

SCHOOL OF COMMERCE TO OFFER NEW COURSE

EXTENSION CLASS IN FOREIGN TRADE WILL BE GIVEN IN PORTLAND, DIRECTED BY H. F. BOYCE.

Business Men Apply for Enrollment, As Last Year's Work Is Much Appreciated.

The University School of Commerce has completed arrangements for organizing an extension class in foreign trade, to be given in co-operation with the Portland Chamber of Commerce, in Portland, during the present school year.

The class will be organized in Portland this week and will be given in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in the Oregon Building. A large number of bankers, professional men and other business men already have applied for enrollment.

The lectures in foreign trade will be given by H. F. Boyce who is head of a prominent import and export firm in Portland and who has given a wide range of study to this subject. Another series of lectures to this class will be given by S. O. Krantz, manager of the Department of Industrial and Commercial Service of the School of Commerce, on the subject of Oregon industries and the possibilities of their development for foreign market. E. N. Weinbaum, assistant secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, will assist in the work before the class.

H. B. Miller, director of the School of Commerce, and Mr. Krantz left Eugene today for Portland to meet with the class to make final arrangements for the work during the winter.

The University classes in foreign trade were largely attended last year and were much appreciated by Portland business men.

SENIORS WILL CELEBRATE SATURDAY

Hayracks Will be Made of Travel to Picnic Grounds.

The hayracks which are to convey the seniors on their big time picnic will leave the campus promptly at 5:30 Saturday afternoon. The seniors will assemble by that time at the senior bench. Roll call will be taken and absentees dealt with severely. Each man will contribute twenty-five cents, while the women will provide sandwiches and cake.

The committee in charge of the event, as appointed by President Charles Dundore, consists of Gladys Wilkins, Don Roberts, Ralph Service, Martha Tinker and Ruth Wilson.

STUDENTS INTERESTED IN WAR BOOKS

More Than 100 Volumes Released by Library On European Struggle.

Judging from the number of books on the war which have been released by the library, a decided interest is shown on the part of the students as to the topics of the war.

The library has about 240 volumes, including pamphlets, all of which are of late publication and written along some lines of the war. More than 100 of these have been released to the students.

Books may be had which deal with the Allies on the western front, the work of the Red Cross and of the diplomatic background surrounding the course of the war. Volumes of poetry, fiction and description can be found on the truck which stands to the right of the circulation desk in the library.

Some of the books are: "Ambulance No. 19," by Leslie Bushnell; "Mr. Britling Sees It Through," by H. G. Wells; "With the Allies," by Richard Harding Davis; "A Student In Arms," by Donald Hankey; and "Letters From a French Hospital."

NEW STUDENT COUNCIL ASKS REAL COOPERATION

consisting of Lynn McCready, Martha Tinker and Helene DeLano. This is an important committee in the eyes of the council, as it will offer a way to replenish the fund in the treasury and will also start up the old "jazz" by a big get-together "hop" in the near future. The receipts of the first dance will be used to pay off a debt of $21 which was left from the purchase of the gold football fobs last year.

Another committee consisting of Walter Myers, Clinton Thienes, Cora Hosford, Frances Frater and Dwight Wilson, was appointed to work out plans for the sending of magazines, books and the Oregon Emerald to college men who are now enlisted in military service. They are also to make arrangements for a fitting memorial tribute in some form which will be erected on the campus and on which will be subscribed the names of the University students who have and will soon answer the call of the bugle. The spirit of the committee was brought forth in President Sheehy's statement, "If we can't go across, we can come across."

Will Decide Drill Hour.
A third committee was appointed, consisting of Ray Couch, Harry Crain and Bill Steers, who will canvass the students to find the hour which will be the most desirable for military drill. Blanks will be made out and passed through the classes on which the students can state the hour most desirable to them, and in this way the time for military drill can be selected which will be satisfactory to all.

Following the appointment of the committees, the council, after considerable discussion, elected George Cook manager of this year's Oregon to fill the vacancy left by Jimmy Vance, who is now with the University ambulance corps at American Lake, Wash. Harold Gray and Harold Newton were also discussed in connection with the position.

A yell leader and assistant will be elected after the tryouts, Thursday afternoon. "Slim" Crandall and Keith Kiggins received favorable comment from the members of the council for this position.

President Campbell appeared at the meeting during the evening's sessions and gave a short talk.

MULTNOMAN HEAVIER THAN OREGON ELEVEN; LACKS 'VARSITY SPEED

yellow. In spite of the fact that the team is "green," Oregon fans feel that the 'varsity will give a good account of itself, and this belief is borne out by the coach.

"Those boys are going in Saturday to fight, and whether we win or not, Multnomah will know she's been in a game," said Bez. "The boys are coming along fine. If I had six weeks to prepare for W. S. C. we might make some kind of a showing against them even with their seven letter men."

The call for candidates certainly brought results last night, when over 30 men turned out for the 'varsity and about the same number for the baby eleven. The coach made a few changes in his first team lineup. "Doc" Macy alternated with George Cook at left guard. "Doc" showed surprising knowledge of the game and will probably get a chance Saturday.

At right guard Creston Maddock relieved Arthur Berg, who was still feeling the effects of Saturday's scrimmage. The rest of the line-up remained the same.

Hard At Practice.
Scrimmage occupied most of the practice both Tuesday and Wednesday. Using but one play, the 'varsity tore through the freshmen and scrubs for five and ten yards at a clip.

Steers and Hunter both managed to break away for long runs. The men put lots of snap and dash into their work, which augurs well for the slow-moving Portland team.

Oregon will go into the contest outweighed from 10 to 15 pounds to the man, but the superior speed of the locals will offset any such disadvantage.

A telegram that he could not possibly return killed all hope that Pete Jensen might come back to bolster up the backfield. Ray Couch is the only man left to return now.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING GREAT, SAYS LECTURER

Bolivia, on which she has already made partial ascents.

Enjoys South America.
"When I went to South America," she said, "some people told me that I would not receive the consideration which I expected, but I found that although the people were surprised to think that a woman should attempt to climb mountains, they had no prejudice against it, and really gave me more attention and courtesy than I received here." Miss Peck enjoys going to South America, but in all her travels she has never found one particular place which she likes best of all.

"I like them all," she said, "and as a rule it is the people who have traveled least who have one particular spot which they are sure is the finest place on earth."

The position of women in South America is another thing which interests Miss Peck. Many clubs exist in the larger cities, which the women have formed and through which they are gradually getting a little broader view of life. They want higher education and they are getting it. Miss Peck spoke before several of these clubs on her last trip to South America a year ago, at which time she lectured in Spanish and Portuguese in a ten months' tour of all the larger cities.

Miss Peck does not look at all like one who has broken records in mountain climbing. She does not appear athletic, but talks and acts more like the dignified college woman and teacher from whom has emerged the scaler of peaks.

Miss Peck will lecture at Stanford next week.

TWO LETTER MEN RETURN

Jay Fox and Harold Maison, after spending the summer in central Oregon, returned to the University Tuesday. Fox is a letter man in basketball, and Maison in baseball. Both played on the Prineville team in the Central Oregon league in spare moments while they worked in the Prineville hay fields and on the railroad that is building into Prineville.
