

Monday to Open Eugene Display Week; Houses Dismiss Meetings to See Windows

(by Earl Murphy)

Those who wait until Easter Sunday to blossom forth in their best bib and tucker will find that their efforts will result in an anti-climax for Eugene will have its Dress-Up Week April 1-7, preceded by Window-Display Week beginning Monday of next week. This then, say the merchants of the city, is the time to don your best and join the throng of window-shoppers.

The week of special displays will be opened Monday evening at 8 o'clock when every merchant who has a window large enough to hold a display has agreed to prepare his window for the occasion. At the appointed moment all of the street lights will be turned out, the city will be in darkness for several moments and in that interval the veils which will have been hung over the windows of the business houses during the day will be quickly drawn aside and the competing displays will be exposed to the view of the judges and the citizens.

The co-operation of the student body as a whole has been eagerly sought by the window dressers and the merchants, for it is felt by these business men that the assistance of the University people should be given at this time because of the sacrifices that the merchants made for the monster celebration after the California victory of last fall.

Every house on the campus has postponed its house meeting for that night, and permission will be given the freshmen girls to have dates the same as on a week-end night. This will give all the school people an opportunity to get into the spirit of the affair and back the merchants.

The University and Municipal bands will combine on Monday night and will give concerts at various corners in the business section immediately after the windows have been unveiled. These will be repeated on different corners until late in the evening.

The windows will be judged on both the artistic and selling points and a prize cup will be awarded to the window which is the most attractive, and another to the set of windows which wins the favor of the judges. These cups are donated by the Register and Guard. The judges are to be G. R. McAuslan, of the University School of Commerce, C. J. Fulton, of the Brownsville Woolen Mills store, and A. H. McDonald, manager of the Rex Theater.

DEPUTATION IS AT MARCOLA

Program and Talks on University Work Are Part of Program.

Under the leadership of Leo Cossman, a Y. M. C. A. deputation left here Friday afternoon for Marcola, where its members are holding meetings this week-end. The personnel of the party is as follows: Frank Campbell, Warren Gilbert, Dennis Brown, Chandler Harper, Ray Hausler, J. D. Foster, Mae Harbert, and Essie Maguire.

A special assembly was held Friday in the Marcola high school. Talks, songs, and stunts were given by Miss Maguire and Cossman, Gilbert, Hausler and Foster.

The same night the boys of the party played the county championship basketball team of Marcola. Saturday, the entire deputation hiked to Wendling and viewed the great lumber mill. Tonight a banquet and reception will be given the deputation in the high school building. On this occasion Mr. Foster will give an illustrated lecture on University life. Sunday morning there will be a union service of the two churches. Miss Harbert and Mr. Foster will speak at this meeting and the rest of the party will assist at the program. Sunday afternoon the boys and the girls will hold separate meetings.

The party will return Sunday evening.

The University of Michigan has paid out nearly $8000 this year in student loans to the members of the senior class, according to a recent statement from the treasurer's office.

RAIN PUTS DAMPER ON HAYWARD'S MEN

Daily Downpour Lessens Prospects for Varsity Team; Coach Still Hopeful.

Foster, Boylen, Mulkey, Hodson, Brown Turn Out as Candidates for Frosh Squad.

Unless the continued downpour ceases in the near future, Oregon is going to have an aquatic team rather than a track squad. Saturday, Coach Bill Hayward gathered his athletes together and laid down sundry rules for training, but all the rules he can think of are not going to be of any use if the men can't get out to practice.

The break in the clouds last Saturday brought out a multitude of runners, sprinters and hurdlers of all descriptions. Under Bill's orders everyone was kept busy working away at some event or other. The season seemed nicely under way and then Monday it started raining and hasn't let up for longer than 30 minutes since. The covered shed, which was abandoned last week in favor of the outside track is again doing duty and bids fair to be used for some time.

The attention of all the men is now centered on the relay games to be held in the armory at O. A. C. the evening of April 7. While the relay races are the main features on the program, there will also be sprints, hurdle races and some field events. The list of intercollegiate events includes: one-mile relay, two-mile relay, 75-yard high hurdles, 75-yard low hurdles. The open events are: one-mile relay (eight men), 75-yard dash, 16 pound shot put, pole vault, high jump and broad jump. Besides these will be a special one-mile relay for college freshmen.

Coach Hayward is intending to take a team to Corvallis but the number of men has not been decided upon. Freshmen also will be taken provided they show enough form.

Among the frosh who appear to be worthy contenders for places are Foster, Boylen, Mulkey and Wilson in the sprints; Hodson in the quarter and half mile and Brown in the shot. Foster is the lad on John Day high school who finished second in the 220 in the interscholastic meet last Junior week-end. The other three have also prep school records.

Hodson's specialty is the broad jump, but he can do the middle distance runs in fair time also. He has jumped over 21 feet in high school competition. Brown is putting the shot out in good form and with coaching ought to reach 40 feet.

The illness of Mrs. Hayward has prevented Coach Hayward from giving his squad any attention the past week.

BISHOP HUGHES TO SPEAK

Methodist Church Dignitary to Appear at April Vesper Service.

Matt S. Hughes, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church of the northwest, will speak at the University vespers Sunday April 1. The subject of his address has not been given out as yet. Bishop Hughes will be here to take part in special meetings at the first Methodist church of this city, but has consented to give up one of his meetings to speak at the vespers.

Bishop Hughes is considered one of the best speakers in America. He was at one time professor of practical theology at the University of Southern California and is noted as a lyceum lecturer and orator.

The meeting will be held in Villard hall and there will be special music by the University choir under the direction of Dean Lyman who will return from the east about March 30. There will also be special decorations.

300 CARDS FOR 15 BOOKS

New Set of Greek and Latin Classics Requires Detailed Indexing.

When the University library added to its shelves fifteen volumes belonging to Miller's set of Greek and Latin classics a few weeks ago it was necessary to place 300 cards in the index files for the one collection. Each card, though very much like the rest, had to be done by itself in order to be found in the index under a specific head. These little three by five inch strips of cardboard required approximately three days of one person's time to complete.
