EUTAXIANS TO MEET FOR "WORK HOURS"

Programs to Include View of War Literature, by Wells and Tolstoi.

The Eutaxian meetings this term will take the form of "work hours," during which the girls will knit and sew for the Red Cross, while listening to the regular literary program. The program, also, will savor of war times. It is planned to study books and articles which have a bearing on the war. The programs will open with study of the prophecies on the war, by such writers as H. G. Wells and Tolstoi.

The Eutaxians will hold their first meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, for installation of officers, Margaret Crosby, is the new president.

ROOTERS DISPLAY LITTLE "PEP"

Rooters' practice Thursday afternoon was not a "howling success." A fair percentage of the freshmen turned out with a handful of sophomores and upperclassmen. After a few yells, led by "Slim" Crandall, the crowd was dismissed, with orders for each man to bring two others to practice Friday.

Because of the clever manner in which the different branches of preparedness of women was brought forth, the judges awarded the five points to the sophomore girls.

A red cross worked into the frosh grand stand decorations was held to outweigh the sophomore protestations that the frosh used the orange and black colors of O. A. C. in their decorations, and the five points were given to the freshmen.

The tie-up contest, carrying 15 points, was won by the work of S. Simola, who succeeded in tying up, unassisted, A. Frosh. The judges warned the audience not to ask for further identification. Joe Hammersley, freshman president, nearly succeeded in tying Mortimer Brown, sophomore, but was not quite able to tie the hands and hold Brown at the same time; otherwise he might have offset the "work" of Simola.

The cane rush was won by the freshmen, who had twelve hands on the cane to the eleven placed there by the sophomores.

The sophomores won the flag rush and added 20 points to their total. The freshmen only succeeded in getting one man up several feet.

The judges were: Bill Hayward, James Sheehy, Charles Dundore, Miriam Page and Kate Schaefer. They said: "It was a square mix."

rections by Herbert C. Hoover to the housewife, and the engraved membership emblem which each family is urged to hang in the front window.

A. C. Dixon, manager of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company, Mrs. A. L. Ingalls, president of the local Woman's Council of Defense, and E. J. Moore, county school superintendent, have been named as an executive committee, and Eric W. Allen, dean of the University School of Journalism, is publicity agent.
