WAR NEEDS TO GUIDE WORK THIS SUMMER

Special Emphasis to Be Placed Upon Military Aspects of Teaching and Training.

Courses Are Designed for Women Who Will Take Places Vacated by Men.

Summer school this year will have its courses arranged with special reference to the war-time needs of Oregon's educational system, declared Dr. Joseph Schafer, dean of the University summer school session. Military courses and drill, under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel John Leader, commandant of the University battalion, and military tactics instructor, will give opportunity for men now teaching and who expect to enter the service, to train for commissions. Special attention will also be given to courses which fit women to take the places vacated by men in the schools. Miss Lillian Tingle, professor of household arts, will give lectures designed to help solve the food problem.

Even if many of the instructors enter the service, yet the educational organization must be maintained for after the war, said Dr. Schafer.

Man Calls for Teachers.

"Since there is a larger proportion of men in high schools than in other schools, it follows that the largest proportion of vacancies next fall will be in the high schools, he pointed out.

"Already the University teachers' employment bureau receives more calls for teachers than can be answered."

In order to fit grade teachers and women to take the places formerly occupied mainly by men, special courses in history and civics, mathematics, chemistry, general sciences, botany and zoology will be offered.

The following University of Oregon instructors will remain during the summer session: Professor A. R. Sweetser,

O. F. Stafford, B. W. De Busk, F. L. Stetson, H. C. Howe, W. F. G. Thacher, T. Cloran, Merle Rugh, F. G. G. Schmidt, Joseph Schafer, R. C. Clark, George Turnbull, E. E. DeCou, W. P. Boynton, E. S. Conklin, F. G. Young. Professor Henry E. Bourne, of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, will give a teachers' course in history and also have a class in history of the French revolution.

Noted Lecturer Coming.

Dr. Henry Huntington Powers, of Newton, Mass., a lecturer and author who has written several books on the present European conflict, will give a series of lectures on the great war, and also on the history of art. Dr. Powers, before the war, traveled in Europe and gave lectures at the great art centers to tourists, on the art represented there. Dr. Schafer spoke of Dr. C. C. Hughes, of Sacramento, who will lecture on school supervision as a "distinguished and successful superintendent of schools."

Summer school begins June 25 and ends August 2. So far no decision regarding the physical education of men and women has been made, according to Dr. Schafer.

REGENTS RETAIN ALL OFFICERS FOR YEAR

University of Oregon held Saturday forenoon, February 16, a resolution was introduced and passed placing the University squarely on record as to its attitude toward disloyal expressions of opinion or acts on the part of any member of the faculty. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of the regents that reports and rumors are in circulation questioning the loyalty of some of the instructors and,

"Whereas, The regents recognize the right of the instructional force or other employees of the University to their private opinions on political and economic questions and concerning the present war in which the United States is engaged, and its duty in reference thereto, and thereby disclaim any intention to interfere therewith; they do, however, heartily deprecate any expression of opinion or any statement, act or conduct on the part of such instructors or employees, indicating disloyalty to the United States or tending to embarrass it in enforcing any of its laws or policies to the prosecution of such war, or any act or conduct lending aid, assistance or encouragement to its enemies, or to disloyal citizens or inhabitants. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the president of the University be and he is hereby directed and required to promptly report to the executive committee the name of any instructor or employe whom he has or who is accused thereof in writing by any responsible citizen, and it shall be the duty of the executive committee, if it finds the charges to be true, to cause the relations of the party so charged, with the University to be severed."

WHEELER IS LIEUTENANT

Psychology Professor Who Entered Service in Fall Gets Commission.

Dr. R. H. Wheeler, former professor in psychology at the University, who left last term to enlist in the surgical corps, has been commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to Camp Greenleaf, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., for training as a military psychologist.

News of Dr. Wheeler's appointment was received here through a letter dated at Washington, February 3, to Tom Cutsforth, a former student in Dr. Wheeler's classes at the University.

In this letter, Dr. Wheeler said that Washington was crowded "to the rafters," because of the many military activities, and described the effect of the five-day fuel order on the east.

Dr. Wheeler was leaving on the day he mailed his letter to Cutsforth, for his training camp. When he has completed the course there he will be stationed at some army post to examine recruits to decide for which branch of the service they are best suited.

MRS. LEADER TALKS ON WOMEN IN WAR

Driving Subway Cars and Acting as Porters, to Release Men in England, She Tells Girls.

Many Wearing Knickers, to Be Free From Hampering Skirts.

Mrs. John Leader talked to the freshmen girls of Triple A yesterday afternoon, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, on what the English women are doing in war times and what the Americans can do.

The English women who formerly had servants to do everything for them, are now doing it for themselves, according to Mrs. Leader, and women are found taking the places of men in all walks of life, even to the driving of subways and acting as porters. In order that they may not be hampered with skirts in their new line of work, many of them wear "knickers."

Tells of Trench Life.

Mrs. Leader also spoke of the life of the men in the trenches, and urged the girls when making helmets to leave open places for the ears, otherwise they cannot be used at the front. Knitted belts were said to be practically useless.

There is little social life in England since the war-time needs of Oregon's then people exert themselves, to show them as good a time as possible.

The work of the V. A. D. association was greatly praised. This group of voluntary nurses' aids was organized before the war broke out, by a duke named Roberts, and at the outbreak of the war were able to give efficient service.

Similar to Honor Guard.

At first, however, they were very particular about the amount of training the women had received, but before long the need was so great that they were asking for people to take up the work. The work of the organization is done similar to that of the Honor Guard. Mrs. Leader said that this country is like England, in that it is slow in realizing the great number of nurses which will be needed, regardless of whether they have much or little training.

what and tried some open work, which netted them several points.

Play Consistent Game.

Crandall and Jenkins probably played the most consistent game of the evening for the Sigma Chis, while for the Kappa Sigs, Hunt and Still starred.

The largest crowd that has turned out for a doughnut league game this year was on hand, and the rooting was about evenly divided between the contestants.

The lineup:

Kappa Sigs (5)     Sigma Chis (12)

BOOKS TO BE SENT SOLDIER

One Hundred Volumes Will Be Shipped for Army Cantonment Libraries.

A shipment of about 100 novels and textbooks will be sent to Portland tomorrow for distribution among the army cantonment libraries. Most of the volumes were contributed by Mrs. J. Eberle Kuykendall, who is the wife of Dr. J. Eberle Kuykendall, stationed with the ambulance corps at Camp Lewis.

Books are still wanted for the camp libraries, and appeals keep coming for more. "The people in charge are depending largely upon gifts for the light reading material," said M. H. Douglass, University librarian, today. "They are using all the money they get to buy recent issues of books on technical subjects."

DR. STUART NOW SAFE IN FRANCE

Cablegram from Former U. Teacher Says She is in Bordeaux.

A cablegram from Dr. Bertha S. Stuart, former director of physical education at the University, was received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stuart, of Eugene, yesterday, telling of her safe arrival some time last week at Bordeaux, France.
