A Poor Little Rich Girl

From the Well Known Book and Play by Eleanor Gates

Do we appreciate the wealth of happiness and pleasure that our children possess for us?

A story that none other than Mary Pickford could tell in pictures and like Marguerite Clark in "Miss George Washington," will be one of the gems in Memory's Jewel Casket.

"A Poor Little Rich Girl" is an Idyl of Childhood in which the young will revel and the old renew their youth.

ASSEMBLY TO BOOST OREGON PUBLICITY

Vacation Advertising Campaign by Students in Their Home Towns Planned.

Because the Greater Oregon Committee feels that a great deal of publicity for the University can be gained during the spring vacation, tomorrow's assembly will be given over to the committee and a group of speakers to arouse interest in the advertising campaign planned.

"The students can do a lot of advertising in their home towns during the week" said Ernest Watkins, chairman of the committee, and this opportunity just before the vacation will be used to outline the plan we have in mind and point out to the students the need of carrying on this work."

The combined glee clubs will contribute several numbers to the program, and speeches will be given by R. A. Booth, Dean John Straub, Nicholas Jaureguy, Martin Nelson, Harold Hamstreet, Fred Kiddle, and Ernest Watkins.

Interest in the work of the revived Greater Oregon Committee has been steadily growing and the committee has been making an especial appeal to the alumni throughout the state to use their influence to increase the attendance at Oregon next semester.

GUARD GET CREDITS

Another stimulus toward student enlistment in local military corps is in the faculty resolution, passed at Thursday's meeting, stipulating that credits without further examination be given those students who withdraw before final examinations in order to enter the service of the nation in military duty.

Since the first announcement by President P. L. Campbell that the faculty contemplated such a decision, University men have enlisted in the local artillery companies without hesitation, occasioned by fear of losing credits toward graduation. Fourteen students have been added to the Second company ranks within the last two weeks. Seven were in uniform for the first time Thursday evening.

Additional credit for military training will be given. The grades in military service will correspond to those earned by the student in the close room and the number of hours shall correspond to the uncompleted portions of the courses. Incomplete courses will remain so on the records of the University.

OREGANA PRINT BEGUN

Three forms of the Oregana are already off the press, and the athletics and publications departments will be printed by the beginning of spring vacation when Emma Wooton will return from the East. During her absence Charles Dundore is supervising the printing, which is being done in a local shop.

Cuts are coming in every day from the engraver and Jimmy Sheehy, who is in charge of the athletic department, says: "They are all good, and some of the action cuts are exceptionally fine."
The athletic section will occupy 50 pages, and the principle parts will be run in eight point type. Borders for the pages are all printed.

Sara Barker, in charge of the classes, has collected the last of the senior records and has them ready for publication.
