CROWDED ATTENDANCE AT MILITARY COURSES

Outline Given of Duties of Different Ranks by Captain Williams.

2 HEAR KUYKENDALL ON MEDICAL SERVICE

Glass in Map-Making Take First Steps in Learning Topography.

A large and enthusiastic attendance marked the first meetings of the classes in military instruction this week.

A crowded room greeted the lecture in Professor Howe's room, on military information Thursday afternoon when Capt. William G. Williams opened the course with a talk on the first steps in military service. This first talk dealt only with the preliminary outline of the work and gave only the first duties of the different ranks. Another lecture will be given by Capt. Williams to the class on Monday in which he will go further into the work. Later talks will be given by experienced men in the various branches, as military law, drill regulations, field service, sanitation and first aid. The lectures and quizzes will be under the direction of army officers while Professors Sweetser and Bovard will help to handle the lectures on sanitation and first aid.

Since the hour, 3 o'clock, conflicts with numerous laboratories, students taking the course will be excused from their work in time to attend.

Sixty-two interested students of pre-medicines attended the first meeting of the military class of medical service held in Deady hall Thursday evening. Dr. Eberle Kuykendall started the active work of the class with the first of a series of three lectures on general anatomy. He dealt in a general way with the human skeleton, emphasizing the outer texture of the bones. After the lecture he demonstrated to the class the art of elementary bandaging, after which the students practiced the first steps using all the rolls of the Doctor's generous supply of bandages.

Another lecture will be given by Dr. Kuykendall on Tuesday evening in which he will deal with the blood circulation, and in a third lecture on next Thursday he will talk on the nervous system. These three lectures will complete his first series after which several other men will speak. Dr. Kuykendall will give another series in a few weeks.

Sixteen lectures coupled with numerous laboratories will make up the course of study for the remainder of the semester after which the class hopes to be sent out to active service either in the Red Cross work or in that of the federal government. The spirit of the sixty-two students was manifest in their earnest attention. Professor Bovard, who is in charge of the class, remarked that the interest was exceptionally fine and that he was highly pleased with the students' preliminary steps in the work.

Professor W. D. Smith's class in military topography, to be held once a week on Saturday morning, met today for the first time. This course will take up the study of maps and mapmaking. The idea is to be able to picture the ground as it really is by a careful study of a map and its different characteristics. Later actual mapmaking will be taken up.

Professor McAllister will conduct a more advanced class of one hour, probably to be held on Saturday afternoons, in the use of surveyors' instruments, transits and other apparatus. This will be a more specialized branch of the course.

PAGEANT IS UNCERTAINTY

Costumes and Preparation Go on in Spite of War Talk.

Perhaps there will be a pageant this year and perhaps there won't. It all lies with President Campbell and he hasn't decided as to the course that he will pursue yet.

Designs for the costumes and the general work of preparation still goes on however, and if the pageant is given at commencement time it will not be lacking in preparation, said A. F. Reddie, head of the public speaking department and who has charge of the production of the pageant.

DELTA TAUS DRILL IN RAIN NONCOMS GET EXPERIENCE ALSO ACQUIRE APPETITES

A bugle call while the rest of us are peacefully sleeping calls the Delta Taus every morning from their bunks for military drill before breakfast. Tramp, tramp, tramp, they march up and down Eleventh street, to the joy of their quiet loving neighbors.

Be it known that the drill is really for the purpose of giving experience in commanding to fifteen Delta Taus who are non-commissioned officers. And so, in the cold, gray dawn, the Deltas, to a man, loyally answer Earl Murphy's bugle call, braving rain, and storm, to allow their brothers to practice on them.

The house manager, however, reports that the house finances will be in a precarious condition if the drill continues to the end of the semester as it is intended, for the boys develop such extraordinarily large breakfast appetites, that in these hard times the house is staggered by its growing bills.

OREGON LADS AT CORVALLIS

Athletes Meet O. A. C. Under Multnomah Colors.

Although Oregon had no team present at the O. A. C. relay games this afternoon, four of the lemon-yellow cinder path athletes entered the races. They were Oscar Goreczky and "Hank" Foster in the sprints and Don Belding and Clarence Brunkow in the two mile relay. Foster also entered the broad jump.

They ran under the colors of Multnomah Club. Multnomah won the Columbia meet last Saturday in rather easy fashion from the Corvallis lads. However on their own track and with their freshmen O. A. C. will offer stiffer opposition.

Goreczky got off to a bad start in the 50-yard dash at Portland and failed to qualify. The sprint event to-day is a 75-yard dash which will give him a better chance. Foster, by his performance in the Columbia meet is at his best in a 220 and whether he can get up his speed in a shorter race is a question. He ought to win a place in the broad jump without any trouble.

Belding can hold his own in the relay and may run the half mile also. Brunkow did not go to Portland but he has kept in good condition by daily workouts. He may run in the two-mile relay with Belding.

FORMER ATHLETE MARRIES

Clayton Sharpe, Formerly of University, Joins List of Benedicts.

Last Sunday, the 20th, Marie Douglass, of Portland, and Clayton Sharpe, a former well known athlete at the University, were married in Portland. Although here but one year Clayton starred in numerous branches of sport. He played a great game at quarter in the famous 3-3 tie with O. A. C. He also starred at basketball.

Since leaving college he has played football for the Multnomah Club, appearing on the local campus last fall where his work in running back punts will be remembered.

Sharpe is a member of Phi Delta Theta, and his wife is prominent socially among the younger set in Portland.

WILL LEARN TO WIG-WAG

Class to Be Taught Signal Code by Former Officer Under "Bob" Evans.

A class in signaling will be organized next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in Dr. W. D. Smith's room in the Administration building. This is the latest addition to the new courses in military science for the students who intend to take the officers reserve training. The course may be substituted for any one hour course, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to the president.

Chris. H. Jensen, former chief signal officer for Rear Admiral "Bob" Evans and at present living at Springfield, will have charge of the class. Both semaphore and wig-wag signaling will be taught. The class will meet regularly at 11 o'clock on Wednesday and most of the work will be in actual signaling on Kincaid field. Heliographing will also be included if the necessary equipment can be secured.

WOMEN GLEESTERS SCORE HUGE SUCCESS

Annual Home Concert "Gets Over" With Appreciative Audience.

Novelty Inaugurated in Opening Number With Grecian Solo Costume Dance.

(By Gladys Wilkins)

Right off the reel the Girls' Glee club concert started in being a success last night. From the time the curtain went up on a stage full of Grecian-clad figures rather than the time-honored row of half-scared, stiff-looking co-eds—if a co-ed can look either scared or stiff—until "The Star Spangled Banner" brought the audience to its feet at the last curtain, there was spirit and harmony.

The "S. R. O." sign wasn't hung at the front entrance, but nevertheless there was a good house, and an enthusiastic one.

To choose favorite numbers is risky, but certainly the first one, waltz song from Faust, with Hazel Rader and Mella Williams as solo dancers, "Barcarolle" from the Tales of Hoffman, and the delightful group of Cadman's Indian songs with the picturesque and unusual setting, stand out boldly. "Tenting Tonight," sung as an encore to the latter group, is undoubtedly one of the loveliest and the most effective songs ever heard in a club concert. The absolute stillness of the house during its rendition was an index to the deep impression it created.

And speaking of encores, there wasn't a poor one in the lot; the little German band ditty and the clock song, were particularly catchy, and short enough to make you want more.

Of the individual numbers, Marian Neil's piano solo, played with such sure touch, Charlotte Banfield's reading, and the solo and attractive encore sung by Irene Strowbridge were particularly well received, and with those of Gladys Van Nuys and Leah Perkins lent a variety and balance to the program which was desirable.

Up-to-the-minute in plot was "Maid and Super-Maid." All the girls did was to act natural—with the possible exception of Irene Ruth who played Miss Araminta, and Charlotte Banfield, the girl with an insane desire for sleep! The lines were clever and the closing ensemble chorus hit the spot with its patriotism.

AMY CARSON IS ORATOR

Will Represent University at Annual Prohibition Contest.

Miss Amy Carson will represent the University in the State Prohibition association contest at McMinnville May 20th. Miss Carson's oration is entitled "The Call To Arms," and deals with the war and its effect on nation-wide prohibition.

This is the second year that Oregon has sent a delegate to the Prohibition contest. Last year Nicholas Jauregui represented the University and won fourth place. The contest has been running in this state since 1902. The first prize is $45.00 and the second $15. The winner of the first prize goes to an inter-state contest where the award is $100.

Miss Carson is a member of the co-ed debating team. This is her first appearance in oratory.

ALL-STUDENT COMEDY ON CAMPUS APRIL 28

"Stephanie Steps Out," by Oregon Co-ed; May Be Produced Professionally.

Earl Fleischmann Directs Farce and Promises Delightful Surprise.

The Mask and Buskin play to be given in Guild hall Saturday, April 28 will be the first real student dramatic production on the campus. The play "Stephanie Steps Out," is the first long play from the pen of an Oregon co-ed which is likely to be produced professionally. It is a rollicking farce in three acts, even funnier than "The Live Corpse" which was given last semester. The action is full of "pep" and the situations—well, they are amusing and then some.

While the army has taken many of the old campus stars, an all-student cast has been selected. A student play, by student actors and with a student director, is going to be a unique dramatic effort for the Oregon campus.

The title role, Stephanie, will be played by Helen Bracht who distinguished herself as Pippa in "Pappa Passes," Stephanie is a maid with a romantic nature and a longing for adventure, who goes out for a lark in her mistress' clothes. She is constantly in danger of being discovered and her ludicrous attempts to escape detection furnish some excellent comedy. To make matters worse, a New York millionaire falls in love with her. She gets out of one scrape to run into another. The fun waxes fast and uproarious until it reaches a climax in the third act where Stephanie sobs out "I saw only the funny side."

Rehearsals are progressing rapidly under the direction of Earl Fleischmann, who has had some professional experience. He says that the campus is going to get a little surprise in the acting of some of the characters:

The cast is:
Stephanie..... Helen Bracht
Mrs. Bundy, ambitious widow Mrs. Bundy
..... Eyla Walker
Evelyn, her daughter Cleome Carroll
Freda, hotel maid Lillian Bancroft
Tom Morgan, millionaire..... Tom Morgan
..... Earl Fleischmann
Ramsay, hotel prop. Jay Gore
Rollins, French valet Dale Melrose

Y. M. PUBLISHES PAMPHLET

Book is Designed to Advertise Local End of Seabeck Conference.

For the first time in the history of the University the local Y. M. C. A. is publishing a pamphlet on the Seabeck conference. The district has a pamphlet for the general information of the different Y. M. C. A.'s but this one is a strictly local publication edited by Paul Spangler. It is designed to answer all questions about the who, when, where and why, of the conference, and contains, a schedule of events and recommendations of students there last year. The recreation features are described and the class leaders listed.

It is hard to incite interest in the conference this year and get men to go with so much military talk in the air but, due to the fact that all undergrads are advised to stay in school and not to enlist, the associations over the country will hold their conferences as usual, says J. D. Foster.

GLOVE STOCK INCREASES JEWELRY AND RUBBERS TOO WAREHOUSE IN LIBRARY

If the collection of gloves in the lost-and-found case in the hall in the library gets much larger, by the end of the year the janitor will be able to equip a whole ladies' seminary with cold-weather coverings for their hands. It is true that some of the gloves are minus mates but they could be matched up very nicely for people who were not too discriminating. Besides five pair and five odd gloves, there is also a handsome green kid belt, three buttons, three beauty pins, one Oregon watch fob, one friendship bracelet, one pair of toe rubbers, and one brooch set with a large red stone, no two articles guaranteed to be alike in any respect. A missionary on a South Sea island would have no difficulty finding some little gift to suit each hula maid from so choice a selection.

An inventory of the case in Villard and the one in the library also includes one hand-decorated Spanish book minus the cover (a real work of art, illustrating what a student can do when bored with a class), one diary, one registration receipt, one I. P. notebook, two keys, one purse (empty), and two spectacle cases. Fountain pens continue to dominate the notices posted on the bulletin boards. During the rainy season there are sometimes as many as half a dozen umbrellas locked up but they are generally claimed very soon. All articles placed in the "museum" are picked up by the various janitors in their rambles.

BISHOP SUMNER IS COMING

Will Visit Campus May 5-9; Dinner Dates All Taken Far Ahead of Time.

Dr. Walter T. Sumner, Bishop of Oregon, will visit the University campus from Saturday, May 5 till Wednesday, May 9. He is scheduled to speak on Sunday afternoon, May 6, at Vespers to be held at 4:30 in Villard hall. He has not yet given his topic. He will speak on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock before Dean Fox's class in Vocational Guidance. He is not scheduled for any other appearances.

All of his dinner dates are full, and some of them having been made as long as a year ago, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to President Campbell. All of his breakfast and luncheon dates are open. His dinner dates are: Saturday, Beta Theta Pi; Sunday, Sigma Chi; Monday, Kappa Alpha Theta; Tuesday, Alpha Phi.

Bishop Sumner will leave Eugene on Wednesday and will go to Corvallis where he will spend the remainder of the week at O. A. C.

MAY OBTAIN OLD RIFLES

Secretary Onthank Writes for Springfield Discarded by Government.

Old Springfield rifles recently discarded by the U. S. Government may soon be on hand for the use of the students in drilling, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to the president. The Seattle house to which application was first made says that it has more orders now than it can supply.

The government has taken an option on all the rifles used in the Spanish-American war and has not released any of them yet. All guns are being gathered in and those that cannot use in actual service are to be set aside for use in training.

Mr. Onthank expects to have a definite reply to his letter from Seattle within the next few days.

CO-OPERATE IN LECTURES

Reed College and University Professors Speak on Commerce.

The University of Oregon and Reed College of Portland are both co-operating in giving a series of twenty lectures in that city on various topics of commercial interest. Four of the talks have already been given, the first by Professor Hastings of Reed College two weeks ago on "Problems of Distribution." Dean D. W. Morton of the commerce department gave the second lecture last week on the subject of "Business Administration." Professor Allan C. Hopkins will lecture a week from today on a general survey of the resources of Oregon.

The lectures given by the two colleges will continue next fall when schools open.

WOMEN ANSWER CALL FOR NATIONAL DUTY

Problem of Outlining Courses Difficult, Says President Campbell.

CENSUS TO BE TAKEN OF GIRLS' CAPABILITIES

First Aid, Emergencies and Home Nursing to Be Taught by Red Cross Nurse.

Three-hundred women of the University responded to the call issued by Jeanette Wheatley, president of the Women's League, to meet at four yesterday afternoon in Villard hall in order to receive definite instructions concerning the part they can take to be of service to their country.

The meeting did not show any especial outburst of excitement; the women seemed to feel too serious for that even after the band rendered a medley of patriotic airs. President Campbell explained that difficulty was experienced in outlining the courses for the women since their part will be more general than that of the men, for whom the war department had already outlined the work.

"To the women fall the task of steadying the moral fibre of the home community as the usual habits of life are being broken up and they must maintain the usual routine at the same level, and here in the University," he said, "they should keep their poise."

He advised the women to organize along the lines in which they are best fitted, and to that end a census of the abilities of the women in the University will be taken.

The courses outlined and explained this afternoon as suitable for the women are: First aid, emergencies and home nursing, to be given by a Red Cross nurse three times a week and which later will receive recognition by the Red Cross Society for the work done. The class will be organized Monday in the Women's Gymnasium. Credit will be given.

A lecture course, given three times a week at four o'clock, will take up the work of the Red Cross, economic systems, and how to conduct work in the home communities of the students.

Miss Elizabeth Fox, dean of women, urged as many as possible to take the course. Though no credit is given they will have lectures for the various topics who are best fitted to give them.

A course not restricted to the women of the University, but to faculty members and townswomen is the class in body building. Mabel L. Cummings, head of the physical training department, explained that in view of the scarcity of labor and the financial drain upon the nation, women should be physically fit to bear an extra strain.

She said that rhythmic drill adapted from a military manual, accompanied by martial music, will occupy the forty-five minutes of daily practice, to be given at the same hour as the men drill and the same amount of credit given.

Captain Willis E. Shippam, general adviser in all things military on the University of Oregon campus, urged the women to take up the work. "The girls and women can help out through the Red Cross, Honor Guard, and encouraging the men to enlist. There's going to be a lot of work for everybody," he declared.

Mrs. W. P. Boynton, a local Red Cross worker, gave a short history of the movement and told exactly what the societies in the city would be expected to do, and also solicited membership for the Red Cross Society. The organization, she said needs many more members for much of its resources come from the dues of one dollar.

The Y. W. C. A., as soon as instructions come, will become headquarters for any spare time that the girls have to work under the supervision of Red Cross women, who will instruct them in making Red Cross supplies. They will be there week days and Saturdays, said Miss Dinsdale, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.
