LETTERS FOR THE BOYS IN SERVICE

From the University men serving in the army and navy comes the suggestion that some concentrated effort be made to supply them with letters from their Alma Mater and from their friends in other units of the service. One of the boys, writing to a friend on the campus, says, "You have no idea how much it means to the fellows here to get letters from friends at Dear Old Oregon, and you cannot imagine how few of those letters we receive."

Here, then, is one real chance for the students to "do their bit," a chance for them to make the lot of the boys, who have given up their university work in answer to the needs of their country, a little brighter and a little more pleasant. But in handling this matter, some arrangement which would keep the men at the different stations informed not only of what their friends on the campus are doing, but would also give them the news of enlisted men in other camps, should be worked out. One suggestion which has already been made and which appears to have a wealth of possibilities, is that an exchange bureau of letters be established, to act as a clearing house of information of interest to the soldiers. The idea then would be to have all except personal letters, either from students or men in the service, addressed to the bureau. The bureau would then make duplicate copies and send them along to each of the other stations where University men are stationed.

The idea is yet in its embryonic stage, but is well worthy of consideration. Some such method of supplying the boys with the personal news of the campus should be adopted and the Emerald will welcome any suggestions that may be offered by the students.

VACANCIES IN STUDENT BODY OFFICES FILLED

CLINTON THIENES, WALTER MEYERS, DWIGHT WILSON AND FRANCES FRATER ON STUDENT COUNCIL

TREGILGAS APPOINTMENT TEMPORARY

New Forensic Council and Executive Council Members Named by President Sheehy.

Announcement of the appointment of the members of the forensic council and the filling of vacancies in the athletic and student councils was made last night by James S. Sheehy, president of the associated students. Membership on the forensic council is fixed by appointment under the terms of the constitution of the Associated Students, but the filling of the other places was made necessary by the failure of the elected members to return to the University this year.

Forensic Council Named.
The forensic council members named yesterday are Roberta Schubel, William Haseltine and Kenneth Armstrong. Other appointments made by President Sheehy included the placing of Harold Tregilgas as a temporary member of the executive committee to fill the vacancy left by Shy Huntington, who will not return to the University this year, according to the latest word received from him, the naming of Harold Maison and Carl Nelson as members of the athletic council and of Clinton Thienes, Walter Meyers, Dwight Wilson and Frances Frater, as members of the student council.

Revised List Given.
The members of the executive committee and the councils of the Associated Students for the year are:

Executive committee: James S. Sheehy, president; Ray Couch, vice-president; Emma Wootton, secretary; Charles Dundore, member at large; Harold Tregilgas, temporary appointment.

Athletic council: James S. Sheehy, Dorris Medley, Harold Maison, Carl Nelson.

Forensic council: Roberta Schubel, William Haseltine, Kenneth Armstrong.

U. OF O. MEN WORK AS MODELS AND TYPISTS

HEAD OF CAMPUS Y. M. C. A. FINDS MORE POSITIONS THAN CAN BE FILLED BY STUDENTS

Avocations Varied, Chance Offered for Good Jobs or Steady Employment for Year.

Work varying from stenography to art models is the opportunity of the college man looking for employment this year in the University. The campus Y. M. C. A., as the main source of the work obtainable, is offering odd jobs, steady jobs, and all sorts of jobs for the college student in need of ready money.

James Macpherson, secretary of the local association, reports that over 80 applications for jobs have been turned in to him during the month he has been in Eugene doing Y. M. C. A. work. "Through the Chamber of Commerce here in Eugene, and the people themselves, I have been fairly fortunate in securing work for the students, and jobs have been rather plentiful. In fact, one of the troubles is having enough men to fill the places offered."

"The work varies from positions in restaurants, stores, washing windows, to sign writing, art models, janitor work, putting in wood, pressing work, and typewriting," said the secretary. "Probably 60 fellows in college have landed steady jobs that will last them all year, and many others have jobs that bring them in a few dollars now and then to meet expenses."

"The prospects for work for the coming year are very bright, but there are not enough students to fill the places offered. I wish more could be persuaded to come and let me help them obtain positions. Of course," he added with a smile, "the work is all free to the students, and I want them to take advantage of it. I am here to help them out, and I want them to come to me and let me do what I can for them."

DEBATE PROSPECTS ARE GLOOMY, ACCORDING TO R. W. PR SCOTT

"No Old Men Back," Bemoans Mentor, Who Asks for More Candidates; O. A. C. to be Met First.

Debate prospects do not look very bright to Robert W. Prescott, professor of public speaking, and coach for the University debate teams. "I have no old debaters back," he said yesterday; "in fact I have the same conditions to deal with in debate that Hugo Bezdek has to meet on the field but we will not be discouraged."

Four debates are scheduled for the year; two with O. A. C., one with Washington, and one with Stanford. Mr. Prescott hopes to have one debate with O. A. C. before Christmas, and since O. A. C. asked this last semester, it is probable that the University will meet O. A. C. before the end of this semester. This year it is O. A. C.'s year to suggest the subject for the debate, and as soon as he hears the question, Mr. Prescott will begin picking his teams.

There will be two teams with two on each team. Mr. Prescott picks the teams from members of his debating classes, and so he suggests that those who are ambitious to be debaters join his class in debate. The teams probably will not be picked for six weeks at least.

PROCEEDS FROM PLAYS WILL GO TO RED CROSS

DRAMATIC INTERPRETATION CLASSES ANNOUNCE SERIES OF BENEFITS TO BE PRESENTED THIS WINTER

First Performance October 25; Reddie May Take Casts to Portland.

All profits derived from plays given this year by members of University of Oregon dramatic interpretation classes under Prof. A. F. Reddie, head of the department of public speaking, will be donated to the national Red Cross. Mr. Reddie announced today that all plays will be in the nature of benefits, and that productions will be made both in Eugene and Portland.

"I hope, through these plays," said Mr. Reddie, "to materially aid the Red Cross. I am making arrangements to accept an invitation from the Drama League in Portland to produce plays with University casts there this winter, for the benefit of the Red Cross." The first performance of the classes will be given on the evening of October 25 and 26, and will consist of three one-act plays—"The Friend of Man," "Sayonara," and "The Straggler." The casts are as follows:

The Friend of Man.
The Stranger.....W. F. G. Thacher
The old young man.....A. F. Reddie
Sayonara.
Katsun.....Mrs. Catherine Thorne
Setsua Matsuo.....Charlotte Banfield
Oyouki.....Teresa Cox
Yamao.....Morris Bocock
Imada.....William Coleman
Ito.....Robert McNary
Sato.....Norma Phillips

Jack.....Nowell Thompson
Alice.....Helen Anderson
The Straggler.
Brewster.....A. F. Reddie
Sergeant Archibald McDonald.....
Kenneth Shetterly
Colonel James Midwinter.....
Arlo Bristow
Nora Brewster.....Helen Purington
On the evenings of November 22 and 23, "Like Falling Leaves" will be produced at Guild Hall. The cast has not been decided upon, although Mr. Reddie says that Emma Wootton will probably have the leading role. "The Little Dog Laughed" will be presented December 13 and 14.

KANSAS U. LOSES 26 PER CENT

Because of the war, enrollment at the University of Kansas has fallen off 26 per cent. Segregated by classes, freshmen show a loss of 14 per cent, sophomores 19 per cent, juniors 30 per cent, and seniors 41 per cent, totaling more than 800 students.

MARIAN NEIL IS AWARDED THE PAUL ALLAN CLAWSON MUSICAL SCHOLARSHIP

Major in School of Music Wins Coveted Prize for Personal Service and High School Standing.

Marian Neil, a major in the school of music, has been awarded the Paul Allan Clawson memorial scholarship for excellence in musical work.

"This scholarship" said Dr. John J. Landsbury, dean of the School of Music, "represents the highest honor that can be paid a student of the school. It is given for excellence in musical attainments as well as in appreciation of Miss Neil's personal services for the school."

The school reserves the right to withhold the awarding of the scholarship during any year when it is felt that no one fitted for the honor has been found. By the terms of the scholarship Miss Neil is entitled to enroll in any course in any course in the University school of music without cost.

HAROLD YOUNG DIRECTS PUBLICATION

Oregon Man Overseeing Production of High School Paper.

Harold Young, graduate of the class of '15, who is instructing in commerce in Pendleton high school and at the same time overseeing the high school publication, The Lantern, recently sent an issue of the paper to Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism.

The school is putting out a paper very much like the Emerald in appearance, though smaller. The columns contain straight news articles, with news headlines. Mr. Young has written in the margin of the paper, "This is the first paper my class put out this fall. Students are very enthusiastic about it. This issue has $12 profit in ads, and subscriptions are over $100 now and no debts." Mr. Young is the son of Prof. F. G. Young, of the department of economics.

"BONES" SKELTON IS FLYING

An old Oregon student enlisted in the aviation corps and actually flying is Joe L. ("Bones") Skelton, '19, who left college to enlist last spring. "Bones" is now stationed at Dayton, Ohio, and according to word received at the A. T. O. house has been promoted to the rank of sergeant-observer and has had charge of a steering wheel for some time. Skelton was on Bezdek's second team last year.
