While Governor Withycombe inspected the various parts of the University drill, he was told by Colonel Leader of the plans which have been started, and of the work which will be done within the next few months, he was impressed by the fact that all of the military trainmg which has been done by University students, and all of the trenches and war preparations, have been made within the past month. The governor and s party lunched at the Sigma Chi fraernity house, at noon,

Regents to Attend Formal Opening Early in February.

About 50 University women, the residents of Hendricks Hall, the new dormitory for women, will dine in their new home Thursday evening, January 31, by which date the hall will be completed. The formal opening will take place some time early in February. Open house will then be held for the University and townspeople. The regents will be present, and a program for the occasion is now being prepared.

Dean Elizabeth Fox and Miss Tirza Dinsdale, Y. W. C. A. secretary, will be the head residents in the hall. Mrs. Eina Prescott Datson will be house manager.

University of Oregon women made 2768 Red Cross compresses last week, as one way of doing their bit to win the war. They are spending a thousand hours a week working for the Red

Three hundred and fourteen girls signed up for three hours each, and some have promised four and five hours as a part of their regularly weekly schedule. This is equivalent in time to taking an additional curriculum course.

The first day that the Bungalow was opened only 95 girls worked because of lack of regulation white aprons and caps required. They made 404 compresses.

Five-Minute Extensions of Time; Lack of Science Shown.

Captains Elected From Squads Friendly Hall Scores Easy Victory From Betas; Mc-Arthur Is Star.

> The hardest fought game of the season was staged last Saturday, when the Phi Delts and the Fijis played to a tie, the final score being 8 to 8, after 10 minutes' overtime. The game started Oregon. with the two teams evenly matched, and at the close of the regular period the score stood 4 to 4, so an extra fiveminute quarter was called, but neither team was able to score. After allowing the opponents to have a short breathing spell, Referee Dean Walker called another extra period, which resulted in each team scoring four more points. Both teams were too near all in to allow another extra period, so the game was called, allowing the tie to

Neither team showed a great amount of basketball science, and there was a lack of the rough stuff that has been pulled in some of the games. The Fijis remembered the loss to the Oregon Club, and started out like a bunch of world-besters, but the Phi Delts were not to be out-done, and kept the ball in the center of the floor most of the Phi Delts Even Score.

In the last extra period, the Fijis started in to win the game, and scored two baskets in quick succession before the Phi Delts got their wind, but although this looked like enough of lead to win the game, the Phi Delta ozew mussed things up in the last two minutes, and evened the score. It was the first game of the season for some of the Fijis, and they showed lack of practice on one or two occasions.

Friendly Hall simply knocked the Beta crew dead and took their first game in nice shape, the final outcome being 12 McArthur, supported by four other Dorm men, was the whole show Nothing was too hard for him, and whenever he tossed one toward the basket. gravity, or some other peculiar force, seemed to reach out and get the sphere and put it in.

Commonwealth Speakers Are Not Yet Chosen; Problems of Reconstruction Will Be Considered.

The commonwealth conference this year will probably be held in May, according to Professor F. G Young, head of the economics department. The public mind has been so engrossed with national and international problems that Professor Young decided that it would not be wise for him to go on with the plan for holding the conference in Janu-

No definite speakers or topics have been decided as yet. The general idea is to make the program not one of strictly state problems, but to consider a program of reconstruction after the war, with problems of special interest to

"For example," said Professor Young. 'a bill is to be brought before congress for the logging off of Oregon land, and another for a plan of uniform waterpower for the state. The University is able to get in touch with men who have a keener insight into these topics than the average citizen, and it is the purpose of the conference to have such men speak."

Multnomah Club Held to Close Score in Oregon's First Basketball Game of Season.

VETERAN TEAM WINS 36-19

"Better Than I Expected." Is Coach Hayward's Comment on Contest.

Displaying far more cleverness and fight than the Varsity fans had been led to believe they possessed, Oregon held Multnomah, a team of veterans to a 36-19 score, in the first basketball game of the season, in Hayward hall Saturday night. Before the game predictions were freely made that the lemon-yellow would be snowed under something like 40-8, and the really close game was a distinct surprise.

Billy Morrison earned a place among the regulars by his sensational playing. He was here, there and everywhere, squirming and twisting his four feet and ten inches out of the reach of the red-and-white tossers. Ray Twomey, who guarded Billy, said after the game that he was one of the hardest men to keep track of he had ever played against. Bill shot two baskets and five fouls out of twelve attempts.

The combination which Bill used to start the game proved the best of the evening. Dow Wilson and Bill Steers, at the guard positions, did excellent work in passing to the forwards. Steers was a little inclined to go down the floor too often, and as a result his man, Stinson, was high-point-getter of the evening, with seven ringers. Stinson also. threw four fouls, bringing his total up

Oregon jumped into the lead 15 seconds after the opening whistle, when Bill Morrison converted the first foul called. The clubmen soon forged ahead on a long throw by Stinson, and from then on they were never headed. The count at half time stood 17-6.

The battle waxed fast and furious in the second half, bringing the spectators to their feet time and again. Oregon started one rally that netted two baskets

La Grande High.

Coach Walker Promises Money's Worth. Followers of freshman basketball will receive their first opportunity to see the first-year five in action on Thursday afternoon, when they will be pitted against the fast La Grande high school team in the gymnasium. This will be the first contest of the season, and probably the last before the games with the O. A. C. rooks in Corvallis in two weeks.

Coach Walker, disappointed at the showing his proteges made against the Eugene high team last Thursday, settled down on a strenmous course for the remainder of this week. The squad has been practicing till after 6 every eve-

As great expense will be incdrred by the bringing of this team to the campus, student body tickets will not admit to the game. Instead, a charge of 19 cents will be levied for admittance.

Coach Walker, when interviewed yes terday, made a plea for attendance at secretary of the student council of the game against the fast prep school

"It is costing us a large sum to bring this team here," he said, "and unless we have a good crowd, it is doubtful whether any other competition can contest and one which will be well worth your money." The game is scheduled for 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the University gymnasium. The coach was not certain today as to his lineup, but it probably will be Brandon, Chapman, Houston and Starr.
