

Varsity Team Eager to Combat Aggies

Victory Appears More Likely Because of Triumph Over California; O. A. C. Men Powerful.

Bruins Have Many Alibis

Say Oregon Could Not Rush Ball More Than Fifty Yards Against Line.

With one seemingly impossible feat achieved, the Varsity is working overtime to accomplish another—namely, to nail the Beaver skin up with the Bear hide, on Thanksgiving Day, in Portland.

Same Lineup to Be Used Oregon's unexpected victory was a disagreeable awakening for Aggie fans, and already Pipal's camp is sending out doleful stories about weakness and injuries to the Corvallis warriors, which may or may not be exaggerated.

Sophomore Pigskin Artists Win 12-0

Frosh Lose First Contest of Interclass Series by Two Touchdowns; Tricks Fail.

Both Teams Spring New Stuff on Football Fans, But Attempts Fail.

Amid the cheers of more than a hundred enthusiastic fans, the sophomore class football team ran rampant on Tuesday afternoon, and defeated the frosh warriors, 12 to 0.

After five minutes of puffing and panting, the second-year men put across the first score, when Lind registered a touchdown on an off-tackle play.

Hams Kicks High One

Hammersley, kicking for the wearers of the green, surprised all the onlookers when he booted the pigskin over the goal line on the kickoff.

At exactly 4:30 Coach Fowler, and his eleven huskies, returned on the field to continue the fray.

Deans Talk in Class Meeting—"Don't say Hello to Faculty," says Dr. Straub.

Freshman memory of correct etiquette was refreshed yesterday morning, at the class meeting held in Villard hall, by a talk on the subject, given by Dean Elizabeth Fox.

- 1.—Always introduce the gentleman to the lady. 2.—Always introduce the younger lady to the elder. 3.—Always arise upon the entrance of a visitor, and endeavor to make him feel at home.

Dean Straub asked the students to refrain from greeting members of the faculty by the unconventional, "hello," and suggested that they substitute, "good morning," "how do you do?" or "dean, lend me a quarter."

Ned Hammersley, freshman president, asked that all those going to Corvallis for the annual O. A. C. freshman game, to stand, but there were none in the house.

William Casey, of Kappa Sigma, announced the twelfth annual "frosh" smoker, to take place in the Kappa Sigma house, on the seventh of December.

Frosh Eleven Will Fight Young Aggies

Coach Is Hoping for Victory; Team in Good Condition; Rooters to Go Along Saturday.

No Score Against Walker's Warriors in Three Games; Rooks' Line Crossed.

Coach Dean Walker's freshman eleven will be put to the acid test on next Saturday afternoon, when they will be pitted against the Oregon Aggie Rooks, in Corvallis.

The rook team has played two games so far this season. Early in the season they bucked up against the Chemawa Indians, and defeated that strong aggregation 9 to 0.

Stars Gain Points

In the Chemawa game, Jimmie Cameron, from Jefferson High school, of Portland, picked up a fumble and ran almost ninety yards through a broken field, for a touchdown.

Two weeks ago they played the army team, which the Marines defeated in Tacoma, and held them to a 20-0 score, and actually had the soldiers "going" part of the time.

Frosh Have No Defeats

Coach Walker's team has been fortunate in that it has played three games

OREGON'S WALNUT TRADE LIMITED ONLY BY OUTPUT

Fred Groner, Prominent Grower, Says Home Product Is Superior to California.

Oregon-grown walnuts were served to the students in the class in commercial and industrial survey, of the School of Commerce, on Wednesday afternoon.

Fred Groner, of Hillsboro, one of the prominent walnut growers of the state, addressed the class on the commercial possibilities of the walnut industry in this state.

Walnut trees should line the highways of the state, he asserted, and should be planted as shade trees in place of maples, as they are equally ornamental.

Mr. Groner is a former student of the University, having attended 25 years ago. This was his second visit to the campus since then.

MUST PAY WAR TAX ON FOOT BALL GAMES

Ten per Cent Levy to Be Collected With Each Admission to Multnomah Field on Thanksgiving.

Student Body May Have to Make Up Duty on Marine and California Games.

A war tax of ten per cent will be collected with each admission at the Oregon-O. A. C. football game on Multnomah field in Portland, November 29.

The new order comes as a reversal to the ruling made earlier in the season by Mr. Miller, that no war tax would be made on football tickets.

The protest of the treasury department over Mr. Miller's early ruling, will make it necessary, it is feared, that the student body of the University will have to pay, from its own funds, the war tax which according to the treasury, should have been collected with each admission.

If the tax is imposed, it will cost the students approximately $200 to make up the tax for the Oregon-California game, played here last Saturday, according to Mr. Tiffany.

GREEN SHIRT WANTED AS SOPHOMORE'S EMBLEM

Class Wishes Mark of Destruction Like Frosh Cap, Junior Pants, Senior Sombreros

Sophomore men want to wear green flannel shirts as a distinguishing mark from other classes on the University of Oregon campus.

Ned Fowler, president of the class, said that he agreed with the sentiments expressed, and appointed a committee of Pixley, Knudsen and Arthur Berg to meet with the student council and discuss the question.

Claire Holdridge urged that sophomores help to keep alive the Oregon traditions. "There is a great lack of upper classmen this year," he said.

Lyle McCroskey reported that all arrangements are made for the class acquaintance party, to be held next Saturday night, in the men's gymnasium.

Eva Hansen, Claire Holdridge and Herman Lind requested that all members of the class of 1920 take active part in college activities.

Hugo Bezdok will have the opportunity for which he has striven for ten years, to claim a victory over Washington, though it be but a technical one.

However, there are one or two little things which entered the making of (Continued on page three)

SOCCER SEASON ENDED

Saturday's Game With O. A. C. Closes Varsity Schedule.

Team Handicapped by Loss of Regular Coach and Lack of Experience.

With the finish of Saturday's soccer game with O. A. C., the Varsity soccer season came to an end, so far as outside games are concerned.

FEW VETERANS OUT

The team was composed for the most part of men who were new at the game, twenty-five candidates answered the first call for practice, but scarcely more than 10 or 15 turned out every night.

Although both games were lost, many men on the team gained knowledge which will be of use to them next year and together with material developed in the interclass games, enough players ought to be on hand next year to give the game a good impetus.
