

MAT MEN TO MEET SEATTLE WRESTLERS

Tiffany Announces Match With University of Washington Squad to Be Held February 16.

Coach Grey Issues Call for More Recruits; Two Chances to Win Letter.

Final arrangements have just been completed by Graduate Manager Tiffany for a wrestling meet between the University of Washington and Varsity, in Seattle on February 16. Word was received yesterday to this effect from the Seattle manager.

This is the first time that an Oregon team has ever competed against the rivals of the north in this form of sport. Washington has always turned out a very strong mat squad in former years, and undoubtedly will do likewise this season.

So far little has been done in the way of preparation of the Oregon team. A few men have been turning out since the Christmas holidays, but as a rule very few have answered the call of Coach Grey for recruits. Quite a number of last year's men are on hand, but many more are needed to put the best possible team against Dobie's institution at the northern city.

In the featherweight division, Simoli, Flegal and Philips are fighting strong to represent the University. These three men have been turning out regularly and competition should be keen in the tryouts.

J. B. McKinney and Powers appear the best in the lightweight division. Both are out of condition and will require much practice before they will be able to show their strength.

In the 135-pound class a large number of men are desirous of making the trip north. Ed Padden, Elmer Howard, "Chuck" Dundore and Dwight Wilson are the men who are pitting their strength against each other in the gymnasium each day. Dundore and Wilson showed the best form last year, but it is doubtful who is to battle in the finals this season.

The weakest division of the entire squad is the light-heavyweight section. Thus far Harold Grey has been the only man turning out regularly, and it is now doubtful whether or not he will be able to compete against the Washington contingent. A few weeks before Christmas he was troubled with appendicitis and the doctor has ordered him not to wrestle during the coming season. Thus, there is an opening for any man who weighs in the neighborhood of 148 pounds, regardless of whether or not he has ever seen a mat.

Thurston Laraway and George Taylor are the most likely looking candidates in the heavyweight section. Taylor represented the University in the O. A. C. meet last year, but was defeated.

About a week before the meet, tryouts are to be held to pick the contestants in each division.

Besides the Washington meet the grapplers will be pitted against the Corvallis college some time in February.

Y. M. MIX REVIVES OLD OREGON SPIRIT

Pep Developed in Basketball Rally Which Is Among Big Features of Evening.

Dean Walker Speaks for Sport; Boxing and Wrestling Bouts Lively.

The Y. M. stag mix given Friday night in the men's gymnasium, while it drew a slim crowd, was full of pep from beginning to end, and the fact that it also served as a basketball rally, brought forth some of the "Oregon spirit" which has been dormant since the close of the football season.

Those who attended last night found that a departure had been made from the usual Y. M. mix program, and a real card of boxing and wrestling matches had been arranged. The star boxing bout of the evening was put on by Trowbridge and Chapman, who volunteered to put on a match. Harold Grey, who refereed all of the bouts, call it a draw.

On the wrestling card Woodruff and Wilson put up the best exhibition, with Woodruff getting the decision. In the first wrestling match Flegal was given the decision over McKinney. Huston received the decision over Beggs in a boxing bout.

Moffatt Polishes Off Two.

Moffatt had little trouble disposing of Keessel, who was drafted from the crowd. Moffatt won in about a minute. Wigel then took up the fight, but he had no chance with his experienced opponent.

In the early part of the evening short talks were made by Clinton Thienes, president of the Y. M., Dean Walker and Dr. A. E. Caswell. Thienes explained to the new students the reason for the mix, and also gave a short talk upon the college Y. M. C. A.

Dean Walker asked for the undivided support of the student body for basketball. Walker asked the men to stay in college, as the military training offered here will make them many times more valuable to their country when they are called. The doughnut basketball league will continue, as well as all branches of gymnasium work offered before.

Khaki Overalls Coming.

Colonel Leader, who was unable to be present, sent word that the khaki overalls would be here in a day or two and will be handled through the Co-op. Including leggins, the outfit will cost approximately $4.

A generous supply of apples and doughnuts finished the program. Thurston Laraway and Ray Couch were in charge of the affair.

The date has not been set as yet, but it is a certainty that the meet will be held. This gives two meets in which the men will be able to earn their letters.
