

HENDRICKS HALL HAS ITS FORMAL OPENING

Residents in Receiving Line in Colonial Costume; Minuet by Girls Is Big Feature.

Guests Shown Through Building; Large Kitchen Attracts Special Attention.

Hendricks Hall was formally opened Friday, February 22, when the 50 residents of the hall were hostesses to faculty, students and people of Eugene. The visitors were shown through all parts of the building from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening.

The residents of the hall in the receiving line wore colonial costumes, as did also the girls taking part in the minuet, one of the most attractive features of both afternoon and evening. Tea was served in the large dining room from the silver tea set, given to the hall by Madame Gerlinger, mother of Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, member of the board of regents, who had charge of the furnishing of the building.

Eleven received. In the receiving line were T. G. Hendricks, for whom the building was named, Mrs. Hendricks, Mrs. Ruby Hendricks Goodrich, Mrs. Richard Shore

Smith, Mrs. A. C. Dixon, Dean Elizabeth Fox, Mrs. Edna P. Datson, Miss Tirza Dinsdale, Ruth Wilson, Helen Withycombe, and Lillie Miller.

In furnishing the building, which is Georgianian in architecture, Mrs. Gerlinger carried out the colonial idea. The walls are a warm gray, and the dining and living room floors are oak.

The hangings in the living room are reproduced from an old English damask pattern, and the small bracket lights on the wall of the living room have old rose silk shades, as has the large piano lamp. The tile in the big fireplace carries out the old rose color and with the mahogany Windsor chairs, over-stuffed davenport, large George Washington desk, bookcase and gateleg table, the living room is very quaint and old-fashioned.

Kitchen Is Modern.

But, according to Mrs. Gerlinger, the old-fashioned things stop with the living room. The kitchen, with its large range, refrigerator and electric dish-washing machine, as well as the rest of the house, is furnished with every modern convenience. The visitors especially admired the big kitchen.

The hall is arranged according to the unit system, and at present consists of three units. The first floor of the first unit containing the living room, dining room, kitchen, two reception rooms, and the head resident's suite of three rooms. The second and third floors of this unit each have four suites of rooms and bath. The second unit has three suites on each floor, while the third unit, like the first, has four. Each suite consists of three rooms, a study, a dressing room and a sleeping porch. Provision has been made for two more wings to be added to the hall. Each suite is planned to accommodate four girls, but only two girls are in each at present.

O. A. C. WINS TWICE OVER VARSITY FIVE

Hayward's aggregation put up a good fight, but it was of no avail, as every play was checked before it became dangerous.

Game Is Peaceful.

Gurley, who played center for the O. A. C., in the first game was the high point man of the contest, scoring 12 points, while for Oregon, Fowler, Medley and Lind each got a basket during the course of the evening.

The game was very peaceful and Referee George Anderson called six fouls on the Oregon team and three on the Aggies. Fowler was unable to convert any of his three chances on fouls, and Ray, of O. A. C., missed three chances in a row when Krueger tried his hand, and registered two out of three attempts.

In the second game there was more life in evidence, and the crowd took more interest than they had on the previous night. While the lemon-yellow did not have a chance in the world of beating the fast Aggie team, they fought from the first whistle, and made their opponents play to the limit of their ability.

Each team made one change in the lineup for the second game, Hayward putting Comfort in at center in place of Lind and Coach Ray gave Robinson a chance at center, in place of Gurley, for the Aggies. Robinson did not prove to be as good a shot as Gurley has been on Friday, getting only two points during the evening.

O. A. C. Team Work Good.

Ray was the high point man of the evening, getting nine points, while Fowler led the Oregon crew with four. The Oregon team started off with a rush, and at first were able to play the Corvallis aggregation to a standstill, but the team-work of the Aggies proved to be too much for Hayward's proteges. The O. A. C. quintet was unable to elude the Oregon guards, as they did on the previous night, and had a much harder time scoring. The majority of the scores were made on long distance shots.

The team-work of Oregon was much better than it was on the night of the first game, and their work on the floor was equal to that of the Aggies. Bissett and Medley started an affair all their own in the last minute of play. Bissett took a swing at the Oregon forward, and just when "Dot" was getting ready to eliminate his opponent, they were separated by teammates. Oregon was given a chance to toss a foul on this, but Fowler missed by several inches.

O. A. C. Wins 15 Games.

Captain Ray ran afoul of Bill Steers during the course of the evening, and went down for the count. Dr. Browne, O. A. C. trainer, who accompanied the team, brought him back to life and he was able to continue the game.

About 200 fans from the Corvallis institution accompanied the team and lent their vocal support to their warriors.

The O. A. C. team has made for itself a wonderful record this season. Playing 15 games, they have won every one of them and have run up a total of 406 points to their opponents' 154. Captain Ray leads his team in points scored, with 145, while Krueger is second, with 103.

around which to build a team this year in Medley, Sheehy, Maison, and Grebe. This is the best chance that Oregon has had this year to put a winning team into the field. With these four men and several who have served on the freshmen nine, there is no reason why Oregon should not enjoy a very successful season on the diamond.

As baseball was dropped last year before the season had hardly started, there is plenty of equipment for this season on hand. Training will start as soon as the basketball season is finished, probably next week. The freshmen may turn out this week if the weather is good, and start getting in shape. No proposed schedule has been made for the freshmen as yet, but there will be plenty of games when the season opens.

JOHN PARSONS WOULD FLY

Dal King and Geary Brothers All in Aviation Service.

Karl Onthank is in receipt of more news of Oregon alumni in war service. The latest is a letter from Johnny Parsons, half-back on the 1916 football team, who asks for three letters of recommendation to use in his application for aviation. He also sends news of several other grads who are stationed at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex. Dal King, '16, is a lieutenant in charge of a recruit line, and the three Gearys are doing more than their bit in the same branch of service—aviation. Arthur is a member of the 610th aero squadron; Roland, familiarly known as "Hawkshaw" to the class of 1917, is flying, and calls it great sport; Ed is in the balloon school.

Sam Bullock, who took the first ordnance course, is at Camp Dodge, Ia., and is a sergeant, first-class.

MULTNOMAH GAME TO CLOSE SEASON

Varsity Basketball Men Will Meet Portland Club After Two Contests With U. of W.

Hayward Well Pleased With Showing in Aggie Series.

Now that the O. A. C. basketball games are past, the only contests remaining are two with U. of W. in Seattle next Thursday and Friday, and a return game with Multnomah club in Portland, Saturday evening. The Varsity will leave for Seattle Wednesday afternoon to play these final games in the northern district.

Coach Hayward was thoroughly satisfied with the showing the team made last Saturday night against the Aggies. The five went better in the last contest against the Corvallis aggregation than in any former struggle this season, and showed a great amount of fight against the much more experienced quintet of the Aggie institution.

Hopes for Victory.

"The boys went better on Saturday night than I ever expected," Hayward said today. "I believe that we will be able to down the Washington five in Seattle, and if we do we can consider this a very successful season."

A short practice was held yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium, but no strenuous work was done. This afternoon the team worked out, for the last time before the final games, with a stiff passing and shooting session. All the men are in good condition with the exception of Comfort, who has been affected with a slight case of blood poisoning. A small sore upon his arm became infected, and appeared dangerous for awhile, but he will undoubtedly be able to play in the games at Seattle.

Eight Men Picked.

The team is very anxious to down the Washington five in the two return games, and every man is out to win. Coach Hayward is undecided as to whom he will start in the games, but is going to take eight men along for safety, in case anyone should not be in the best of condition.

The men who will accompany Coach Hayward and Manager Herschner on Wednesday afternoon are Comfort, Wilson, Steers, Medley, Fowler, Morrison, Lind, and either Parsons or Shieler. The men will return the last of the week.
