with flowers. The two varieties, Caroline Testout and Frau Karl Druschki are to be used, because they are universal favorites, hardy, vigorous, and well suited to this climate.

This is the fourth year that the University has supplied rose slips to the high schools of the state. Mr. Fisher says that they are not sending out as many this year as they have in past years as the high schools of the state seem nearly supplied. The reports indicate that the roses are growing very well and that they are much appreciated in the different localities to which they have been sent.

GRANVILLE BARKER TO LECTURE HERE SOON

Noted English Dramatist and Producer to Visit University March 10.

Subject of His Talk Will Be "Why Worry About Art?"

Harley Granville Barker, one of the foremost English dramatists, and a noted producer in America, will lecture on the campus March 10. His subject will be "Why Worry About Art?". Mr. Barker will be brought to the University under the auspices of the associated students and by special arrangements made by Professor Reddie.

Mr. Barker is on a lecture tour of the United States and will speak in Portland Monday following his appearance here. His lecture in Eugene is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest by persons acquainted with his work and of prominence in the field of dramatic writing and production. He came to the United States soon after his country became involved in war and took up his literary work in New York City, where he now conducts a theatre. Mr. Barker has been lecturing in the United States during the past year with great success.

"There is no question but that Harley Granville Barker is the foremost dramatist of the day," said Professor Reddie yesterday. "He is really a big man, both as a writer and producer and as a lecturer, and it will be a valuable opportunity for the students of the University and the residents of Eugene to hear him."

Mr. Barker represents the latest growth of modernity and culture. He is the most modern and most intellectual dramatist of the present generation and is thoroughly up-to-date.

"The Madras House," "The Marrying of Anne Lecte," "Waste," and "The Voysey Inheritance," are some of Mr. Barker's best known dramatic works. He has produced them in his own theatre in New York with overwhelming success. His popularity has grown to surpass that of Shaw and other noted English playwrights.

The noted dramatist will give only one lecture in Eugene. It will be in Villard hall.

CLASS ADVISER IS CHOSEN

"The Climber," Title of Senior Class Play—James Mott Director.

The senior class chose Professor Howe, head of the department of literature, as class advisor this morning at their class meeting in Deady hall, to succeed Colin V. Dymont, who left the school of journalism here to head the department of journalism at the University of Washington.

Alex Bowen, chairman of the senior play committee, reported that if the class raised no objections, James Mott, of Salem who is now coaching "The Dictator" would coach "The Climber" for the senior class. He further stated that absolutely no partiality would be shown in choosing the cast as Mr. Mott chooses his characters rather by type than by experience.

"The Climber," he said "contains nine principal parts, three minor parts and 13 men. There is a chance for a good hero and a good villain."

Emmett Rathbun, chairman of the class memorial committee, asked for any suggestions concerning a suitable memorial for the class to leave to the University of Oregon.

THESPIAN ARTISTS TO MAKE BOW FEB. 16

University Players Will Present "The Dictator," a Comedy Masterpiece.

James Mott, Director, Calls Cast "Best Amateur Actors in the World."

The first rehearsal for "The Dictator," Richard Harding Davis's comedy masterpiece which the University Players will stage at the Eugene theatre Friday, Feb. 16, was called at Guild Hall at 8 o'clock last evening. James Mott, the director, gave the cast a short talk in which he referred to them as "the best amateur actors in the world." He then proceeded to drive the crack cast through the entire three acts of "The Dictator," and at the close of the rehearsal predicted that the new play would eclipse any of the University Players' previous successes.

The story of "The Dictator" has to do with the strange adventures of one, Brooke Travers, a young millionaire yachtsman who has never had to do anything more serious than to squander his patrimony, and who, after a questionable fight with a cabman, has left New York, in company with his valet, on the steamer Bolivar, bound for Central America. Travers boards the Bolivar on a confidential tip of a friendly policeman who advises him to "beat it" to some country that has no treaty with the United States. The first act opens on the deck of the steamer, and immediately the plot begins to thicken for Travers and his faithful servant, whom the wireless operator fitly describes as the two "babes in the woods."

Through a series of most amazing and ludicrous events, over which Travers has no control, he turns up at the ship's destination as the United States consul to Porto Banos, the revolution-torn capital of San Manana. By another chain of circumstances he is forced to start a revolution of his own. He overthrows the mushroom government and establishes himself as the dictator of the republic. Travers is about as well fitted for the job of dictator as a high school girl; but he gets away with it. How he does it forms the story of what is perhaps the funniest comedy on the stage.

The cast of college stars who will shine in "The Dictator" are as follows: Brooke Travers.....James Mott Simpson, his valet.....Lyle McCroskey Charlie Hyne.....Alex Bowen Samuel Codman.....Bernard Breeding Duffy.....Al Holman Rev. Arthur Bostin.....Perry Lawrence General Campos Santos.....Ernest Watkins Dr. Vasquez.....Orval Simola Col. John T. Bowie.....Cleve Simpson Senior Jose Dravo.....Russell Fox Corporal Manuel.....Curtis Peterson Col. Garcia.....Floyd Hart Lieutenant Perry.....Earl Bronaugh Smoking room steward.....Sandy Leonard Lucy Sheridan.....Echo June Zahl Mrs. John T. Bowie.....Adrienne Epping Senora Juanita Arguilla..... Ruth Montgomery Sailors, Soldiers, Marines, Etc.

U. SENDING OUT SLIDES

Extension Division Loans Educational Sets to Oregon Towns.

The extension division is sending four new sets of educational slides to the high schools at Jefferson, McMinnville, Salem and Drain. The department has been lending sets of slides for some time but the demand is increasing so fast that it is difficult to supply.

The sets are sent to the schools free, with the exception of a series sent to the University by the American Institute of Current History and redistributed from here. The slides are accompanied by descriptive circulars.

There are a number of schools in the state that have stereopticons but find it impossible to buy all the slides they need for use. Many of these schools allow their machines to be useless because of their lack of slides and it is to these schools that the University aims to offer help in the matter of slides.

In one circuit a set goes each week to one school which sends on the set they have to the next school in the circuit, each school sends out a set and receives the set from the school preceding it in the circuit.

Final arrangements were made for the Freshman Formal, February 17 at the Armory, at the freshman class meeting yesterday morning. He stated that this had been his custom for 12 years and that he wanted to see every freshman at that dance and he wanted to see them there with another freshman. He also urged that there be a number of the boys of the class at the Armory Saturday morning to decorate.

Y. W. COMMITTEE MEETS

Round-Table Discusses Problems of Girls' Employment Bureau.

A round-table meeting of ladies who employ student help was recently held in the Bungalow under the auspices of the practical service committee of the Y. W. C. A. which conducts the employment bureau.

Dean Elizabeth Fox presided while suggestions were made and problems discussed.

The following suggestions were made: A girl who works for her room and board shall be expected to give three and one-half hours each day or three hours per day during the week and one-half day on Saturday. This was figured both from the point of view of the amount of money received from renting a room and cost to a woman hiring a maid.

A sliding scale of compensation was worked out for odd jobs, varying with their difficulty.

In all cases the efficiency of the girl will be taken into consideration.

Miss Tirza Dinsdale, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., acted as hostess and Mrs. J. M. Miller of the advisory board of the association, served tea.

MANY FLUNKS LAID TO GREAT BONFIRE

Reduction of Blaze as Directed by Faculty Wins Student Endorsement.

UNDERCLASSMEN'S MIX THOUGHT TOO COSTLY

Dean Straub Would Keep Girls Out of It—"Junior" Students "Always in Way."

That a large proportion of the 25 "flunks" in the freshman class were caused by the effects of the bonfire, was the statement of Dr. Straub before the student council last night. The size has now been limited by the faculty to a pile not more than fifteen feet high and fifteen feet square at the base, and the Council adopted a resolution endorsing the faculty's action.

Commenting upon the guarding of the "O", Dr. Straub brought out the fact that for a month before the O. A. C. game from three to five men passed the night on Skinner's Butte guarding the "O", with serious results both to their health and grades.

After an earnest discussion in which the length of time necessary to guard it was variously given at from five days to three weeks, the council voted to fix the length of time at five days preceding all football games on the campus.

A committee of Ernest Watkins, Laura Jerard and Jennie Huggins, was appointed to serve as a nominating committee to name possible candidates for the position of manager of the Oregon, a post left vacant by the resignation of Creston Maddock.

About $80 remains in the fund for gold footballs for the varsity members, according to the report of Ernest Watkins. The committee is awaiting bids from several jewelers before purchasing the emblems.

Determined to stop the practice of walking at any convenient place upon the campus, regardless of grass or paths, the Council appointed a committee made up of Ray Couch, Martha Beer and George Cook to take active measures to prevent the forming of trails across the grass plots.

That the Adam lectures may obtain every possible support, the Council passed resolutions asking that all houses and societies on the campus refrain from scheduling affairs for between seven and eight o'clock on Feb. 19, 20, 21 and 22.

Because members of the Student Council were unanimous in their opinion that the campus is overrun by children from the junior high school, Prof. F. L. Stetson principal of the high school is to be invited to attend the next meeting of the council on Wednesday night and explain this fact.

It was Ernest Watkins who raised the question of keeping the high school students out of the gymnasium and the assemblies in Villard.

Dean Straub's recommendation presented to the council last night by the Dean included a request that the girls be kept out of the underclass "mix" because of the heavy expense to the classes involved through purchasing decorations. Dean Straub said that the mix cost the freshman class $75 and probably cost the sophomores an equal amount.

Before taking any action upon this recommendation the Council decided to investigate the cost of the mix with the aim of limiting both classes to the same sum, based upon a sliding scale depending on the number in the class.

Members of the Council present were Karl Becke, Frances Shoemaker, Jeanette Wheatley, Jennie Huggins, Leura Jerard, Ernest Watkins, Ray Couch and Nicholas Jaureguy.
