Bulky Warriors From South Are Sent Home Conquered by Light, Green Team of Scrappers.

MIRACLE IS DUE TO BEZDEK

touchdown. Steers kicked goal each time, and the quarter ended with the lemon-yellow leading by 14 points.

It was in the next period that Oregon succeeded in scoring on California for the third time, showing clearly that their triumph in the second period had not been accidental. The ball was advanced down the field by line bucks by Couch and Steers, and by forward passes, Steers to Medley, until the oval was on the seven-yard line. Then the ball was given to Medley, who carried it over. Steers kicked goal. Score, 21-0.

Couch Saves Touchdown

Simes, substituting for Hooper, broke into the game early in the fourth quarter, tearing away for a 19-yard end run, which looked good for a California touchdown, until he was overtaken by Couch, on Oregon's 25-yard line. It was the only time during the last three periods of the game that the Oregon goal was in danger. After the first period the ball was held well over toward the California goal.

Three men by their brilliant play placed their names on the athletic honor roll of the University for all time. They are Bill Steers, quarter; "Fod" Maison, end, and "Dot" Medley, halfback. They were the men who made the victory possible.

Steers Electrifies Crowd

Steers, star for Oregon in all the games this season, played his best game of football, Saturday. Although falling down in his punting yardage, which was not badly needed in the California game, he was accurate in his three chances for goal kicks, electrified the 2500 fans repeatedly during the four periods of the game, by his open-field running and was seen to good advantage in the line bucks, and forward passing departments.

Although he only shared the honors with Steers and Medley, Maison was perhaps the greatest surprise of the game. Maison took the field Saturday for his first game of college football against the 180-pound end of the Gold Bear squad. Maison weighs 140. Notwithstanding this, Maison was a real star, perfectly at home on the gridiron, breaking up California's attempted end runs and forward passes, and in addition doing a little yardage work himself, intercepting two passes. And Maison, with all the rest of Bezdek's and Hayward's men, remained in the game from start to finish. No substitutions were made for Oregon—another tribute to Bill Hayward, trainer, California made five.

Medley Does Good Work

"Dot" Medley, halfback, completes Oregon's triumvirate of stars. Medley, like Maison, had little football experience when he went in the game to face the heavy Californians. However, he soon developed as Steers' chief ally in the forward passing department of a game, which early turned out to be an ariel game. Whenever yardage was necessary for Oregon, the Steers-to-Medley route was effective. Medley was also active in the line bucks. He secured two of the three Oregon touchdowns, once by a seven-yard line rush, and again by carrying the ball for 30 yards gain, after receiving a forward pass from Steers.

Bill Hayward's statement that "the eleven men of the Oregon team are the eleven great surprises in the football world," speaks for the rest of Oregon's fighting lineup. Because of the reputation of the more experienced and heavier California line, more than usual interest was placed on the Oregon linemen in Saturday's game. For the first time in two years, Bezdek changed his style of play for the lineup, and instructed his linemen to lie down in the line, before the attack of the heavy Californians. Using this method Bezdek was able to make a line that could not be penetrated even after repeated attempts by Andy Smith's giants. In the offensive play the Oregon line, with Maddock, Macey, Leslie, Berg, Nelson, Wilson and Maison, was far superior to the Californians in charging the line and opening up holes for the backfield. After the game Sam Dolan, of O. A. C., and for years a referee at Northwest conference games, said:

Bezdek's Work Revelation

"I have seen Oregon play their games in the early part of the season this year, and I know what material Bezdek had to work with, to develop his present team. What I saw in the California game is a revelation to me. There is not another coach in the country that could do Bezdek's work for this year. With practically nothing to start with, Bezdek has made a real team and that, too, in one season."

Bezdek, along with the fans, who witnessed the game, and the student body, expressed surprise at the end of the game. For, while few of the student body itself, expected defeat, not even the fondest Oregon man expected such an overwhelming victory.

"I can't believe it," said the coach. "It was the Oregon fight, but it is beyond me. I never saw such a fight before."

For the first time this year, the old Oregon spirit of the days before "war college" was back on the campus. Rooters turning out, believing that the real Oregon spirit "that is stronger under defeat and adversity" was sorely needed at the game. Under the direction of the yell king staff, assisted in several yells by Don Orput, graduate and former yell leader, the rooters showed well that they had that spirit. They held it until the surprise of easy victory set them wild.

Shock For California

That California is undergoing with the Oregon students, Coach Bezdek, and the people of Oregon, a period of surprise over the total collapse of the dope sheet, is evidenced by a dispatch printed in the San Francisco Chronicle, just before the game, predicting that Oregon would lose by at least three touchdowns, if the field was not muddy, hindering the Californians, who were used to playing on a turf field.

And that is another point which must not be forgotten in considering Oregon's victory. The field was in almost perfect shape, and about as fast a gridiron as is possible for Oregon.

The lineup and summary of the game follows:

Oregon	Pos.	California
Maison	L E	Gifford
Macey	L T	Gordon
Maddock	L G	Farmer
Leslie	C	Hall
Berg	R G	Brown
Nelson	R T	Richardson

FRESHMAN GIRLS MAY BE BARRED FROM 'VARSITY

One-Year Rule Discussed by Women's Basketball Team; Payment of Dues Postponed.

Whether the freshman girls should be allowed to play on the Varsity basketball team, was discussed at a meeting of the Women's athletic association, held in the Women's gymnasium on Tuesday.

Speakers both in favor and against, spoke, those in favor of allowing the freshmen to play, said that the best material should be on the Varsity team, regardless of whether it was found in the freshman class or in the upper classes, and that freshmen might not be able to go longer than their freshman year, and that they should have as many advantages as possible, while here.

Those on the opposite side, held the opinion that to make the Varsity team next year, should be an inspiration for the freshmen, but as this is the first year, when we expect to play inter-scholastic games, that the upperclassmen and sophomores, who have been here longer should have the first chance. Voting on the question, however, was postponed till the next meeting.

As a "war measure," the payment of dues to the association, to which one must belong, before he can play on the class teams, was postponed until the second term, as it was thought that some people now were giving every cent they could spare, to the Friendship fund, and could pay their dues more conveniently later.

Mary Mathis was elected as reporter for the association, Nancy Fields, custodian, and Frances Elizabeth Baker, as head of baseball.

It is intended to hold bi-weekly or tri-weekly meetings through the school year, and to take up each session a study of the important commercial problems of the day. The meetings always will be open to the general public.

At the meeting this week, a musical entertainment will be provided and refreshments will be served.

GIRL PARTY IN MEN'S GYM

Red Cross Work, Dancing and Program to Fill Busy Afternoon.

All the women of the University are invited to assemble at the men's gymnasium next Saturday at 2:30, when Red Cross work and dancing will fill a busy afternoon. The affair is to be in the form of a lottery and the "men" are supposed to bring fifteen cents, with which to provide refreshments.

Red Cross work will occupy the time until 4 o'clock, and the rest of the afternoon will be spent in dancing.

Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Dean Elizabeth Fox and Miss Ida Turney will be patronesses of the affair. A program will be given while the girls are doing Red Cross work.

ORDNANCE CLASS STARTS WORK AT ONCE

First Drill Started Under Sergeant Wild. Half Are University Men

The second class in Ordnance accounting started its work at the School of Commerce yesterday, with the full membership of the class responding to roll call.

The men took their first military drill Monday morning, under Sergeant Erwin K. Wild, who was sent here from the government arsenal, at Rock Island, Ill., for that purpose. Mr. Wild will also conduct a class in Ordnance paper work. He is a former student at the University of Michigan, and in addition to having had special training in Ordnance accounting, has, for the last six months, been in practical charge of some of the important details at the Rock Island arsenal.

Prof. C. C. Jeremiah will continue to teach the principal courses in this department. The French instruction, as in the first class, will be given by V. B. DeLory.

Some computations made on Monday revealed that the average age of this class is approximately 29 years, which is slightly higher than that of the first class.

Every man in the class either has had one or more years of University training, or has had its equivalent in actual business experience. Nearly half the members are University graduates, six of them being Oregon alumni.

Prof. Jeremiah has notified seven alternates to report in the places of the men who were rejected on account of physical defects on Saturday. They are expected to arrive here within the next few hours.

HERE'S ONE FOR THE BOOK

Hammersley Pulls Boner—Asks Prexy For Pencil

Here's one for the Book!

When last Saturday's Homecoming dance had barely gotten under way and the beautifully gowned maidens and fair men begun to assemble in the spacious armory, in readiness to trip the light fantastic, in order to rid themselves of a super-abundance of Oregon spirit, the president of the University, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, entered the room, to take their places in the receiving line. The desire to have a full program, and thus insure a good time, however, seemed to keep most of these present busily occupied, and consequently the highest official received less than usual attention from the vast mob.

However, he was not to be entirely forgotten. There was one who noticed that President Campbell had arrived, one who is known by the frosh as "High Mogul," namely, none other than Joe Hammersley, president of the first year class.

This one member of the large throng did not announce to the assemblage the arrival of the head of the receiving line. Instead being sadly depressed due to a lack of success in search of a common article of everyday use, he rushed madly up and wildly cried:

"Please, Mr. Campbell, you didn't by any chance happen to bring an extra pencil did you?"

The president turned around, and when he saw the source of the question exclaimed:

"No, I'm sorry that I did not. I had intended to, but it completely slipped my mind."
