PREP DEBATE FRIDAY

Championship of Oregon to Be Determined at Guild Hall.

Silverton and Joseph Will Meet in Finals; 70 Schools Eliminated.

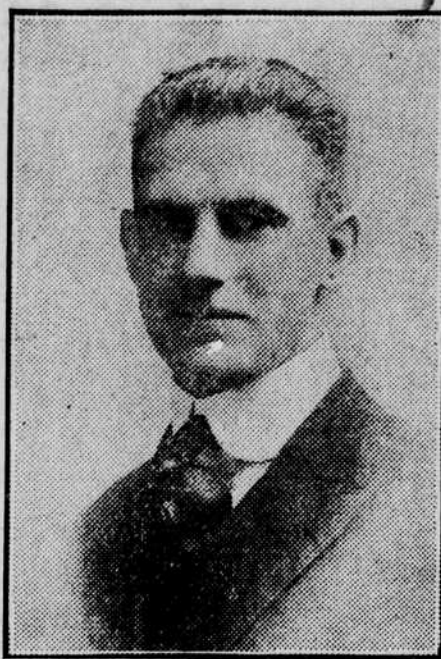

The high school debate championship of Oregon will be determined Friday evening in Guild hall, when the Silverton high school team will meet the Joseph debaters. Rholin Cooley and Edwin Durno for Silverton will uphold the affirmative and Guy Davis and Arthur Rudd for Joseph, the negative, of the question, "Resolved, that Oregon should adopt a compulsory health insurance law embodying the essential features of the standard bill of the American Association for Labor Legislation."

Silverton and Joseph have won places in this final contest defeating their opponents in district and inter-district debates. The state was divided into ten districts, 72 high schools in all, entering the contest, the largest number ever enrolled in the Oregon High School Debate League, under whose auspices these debates have been given.

The winners, besides securing the championship of the state, will gain the University debate cup for a year. The cup becomes the permanent possession of the team winning it three successive times. No school, in the five years the cup has been up for competition, has secured it for more than one year. Prineville won the championship last year; Salem, 1914-15; Pendleton, 1913-14; North Bend, 1912-13; Albany, 1911-12.

The judges of the debate will be Dean Collins of the Oregonian, Jesse McCord, principal of the Montavilla school, Portland, and I. H. Van Winkle.

Sheehy is Elected

Leura Jerard, the other candidate, received 249 votes.

Three hundred and nineteen votes made Harry Crain editor of the Emerald. DeWitt Gilbert, his nearest rival for the position, received 287 votes, and Adrienne Epping 63.

Jeannette Catkins won the managership of the Emerald from Joe Denn by 96 votes, receiving in all 375 votes to his 279.

The closest race of all was that for the editorship of the Oregana, secured by Helen Brenton by the narrow margin of one vote. Her total was 323 while Harolds Newton scored 322. Jame Vance the sole aspirant for the office of Oregana Manager, received 653 votes.

Charles Huntington and Charles Dandore were elected to serve on the Executive Committee with 649 votes to the credit of each. Clifford Mitchell, William Snyder, and Dorris Medley were placed on the Athletic Council by 651 votes for each one.

Of the three men elected to Senior membership of the Council Kenneth Moores received the highest total, 543 votes. Randall Scott came next with 467, and Don Newberry followed with 430. Walter Myers, the unsuccessful candidate totaled 419.

Martha Tinker headed the list of Senior women with 377 tallies. Cora Hosford received second highest number amounting to 322. The three other candidates, Erma Keithley, Clytie Hall, and Viola Peterson received 256, 216, and 73 votes respectively.

Lynn McCready and Burle Bramhall were chosen men to represent the junior class in the Student Council, the former scoring 563 votes and the latter 506. Nellis Hamlin received 188 votes.

Lillian Boylen won the place of Junior woman by 400 votes to Beatrice Thurston's 261. William Steers was elected Sophomore member by 370 votes. John Benefiel totaled 278.

The constitutional amendment giving the Executive Committee veto power, by a four-fifths vote, over the appropriations made by the council or committee, passed by the majority of 216 to 27.

Ernest Watkins had charge of the polls and appointed as clerks to serve at different periods of the day, Helen Johns, Mary Alice Hill, Dorothy Dunbar, Helen Currey, Frank Folts, Tyrell Carner, Eulalie Crosby, Jean Riekey, Johnson Leonard, Max Reigard, Dwight Wilson, Nicholas Jaureguy, Jennie Huggins, and Harold Fitzgibbon.
