

EATON WILL CONTINUE ON FACULTY PENDING DECISION OF REGENTS

SITUATION TO BE PLACED BEFORE BOARD OF REGENTS FOR EARLIEST POSSIBLE SETTLEMENT

SAYS HE WANTS WAR TO CONTINUE TILL PRUSSIAN MILITARISM FALLS

Accused Declares All Must Support Nation's Chief—Not for "Peace At Any Price."

Prof. Allen H. Eaton this evening submitted his resignation to President P. L. Campbell. No action can be taken upon Prof. Eaton's resignation until after October 20, when a meeting of the Board of Regents will be held, upon the call of Vice-President A. C. Dixon, acting in the absence of Judge Robert Bean, president of the Board.

Until his case is taken up for consideration by the board of regents, Allen Eaton, whose dismissal from the faculty of the University is demanded in recent resolutions passed by the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, will continue his duties as instructor in art appreciation. President Campbell yesterday announced that he would ask for a meeting of the regents at the earliest possible date, when the question of Mr. Eaton's dismissal or retention will be settled.

In accordance with his announcement after the rejection by the Chamber of Commerce, Monday evening, of his offer to appear before that body and make explanations, Mr. Eaton last night made the following statement to the public through the press:

Thankful for Confidence

"In view of what has recently been said about me in the press, I believe a statement is now due the public, from me, telling exactly where I stand.

"First of all, I want to express, what I can not, my gratitude to those editors, officials, citizens and friends who have publicly and privately stated their confidence in my loyalty to our country. What this has meant to my family during my absence they can not know, but I do.

"What I am about to say is not a defense, it is an explanation.

"At midnight of September 14, I was awakened in my room in New York City and handed a telegram stating that the Eugene Commercial Club had demanded my dismissal from the Oregon legislature and the State University because of my connection with the peace conference held in Chicago. I could understand how this demand might be made because of an apparent difference in opinion, but I did not see, until I arrived in Portland Saturday, a copy of the resolution itself, and I was shocked and pained, beyond expression, when I read that I had been found guilty of disloyalty to my country.

"The question of whether or not I should be recalled from the Oregon legislature, or dismissed from the State University, these and all other questions are as nothing compared to the question of my loyalty to my government.

ED SHOCKLEY DOES COUNTRY FAIRS

He and Companion Take Many Firsts and Seconds in Motorcycle Races

The country fair, always a good contributor to the college athlete, was made to pay tribute also to Ed Shockley, physical instructor in the University, this summer.

Accompanied by Claude Washburne, of the Eugene firm of McMorran & Washburne, Shockley spent September touring the Willamette valley on a motorcycle, and September is Oregon's fair month.

So sometimes Shockley took first place in motorcycle events and sometimes Washburne took first. But always, at Scio and other Oregon towns, they had first and second.

MANY FROSH MOUSTACHES FALL WHEN BARBER GETS MOWER INTO ACTION

Length of Beards Arouses Interest of Spectators in Sideline Chairs of Shop

If the length of beards is any criterion of Frosh age, the University of Oregon class of 1921 is as old as was last year's freshman, according to John McGuire of the Varsity barber shop.

This year business in barbering lines has not only been as good as usual, but the length has been encouragingly long to those spectators on Mac's sideline chairs who fear the coming of a babe frosh class.

Several moustaches have even disappeared in Mac's shop since the new freshman line began to string through the front door of the Varsity clipping parlor. Previously these moustaches had been the envy of Slim Crandall and other seniors who may soon be called upon to raise a growth under their sombreros.

Chuck Dundore, acting in his capacity of senior president, is believed to have passed his plain duty when he failed to have Mac save the overgrown eyebrows. Because while they adorned the frosh faces, they were as much a joy to fearers of a babe class as were the long frosh whiskers.

But, much as they had shown in marked contrast to the bare lip of Robert Lees, 15-year-old youngest freshman, they are gone now. And Lees has not seen McGuire about getting his red hair trimmed. This, however, may be all right, because McGuire says that this fall there has been a remarkable improvement in barbering art displayed by entering men from the remote, distant, or interior parts of the state.

"Despite the announcement of Dean Straub, that there would be an even larger enrolment coming from the smaller towns of the state, I find very little of the long, fine-quality pillow-filler on my shop floor," said Mr. McGuire.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY ACTIVE

JAMES MCPHERSON IS SUCCESSOR TO J. D. FOSTER

Employment Bureau Aims to Find a Job for All Men Who Must Have Employment.

James MacPherson, new secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., succeeding J. D. Foster, who is now serving in the army, has been busy for the last month finding employment for students of the University for this year. Sixty men have applied for work and most of them have been given jobs, either temporary or permanent.

"I have interviewed every business man in town and they are all willing to do everything in their power to help the men get work that will enable them to pay their expenses," said Mr. MacPherson.

Besides the employment work, Mr. MacPherson has had to reorganize the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. A large percentage of the old cabinet enlisted in some branch of the government service, and this left the secretary with more work upon his hands than he was able to do.

Mr. MacPherson, through the Y. M. C. A., is starting a campaign for 100 per cent attendance at the Bible schools of Eugene.

"I believe that every man in the University should be interested in the Bible school work," said Mr. MacPherson.

Mr. MacPherson graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, last June, and has been doing army Y. M. C. A. work in Cheyenne, Wyo., this summer.

RED NECKS FOR MEN, STYLE

With a five-cent increase in the price of celluloid collars comes fashion's latest decree for University men. It is that bright red necks will be worn this fall. The "saw edge" in men's neckwear has come back to stay.

ORDNANCE COURSE HAS HEAVY REGISTRATION

APPLICATIONS ARE ON FILE FOR SECOND COURSE TO OPEN DURING NOVEMBER

EARLY SERVICE IN FRANCE IS LIKELY

Many Men With Military Experience Are Enrolled; Seven States Represented in Class.

At noon Tuesday registration in the new ordnance course was halted because of the fact that the limit of 50 men, set by the government, had been passed. Applications now in for the second course to open in November will necessitate an extension of the class limit to include at least 75 men, says Prof. C. C. Jeremiah, in charge of the work. Several applications have also been received for the third course, which is to be given in January.

The course gives six weeks intensive training for service in the Ordnance Department of the United States Army and Professor Jeremiah, of the school of Commerce, who has been detailed by the War Department to take charge of this course, has also been instructed through the Chief of Ordnance of the War Department at Washington to continue these courses until ordered by the government to stop. Professor Jeremiah will be assisted by Mr. C. E. Nelson, Joseph Denn and Dr. D. V. DeLory.

College Men Wanted

Requirements for the course are that the men be 21 years of age and have had sufficient education or business training so as to grasp the subject. "Men of college training or men of sufficient actual business experience to enable them to grasp the subject and be relied upon after completing the course" are wanted, according to a telegram received from General Crozier, Chief of the Department. The tuition fee for the course will be $20.

After completing this course students will be sent to an arsenal for five weeks practical ordnance work, after which they will likely be sent to France. The purpose of this course is to train men who will act in the capacity of receiving clerks, shipping clerks, stores clerks, balance of stores clerks, and so forth.

The scheduled work includes training in industrial and scientific management, the receipt, handling and shipping of ordnance material, conversational French, and perhaps typewriting.

To Enlist In Army

At the end of the six weeks course the men are compelled to enlist in the ordnance department of the Army, and are subject to call immediately. If the needs of the ordnance department warrant men may be called before completion of their course, and the director will determine, in that case, which men are fitted to go.

When called to duty the men are enlisted as privates. The government does not guarantee that the men will receive higher rank, but it is certain that as soon as the men are called to duty and placed on the field they are given the rank of sergeant, which carries with it a salary of from $40 to $60 per month, depending upon the grade, with a 20 per cent increase for foreign service.

Not Money Making Vocation

The course is not limited to residents of this state, or students of the University. The only requisite is sufficient maturity and assured ability to profit by the course.

"It is a sacrifice for the country," says Director Jeremiah, "and every man should be made to realize that the course is not given with the view that the men will make money after they enlist. It is purely a patriotic move and the men taking the course must sacrifice something for their country. At the University of Penn." (Continued on page 2.)

BRITISH WAR VETERAN MAY TEACH AT OREGON

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL JOHN LEADER MAY BE DETAILED TO DIRECT MILITARY DRILL COURSE

TRAINING TO BE COMPULSORY FOR ALL

Regulations Call for Tan Shoes and Matter of Headgear Rests With Classes.

Lieutenant Colonel John Leader, of the British Army, may be assigned to the University by the British government on request of the United States War Department through the British embassy. Colonel Leader was until recently commanding officer of the 16th Royal Irish Rifles, of General French's famous Ulster division. His 21 years of active service included the Boer war, the Chinese war, and service as military attache and observer with other armies, including the Japanese.

At the outbreak of the present war he was directed to raise a regiment, which he did practically single handed, at the same time he trained a corps of young officers with such distinguished success as to earn the personal commendation of Lord Kitchener, Sir Douglas Haig, and his own commander, General Lord French.

Was At the Somme

At the head of this command he fought in France and Belgium for more than a year, leading his men through many desperate battles, including the famous Battle of the Somme. Invalided, he was placed in command of the young officers' training camp, from which he comes directly to Eugene. He is a graduate of the Royal Military College, the West Point of Great Britain. His varied experience of the very latest methods of European warfare will work out on the campus into several interesting military courses besides the drill. The new drill hall has been completed just east of the Men's Gymnasium.

Uniforms May Be Secured

It is probable that modern rifles, or at least Springfield rifles, will be secured to take the place of the wooden guns for the training, as arrangements toward this end are progressing nicely. The school authorities plan to get regulation army uniforms this year. It is difficult to secure army equipment for university training on account of the unending call which is made for every form of army equipment from the training cantonments over the United States, but the university authorities are working incessantly on the matter and their efforts are being received favorably.

The proposed military training will among other things necessitate each and every student at drill wearing tan shoes, but not necessarily the regulation army shoe. Dean Eric W. Allen has suggested that students intending to purchase shoes should buy the tan, thus cutting out the expense of the extra pair.

According to members of the faculty committee on military affairs, the uniforms will be the regulation olive drab, all wool, and will cost the students about $25. This will include the hat, service blouse, trousers and leggings. It is up to the students to decide whether hats or caps will be used. If the majority decide upon caps they will be ordered, otherwise the regulation hat will be used.

All Students Are to Drill

Nothing definite can be done relative to this matter until a military director is found. The committee has decided that every man in the college shall drill and not just freshmen and sophomores, as the reports around the campus have had it. Several hours for drill have been suggested, among them being from 5 to 6 P. M., from 4 to 5 P. M., from 7 to 8 P. M., and from 11:30 A. M. to 12:30 P. M. Another set of hours suggested was one hour each on Tuesdays and Thursdays and three hours on Saturday.

Dr. Warren D. Smith has been in touch with several ammunition com- (Concluded from page 1.)

UNIVERSITY WOMEN WILL HOLD MARSHMALLOW TOAST IN BUNGALOW

Informal Affair Is Set for Friday Evening—Two Hundred at Y. W. C. A. Reception

An informal marshmallow toast for all women will be in progress Friday evening at the Y. W. C. A. Bungalow to parallel the stag mix.

Two hundred women greeted each other for the first time in this college year at the reception held Wednesday afternoon at the Association home. In the receiving line were Miss Tirza Dinsdale, general secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., Dean Elizabeth Fox, Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mrs. A. R. Sweetser, Mrs. J. M. Miller, Mrs. W. P. Boynton, Mrs. M. H. Douglass, Miss Mary Watson, Mrs. Sage, and Mrs. Karl Onthank.

A progressive grand march, in which the freshmen followed the lead of Helene DeLano, president of the Woman's League, and former students that of Elizabeth Baker, was the means of many introductions. As a further means of acquaintance, a double circle was formed with the freshmen in the center. Each woman then announced her name, collegiate standing, and home town. Margaret Crum directed the introductions.

President Ruth Wilson of the student association called upon Dean For and Miss Dinsdale, who welcomed the new girls to the campus. Members of the cabinet then outlined plans of work for the coming year in their departments.

Essie Maguire spoke on membership; Dorothy Flegal on meetings; Mrs. Katherine Johnson on social plans; Ruth Westfall on social service; and Helen Brenton on Bible and mission study.

WOMEN'S DORMITORY RUSHED

WILL PROBABLY BE READY AFTER CHRISTMAS VACATION

Three Large Units, With Mary Spiller Hall, Will Accommodate Over 100 Women.

The Women's Dormitory, which will be ready for occupancy after Jan. 1, is unusually large and well built for the $50,000 appropriation made by the state. It will accommodate 115 girls, and the matron and dean of women will also reside in the new building.

There are three large units separated from each other by fire walls, and Mary Spiller Hall, which will be connected with the dining room, will make a fourth unit. These units are divided into suites which will accommodate either two or four girls and each suite will have a dressing room, study, and sleeping porch, with a bath between every two suites. A main corridor runs through the building and connects the three divisions with the reception room on the main floor.

The first floor will have, besides the reception room, two smaller parlors and dining room to be used by all of the girls, while the dean's apartments will also be on this floor.

The whole interior will be decorated in a colonial style and all of the furnishings, which were selected by Mrs. Gerlinger, of the Board of Regents, and Mr. E. F. Lawrence, of Portland, will lend a colonial atmosphere throughout the building. A well equipped laundry, store rooms, and a large trunk room have been provided for in the basement.

SPANISH BOOKS ARE ON LONG JOURNEY

Grammars On Way from California to Eugene via New York

Because they were routed to the University of Oregon from California via New York City, 200 grammars for beginning Spanish classes have not yet arrived. The books were ordered by Prof. H. F. Harthan through the Students' Co-operative store two weeks ago. Monday a telegram was received from the California publishers telling of the mistake.

Spanish classes are being held without books pending the arrival of the new grammars, which is expected daily now.

COACH HUGO BEZDEK GIVES FOOTBALL SQUAD 'ONCE-OVER' ON KINGCOLD

HE IS NOT DISHEARTENED WITH PROSPECTS FOR A SUCCESSFUL TEAM THIS YEAR

HUNTINGTON EXPECTED TO ARRIVE FROM THE DALLES LATE THIS WEEK

Pete Jensen, Ray Couch, and Orville Monteith Are Possibilities; Six Last Year's Stellar Frosh Out

(By William Hazeltine.) Somewhat fatigued by his long trip across the continent, but none the less eager to start the season's campaign, Hugo Bezdek, football coach extraordinaire, and member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, dropped into town yesterday noon and in three hours was on Kingcald field giving his squad the once-over.

Bezdek didn't put on a uniform, but contented himself with watching the light workout from the sidelines. The coach was far from disheartened by the lack of seasoned men.

"Of course it's going to be hard to build a team around one or two letter men, but if these men out here get in and fight I'll have a team that will be in the running all the time," said the man on whom Oregon's hopes rest. "We've got to get these boys that haven't enlisted yet, lack in college. Give me Shy Huntington, Bill Steers, Pete Jensen and Jay Couch, and I'll have a backfield that the conference will have a hard time stopping."

Shy Coming Soon

Latest returns from The Dalles indicate that Shy ought to be in Eugene the latter part of the week. Pete Jensen is working in the navy yard at Bremerton and is undecided about returning. Couch is expected any day by his fraternity brothers. There is a bare possibility that Orville Monteith, who held down a halfback job last year, may return. He has been working in Alaska for the past six months and left last week for the States.

The turnout last night was composed of members of last season's stellar freshman aggregation. Dow Wilson and Stan Anderson, the two ends, Berg, Brown, and Keith Leslie, line-men, and Bill Steers, quarterback, together with some of the second string formed one team that charged up and down the field. Some 35 men were out, including the frosh.

Bas Williams, although he is enrolled in college, failed to show up last night. The old pinch-hitter, "Dot" Medley, was out in uniform going through the practice like a veteran. "Dot" ought to put up a real fight for one of the positions.

Strenuous Program Outlined

Starting with this afternoon, Bez has outlined a program that for strenuousity would make the officers at the Presidio blush with shame. Two hours of solid work on preliminary conditioning processes today and Friday, with the first scrimmage of the season set for Saturday, is his plan. But one week from Saturday the Multnomah clubmen are due for the initial game of the season, so what ordinarily occupied three weeks has to be done in eight days.

Delays In Obtaining Classical Selections Will Be Avoided

A music store, which will in no way compete with the merchants downtown, has been established in the office of the music hall. The store will handle no popular music and only such classical music as will be immediately in the use of the students. The purpose of the new plan, according to John J. Landsbury, dean of the school of music, is to have the music on the grounds, thus doing away with unnecessary delays.

Miss Jessie Fariss, instructor of piano in the school of music, will be in charge of the management of the new store.
