

OREGON PRAISED BY ILLINOIS

BIG ENROLLMENT BRINGS LETTER OF COMMENDATION

President James, of Middle Western College, Felicitates Mr. Campbell on the Fine Showing.

In a letter received by President P. L. Campbell, from Dr. E. J. James, president of the University of Illinois, the University of Oregon is congratulated on having a larger enrollment than last year.

President James writes, "I have just noticed from the News Bulletin of the University of Oregon, that the enrollment at Eugene exceeds that of last year."

"I wish to congratulate you on this fact. It is certainly quite a remarkable phenomenon. From present indications our total registration this year at the University of Illinois will show about sixteen hundred fewer names than last year."

Oregon is indeed fortunate not to have lost more students than she has, for the University of California reports a decrease in her enrollment. The Oregon Agricultural College registration, however, is larger than it has ever been before. The registration totals 1,550 students.

SMALL HOPE FOR EARLY SOCCER GAME

No Assurance in Sight for Contest With Any Eligible Team.

Prospects for an early soccer game are decidedly uncertain, according to Graduate Manager A. R. Tiffany, who has been corresponding with several eligible teams in the Northwest.

"Multnomah Club has made no definite arrangements for soccer as yet," said Mr. Tiffany on his return from Portland, where he talked with the club officials concerning the possibilities of a game. "Everything is up in the air there and we can have no assurance of a game."

An effort is also being made by Mr. Tiffany to secure a game with O. A. C., but he has received no reply from the Corvallis school.

AN ADVANTAGE OF WAR HAS BEEN DISCOVERED

NUMBER OF QUIZZES MATERIALLY REDUCED BECAUSE OF THE HIGH COST OF PAPER.

800 Sheets of Examination Paper Issued Yesterday Forecast Tests.

The number of quizzes has been cut at the University because of the war—the only war-time advantage of college to manifest itself.

The order comes from L. H. Johnson, University comptroller, and thence through the faculty, which has issued the order to professors to cut down the use of paper for quizzes.

Paper used by different classes in the University for examination questions averages about thirty dollars per month, while the cost used to be only fifteen dollars. Five hundred sheets now cost forty cents, they used to cost twenty cents.

That the faculty members are getting behind the paper conservation movement is manifest by the attitude of the professors. An order has been issued to urge all students to write a small hand and some professors are now permitting the use of paper on both sides of the sheet. It is the idea of Professor R. W. Thacher, of the public speaking department, who was the first to allow students to write "on both sides and sign your name on the margin."

A quiz period is on right now in practically all departments of the University, as is shown by an issue of 8,000 sheets of quiz paper yesterday. It's always that way in quiz time according to Mr. Johnson, and all the students have to do is watch the issue of paper to their professors and—preparedness.

Journalism, law and commerce departments are the heaviest users of the University's paper, and a laboratory fund is being considered for adoption for these departments to allow them to pay for their own paper.

Inquiries made by the business office of the University show that the University of Washington does not give paper for use in examinations. Replies from other universities have not yet been received to the Registrar's questions, which were sent to practically all the universities of the Northwest and to some eastern schools.

SENIORS ADVERTISE BIG PAJAMA PARADE

Thirty Chant of Friday Night's Pre-Football Demonstration.

Chanting "Friday-Friday-Pajama Parade Friday," as they marched, thirty members of the noble class of '18 went through every building on the campus in turn Wednesday morning to advertise the big pajama parade on the eve of the Idaho game.

Starting from the senior bench, the leather-lunged wearers of the sombre-ro penetrated every nook and corner where students could be found.

At the head of the procession, "Black" Blackaby kept time on a bass drum, while a couple of freshmen at the rear emulated sandwich men with large signs hung around their necks.

After the tour of the campus, the column wound up at the starting place with yells for Oregon, the "best" class in the University, and "Jimmy" Gilbert.

CROCKATT VISITS HIS BROTHER

Ernest Crockatt, brother of Professor Peter Crockatt, was in Eugene yesterday on a short visit before leaving for Canada to join a Canadian ambulance corps. Crockatt graduated from Gonzaga University last year and immediately enlisted. He was called out a week ago and obtained leave to see his brother before reporting.
