DOUGHNUT LEAGUE HAS FIRST PRACTICE GAMES

Sigma Nus Defeat Delta Taus; A. T. O. Quintet Downed by Kappa Sigis. Lack of Practice Shown.

The first practice games of the Doughnut Basketball League were played yesterday afternoon when the Sigma Nus defeated the Delta Taus by a 15 to 2 count and the Kappa Sigis downed the A. T. O. quintet 8 to 8. The games were merely preliminary contests to the official schedule which will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays.

A decided lack of accuracy in shooting was noticed in yesterday's contests. This was attributed to lack of practice because of the earliness of the season.

The games after Christmas will be carried on in the same way that they were a year ago. Two separate leagues will be formed and the winners of the respective divisions will play a three-game series to determine who shall hold the cup for the ensuing year.

Dean Walker has been appointed to take charge of this branch of the work.

This afternoon the Oregon club played the Betas and the Phi Deltis were pitted against the Sigma Chis. Tomorrow the Sigma Nus meet the A. T. O. quintet and the Fijis will try their strength against the Dorm aggregation.

Mr. Clarke is head coach of the football teams at Camp Allentown, Pa., the mobilization headquarters of the army ambulance service, where there are 5,000 men in training for overseas service.

"Dud" is remembered as one of Oregon's greatest football heroes. He was also a clever baseball player, and always a star in college theatricals. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

For the past two years Mr. Clarke had been engaged in mining at Oatman, Arizona. Last spring, he enlisted with the Pasadena, California, Red Cross ambulance unit, as first sergeant, and went immediately to Camp Allentown, where he has just received his commission. He had several years' military training as a member of a Portland company of the national guard.

While still serving as sergeant with the Pasadena unit, the company showed its appreciation of "Dud" by presenting him with a gold military watch.

NEW COURSES GIVEN IN SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Dr. Landsbury Announces Six Classes to Be Formed for Work Next Term.

Sight-Singing, Harmony, Pipe Organ, Piano Will Be Studied.

Six new courses will be offered in the school of music, beginning with the new term. Dr. J. J. Landsbury, head of the department, wishes the special attention of students who are interested in pipe organ to go to the organ department, which is now opened, and is headed by John S. Evans. Those who wish to study will have the use of the three manual Austin organ at the First Methodist church.

For High School Teachers

Band organization and conducting, under Albert Perfect, is a course just arranged, and will be offered especially to prospective high school teachers. An opportunity to learn how to arrange, conduct, and maintain a band, or small orchestra, is considered important as a side issue in high school work. In the opinion of Dr. Landsbury, the knowledge will undoubtedly prove a drawing card for a good position.

Another course beginning with the new term is sight singing. It is designed for students who are interested in singing, but who cannot read music. It aims to take up the reading in a scientific manner, and to enable students, who cannot make the glee club, because of this lack of knowledge, to be able to join.

For Mixed Glee Club

"We wish a large enough enrollment to make a mixed glee club, which will be subsidiary to the main glee clubs, and from which we can draw singers," said Dr. Landsbury.

No previous musical knowledge is required and no fee will be charged. The class will meet once a week.

A special class in harmony will be begun at the beginning of the new term, under Mr. Evans, and an entirely new class to be offered by him, will be technique of the piano.

Mrs. Anna L. Beck will teach a class in public school music.

At the Christmas vespers, representatives from the different lands, dressed in appropriate costumes, will tell of Christmas, as it is observed in their respective countries. Christmas songs and decorations will help convey the season's spirit.

The program will be largely musical, the numbers being in charge of Mr. Evans, of the school of music.

CANDY FOR SOLDIERS TO BE WAR VARIETY

Fifty Boxes Yet to Be Pledged for Camp Lewis Men; Monday Latest Date to Submit Gift.

Miss Tingle Will Give Sugarless Recipes; Tooze Thanks Girls.

More than fifty boxes of candy still remain to be pledged if the boys of Company K under Lieutenant Leslie Tooze are not to spend a candyless Christmas, and the candy with the nickel for freight expenses is to be in Dean Elizabeth Fox's office by next Monday at 4 o'clock.

"It must be war candy," says Helene DeLano, president of Women's league, "According to Miss Tingle there should be not more than one pound of sugar to four pounds of other ingredients. In making the candy not less than three girls must co-operate so as to have a variety, and it will also be an economy of materials. Miss Tingle has several recipes for war candies which can be obtained from her."

Lieutenant Tooze Writes.

Miss DeLano has received a letter from Lieutenant Tooze which is as follows: "I cannot tell you how very much I appreciate the whole-hearted support of the women of Oregon in their willingness to co-operate in making Christmas more pleasant for the National army men in our company. The ready response with which the suggestion met is characteristically Oregonian."

"I hope you people down there are really able to appreciate just what gifts such as those you are to give mean to the soldiers. All of them are away from home, many are without homes or close remembrances could not be very pleasant. But above all, they will appreciate the spirit of the gift. To them they will be testimonials that the people at home are behind them."

Girls to Address Boxes.

"I think your suggestion of addressing each man's box a good one, and I shall send you a complete list of names shortly. We, of course, have said nothing to our men about the candy, as we want them to be surprised, but all the officers of the company join with me in thanking the Women's League for their kindness."

TO RAISE MUSIC STANDARDS

Dr. Landsbury Plans Test System to Discredit Poor Teaching.

"We propose to get rid of the inefficient private music teacher, just as fast as we can," said Dr. John Landsbury, in outlining his policy as president of the State Music Teachers' association.

"The problem at present before this organization, is that of granting credits for work done outside the University. There are three ways of doing this,—examining the teacher, examining the student, or outlining a definite course for the work. We can enforce compliance with our rules by refusing admission to the University school of music, to those who cannot pass examinations based on theme. Our aim, in this, of course, is to accredit those who are doing good work, and to protect the public against poor teachers.

"To arrange a course that is definite, and yet liberal enough,—that sums up the whole question."

TEACH MUSIC IN SCHOOLS

University Students Organize Glee Clubs Among Children.

Pupils in Mrs. Anna Landsbury Beck's public school music class are very much interested in the first-hand experience in this subject, which they have been getting in the Eugene schools. The girls have visited the grade schools of the city and formed glee schools among the children.

Two girls work together, one as accompanist, and the other as vocal teacher. Both the school children and the University girls are so enthusiastic about this work, which is a new feature that it will probably be continued.

The girls who are doing this work are Rena Adam, Esther Banks, Marie Bartness, Josephine Getchell, Hester Hurd, Margaret Mansfield, Fern Murphy, Marian Neil, Reba Macklin, Anastasia O'Farrell, Hazel Radabaugh, Gayle Roberts, Myrtle Ross, Genevieve Rowley, Olive Zimmerman, Helen Watts.

SEVENTY-FIVE MEN FOR NEXT ORDNANCE CLASS

Professor Jeremiah Receives Word That 25 More May Be Chosen for January Group.

Much joy reigned in the ordnance department of the school of commerce, last night when a telegram was received from Senator Charles L. McNary, authorizing C. C. Jeremiah, head of the department, to select seventy-five men instead of fifty men, for the next class in ordnance work, to begin in January. Mr. Jeremiah was forced, when selecting his third class of fifty members from a list of over two hundred candidates, to turn down the applications of a great many men, who are well prepared to take the course. Interest will be high now among those men whose applications were formerly turned down to learn who will be accepted in the next bunch of twenty-five.

Word was received from members of the first ordnance corps, who are located at San Antonio, Texas, that the boys like the work they have been given there very much. They find that the training they received from mother in kitchen duties, are very applicable for they are required to wash their own dishes. The men from Oregon are camped with the ordnance men from the universities of California and Chicago.

PLENTY OF JOBS OPEN FOR MEN IN UNIVERSITY

Opportunities Numerous for Earning Room and Board Says Y. M. Secretary.

Plenty of positions are open for men who want to earn their way through college, particularly opportunities for earning both room and board, says James McPherson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Macpherson has had some of these desirable positions on his list for a month, and they are still unfilled. If the situation continues as it has been, there will be no difficulty for a boy to get something permanent to do, and Mr. Macpherson believes that this should be a drawing card in bringing students to the University next term. He has come across some boys who felt that they could not enter college in the middle of the term, and get enough work to do, but there will be plenty of varied positions, he says.

The scarcity of labor in Eugene, caused by enlistments, and the University men leaving daily to join the colors, intensify the situation, and positions and opportunities for all kinds of work will probably increase as the year goes on.

Women except in a very few instances, will not be able to take over the positions left vacant by the men, who have been on the Y. M. employment list. The work largely, is heavy work, such as putting in wood, tending furnaces, etc., and running delivery wagons, and delivering papers. A few positions in stores and odd typewriting jobs, will be the only things open to women.

PLEDGES FOR FRIENDSHIP FUND MUST BE PAID NOW

Telegram Urging Promptness Received by Dean Fox From Coast Executive.

The pledges towards the Student Friendship fund must be paid right away, according to announcement made by Dean Elizabeth Fox, who has received a telegram from Helen Fulton of San Francisco, who is the Coast executive. "Although the million is pledged," said Miss Fox, "it will not serve its purpose until paid."

The University has pledged $3,010 and of this amount only between $1200 and $1300 has been paid in. According to word sent by Miss Fulton the western division which includes the whole coast, has pledged $109,330 of which $21,000 has been paid.

TOOZE WILL GIVE LECTURES

Former Oregon Student Gets Material From Library Here.

A letter received on Monday from Lamar Tooze, '18, first lieutenant of infantry at Camp Lewis, American Lake, by M. H. Douglass, University librarian, asks for books which Tooze is planning to use in preparation for a course of lectures he will give the men of his company. He said in his letter, "I enjoy life here very much, and I like my situation much better than at Devens, Massachusetts."

"SOMETHING NEW" IN NEXT GUILD PLAY

Production of "Little Dog Laughed," Play by Fergus Reddie, to Be Put on for First Time.

Thursday and Friday Evenings and Saturday Matinee to Be Scene of Performance.

"The Little Dog Laughed," which will be staged by the class in dramatic interpretation, the coming week-end, is the biggest play of the season. The cast includes more than thirty people, besides several children. Rehearsals, which were begun before the last play, are progressing satisfactorily, and the play promises to be in fine shape, by Thursday night.

One summer the old house is rented by regular folks from the city,—and then the play.

The entire action takes place in one room. This is to be an exact replica of a room in Professor Reddie's old home in Boston; a room that is nearly a hundred years old, for the house was built in 1820. The costumes will be no less a feature than the setting, the characters representing a cat, a cow, and a little dog, not to mention Old Mother Hubbard, and Mother Goose.

$20 FOR WOMAN'S BUILDING

Success of University Postcard Sale Encourages Further Effort.

About $20 was received at the sale of the postcards for the Women's building, held in four of the downtown stores last Saturday. A number of the University women took part in the sale. Next Saturday the sale will be continued in the Bank of Commerce, the First National Bank, Ax Billy's store, McMorrin & Washburne, Hill's, and Woolworth's.
