

HAYWARD, ON COT IN HOSPITAL, PLEADS FOR MORE TRACK MEN

Coach Wants Three Representatives for Each Event; Only Fifteen Turning Out.

ASKS FOR OREGON SPIRIT AS WELL AS ATHLETES

Says Third Place Man Is Just as Valuable to Team as First.

More men for track—many more men. That is the plea of Coach Hayward, now in the Portland Surgical hospital, recovering from the effects of a recent operation, but worrying over the prospects of the Oregon team in the north-west meets of the coming season.

Hayward asks for three men in every event, and he wants them to turn out now. "Now is the time that track meets are won or lost," he says in a letter to a friend on the campus. At the present time there are but 15 men turning out for track—scarcely enough to make up a team of but one man for each event. At least three times that number are needed, and with the appointment of Ray Couch as student manager of track, the campaign to get every available man out is going to be pushed every minute.

Wants Willing Men.

The call being issued is not necessarily for track men. It is for Oregon men—men who, whether they have ever done anything in the track line or not, are willing to get out and try. Hayward wants the raw material on hand when he returns to take charge of the squad, and he wants them to be in condition. Developing point winners is his job.

"It is very unfortunate for me that I can't be with the boys for a while yet," Hayward writes. "There is no one as anxious as I am to be on the job, and just as soon as the doctor says it is safe, you and the team can depend upon my being there."

"The fact that the team is handi-

OREGANA IS LIVING UP

Two Sections Already in Hands of Printers.

Rest to Go as Soon as Ready; Campus Views to Appear in First Section.

Two sections of the 1918 Oregoniana are in the hands of the printer, and the rest of the book will be sent to him as fast as he can handle it.

The engraving is nearly completed and some especially good pictures are promised.

A dozen full-page views of the campus are in the first section. The frontispiece is in three colors, and was drawn by Glenn Stanton, president of the architecture club. All of the inserts are especially good, according to Helen Brenton, editor.

The first thing in the military section is a full page cut of Lieutenant Colonel John Leader, and is followed by an account of his life. Pictures of the Second company at Fort Stevens, composed very largely of Oregon men, of the University ambulance company at American Lake, and of the company to which the University girls sent Christmas candy, will all appear.

The dramatic department is well arranged and quite complete, with more pictures than usual.

As for features, information is suppressed, but they will be of interest to every student at the University of Oregon.

The junior pictures are larger than last year, and the list is very nearly complete.

Oregon club has a full page picture as well as nearly every other organization on the campus, so every member of the student body may expect to see himself in print somewhere in the book.

INTER-FRAT TRACK MEET PLANNED BY DEAN WALKER

Inter-frat Track Meet.

In order to get some enthusiasm aroused for track, Walker is at present working out plans for an inter-fraternity track meet, to be held within the next two weeks. The athletic department will offer a cup to the winning house, and it is hoped that some phenomenal track men may be discovered at this meet.

In order to keep any star from walking away with the contest, Walker intends to use a new system of scoring. It will be necessary for each contesting house to enter three men in each event, and the average of their time will be taken as the score in the event. This will assure every house an equal chance and will remove the possibility of one man carrying off the honors.

The track out on Kincaid is being put into condition, and from now on, if the good weather continues, the men will start getting speed into their work. The track is being scraped and rolled, and should be in the very best of shape by the first of the week.

CO-ED TENNIS MATCH TO COME OFF SOON

First Games Will Be Played Off by Wednesday. Tournament to Be Over in Two Weeks.

Varsity Team Will Be Chosen From Champions; Laraway Offers Cup.

Preparations for the woman's championship tennis tournament are going forward swiftly, under the management of Caroline Alexander and Adrienne Epping. The first rounds of the tournament will be played off before Wednesday next, and the subsequent rounds will probably be over in less than two weeks. At a meeting of the tennis club Thursday night, final arrangements were completed, and new business taken up.

Seth Laraway Offers a Cup.

The tournament is played by the 20 members of the tennis club, and any others that care to put in their names to the president, Adrienne Epping. The results of the tournament will decide the members of the University team.

The winner of the tournament will play the games with O. A. C., Willamette, Multnomah club, and the Portland Irvington club. A new ruling passed by the tennis club Thursday night provides that any players unsatisfied with the results of the tournament may have the right to challenge any member of the team within a week after the close of the tournament, and take her place on the team, if successful in three sets out of five. By this means, the players hope to do away with the chance that always accompanies a tennis tournament, and to secure the best players for the team.

Doughnut Tournament Dropped.

The election of Mrs. John Leader as an honorary member of the club was ratified by the members, and two new members voted into the club. These are

POET ENJOYS OREGON VISIT

"Days That Make Us Happy Make Us Wise," Masefield Writes.

John Masefield, famous English poet and war lecturer, who was a guest of Colonel Leader and addressed the people of Eugene Thursday night, was entertained Thursday evening at dinner by Sigma Chi. Other guests were Colonel Leader, Sergeant Fairley of the ordnance school, Major Couch, of the student battalion and Adjutant E. W. Allen, of the University.

Masefield stated before leaving the University that he had enjoyed his visit at the University of Oregon more than at any other place he had visited on his trip through the United States. In the Sigma Chi guest book he wrote:

"The days that makes us happy make us wise."

O. A. C. BASKET THROWERS WIN FROM U. OF O. 20-17

Maud Lombard and Grace Rugg at Forward Star for Oregon; Team Work Good.

O. A. C. girls' basket throwers won from U. of O. by a score of 20 to 17 this afternoon, in a return game played in the men's gymnasium, which was well filled with Oregon rooters. The game was nip and tuck from start to finish, with only one time out for the girls, who pulled up their bloomers and adjusted their ties on the run.

O. A. C. forwards, Irene Brye and Gladys Johnson, were especially quick and accurate in their work, and they were ably guarded by Maud Lombard and Grace Rugg, for Oregon. Good team-work was apparent for both teams, and the ball was tossed quickly several times from one goal to the other without a slip.

The first half started with two consecutive baskets for both teams, and then the score for O. A. C. mounted up to eight before Oregon could interfere. O. A. C. fouled and Maud Lombard threw the basket.

At the end of the first half the score was 16 to 6 for O. A. C. Peggy Crim was substituted in the second half for Margaret Bailey, and did brilliant work at guard.

The game warmed up in the second half, and this time the whistle blew to end the half just as Grace Rugg was poised to throw a basket.

Miss Catharine Winslow acted as referee for Oregon for the first half and umpire for the second, and Miss Laura Campbell acted as referee and umpire for O. A. C. The O. A. C. team was accompanied by Miss Eva Brunell, coach; Miss Laura Campbell, director, and Mrs. Miriam Thayer Sealey. Twelve girls came and the team was chosen from the twelve. U. of O. won from O. A. C. by 33 to 10 in the first game played at O. A. C. before vacation.

The lineup was as follows:
U. of O. — Irene Brye.....R.F. Maud Lombard Gladys Johnson...L.F. Grace Rugg Laura Ziegler...C. Eva Hansen Lulu Meloy.....G. Claire Warner Katherine Meloy...R.F. Margaret Bailey Leta Agee.....L.B. Frieda Laird U. of O. substitute, Peggy Crim for Margaret Bailey, second half.

85 WOMEN REGISTER

New Course Given Warm Reception by Girls.

Will Fit Co-eds for Places Which Have Been Vacated by Men in Service.

The call for women for patriotic service has been answered on the campus by the registration of 85 girls in a course offered by Professor A. P. R. Drucker in introduction to accounting. These girls are fitting themselves to take positions left vacant by men, and according to Professor Drucker will be prepared to fill such vacancies this summer.

"I was greatly surprised," said Professor Drucker, "when I found that such a large number of young women had enrolled in my course this term. The class is more than twice as large as the one in the same subject last fall."

Among all these girls are but 10 men. And the girls show as much aptitude as the men in taking up the subject, according to Professor Drucker.

This course is being offered by Professor Drucker at the request of the faculty woman's committee, who foresaw the possibilities in it for the girls. The class assumed such enormous proportions at the very first meeting that Professor Drucker was obliged to divide it into two sections, one coming at 1 o'clock, exclusively for women, and the other at 11 o'clock.

The text used was written by Professor Drucker and the course will cover as much in the term as the average year course offered in high school, he said.

POWERS SPEAKS FOR RED CROSS

Lecturer Talks at Drain; Will Make Address at Elmira Monday.

Alfred Powers, of the extension division, left Thursday for Drain, where he visited the Red Cross chapter of that town, and those in the outlying districts. Mr. Powers returned to Eugene last night. He will make a Red Cross talk in Elmira next Monday night.

OFFICER DESCRIBES RAID ON TRENCHES

British Major Acland Speaks in Villard Hall, Telling of First Attack of Kind in War.

Details Rehearsed Behind Lines Before Carrying Out; 12 Prisoners Taken.

Major P. P. Acland, of the Toronto Highlanders, now, assistant commandant at Pullman, inspected the University battalion Thursday and addressed University and townspeople in Villard hall Thursday evening. Major Acland complimented the battalion very highly on its work, and said that he was envious of such a turnout. "The University of Oregon should be proud of such a battalion," he said. "You have made wonderful progress in a short time. The work done here has been really remarkable."

Major Acland spoke on "Life in the Trenches" Thursday evening, describing conditions in the trenches and No Man's Land, illustrating his remarks with delightfully humorous stories straight from the men he has known intimately in trench warfare.

Describes Trench Raid.

One of the most interesting things he described was a raid on the German trenches for prisoners. The battalion of British Columbia, to which Major Acland was attached, made the first raid of this kind on the western front. The Canadians wished certain information from the Germans as to just what division of the German forces was opposing them, and decided to try the daring feat of effecting a raid and obtaining information from identification marks on the prisoners.

The raid was worked out in the most careful detail. A model of the section of the German trenches to be raided was constructed behind the Canadian lines, and here the men drilled for days, each being assigned to a particular duty, so that nothing should be left undone. The men worked together at night, learning each other's ways in the dark, and soon gained confidence.

Black Faced Soldiers Go.

The trenches at this point were about 3000 yards apart. The Canadians blacked their faces and each wore a little white hand on the arm to make themselves recognizable to each other. They wanted 12 prisoners, and so carefully were the details worked out that

Parade-Serpentine Monday; Anything to Make Noise

Bring out your old tin cans, pots and pans, cowbells, horns, screech whistles, a stray tin roof or so, and anything else that will make real racket, fellows, and have the time of your lives making all the noise you want to for once, Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

So says Slim Crandall, who will lead the swirling, serpentine, yelling mass of University boys down town during drill hour, to show the town that Oregon has the old fight and can outdo everyone else in making a splendid demonstration on national noise day.

For you see, fellows, that while you are having a grand time making some real noise, you will be helping your country to win the war by stirring up pep for the Third Liberty Loan. That's what Monday, the official noise day, is for.

Absolutely every man in the University will be in the serpentine that will leave the gym at 1 (there will be roll call before, by the way), and noise, and noise only, will be the order of the hour. The more noise and the less harmonious it is, the more everyone will be satisfied. Fortunately the police force of Eugene will be in hiding, and every one of the spectators who will line the sidewalks will clamor for a genuine racket. "We're going to show them what we can do," vows Slim, who is looking forward to noise day with the keenest satisfaction.

All sorts and sizes of sound-producing instruments will be used. The county tractor, with all the wagons attached behind, which makes such an agreeable grating, grinding, squeaky noise as it passes the library nearly every day, may

APRIL FROLIC PROGRAM TO HAVE SEVEN STUNTS

Two Stage Plan Will Eliminate Long Waits Between the Skits Presented.

Seven University women's groups have been given places on the stunt program for the annual April Frolic, to take place Saturday evening, April 20, in the men's gymnasium.

Chi Omega has reserved the first place, and is followed by Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Hendricks Hall, Pi Beta Phi, and Alpha Phi.

Dutaxian and Woman's Athletic association are the only organizations other than the sororities and dormitory which have signified any intention to appear in a stunt.

"We excluded Triple A, Triple B, and Triple C this year," said Mildred Steinmetz, appointed by woman's league as general chairman for the affair. "In this way the program will be somewhat shortened. Each stunt will last five minutes, and plans have been made to have two stunts, one at each end of the hall, so that while one organization is putting on a stunt, the next on the program can be arranging a stage setting."

Kappa Alpha Theta, who announce that their stunt will be called "Heretofore and Hereafter," are the first to announce a title. Miss Steinmetz hopes to get all the titles by the end of next week.

Besides the entertainment offered by the stunts, a feature dance for everyone will be a part of the dance program. Janet Frasier, placed in charge of the event, says that she hopes to have the feature a novel one.

According to Grace Hammarstrom, chairman of the decoration committee, greens and the Oregon colors will be used in some simple manner.

GIRLS TO HAVE WAR GARDEN

Hendricks Hall Residents to Sell Produce for Benefit of Red Cross.

Hendricks hall is to have a war garden. Two plots of ground, one an acre just east of the trenches, are to be put in potatoes, another plot just north of the graveyard, will be planted in vegetables.

Mrs. Edna P. Datson, head of the physical plant of Hendricks hall, has offered to purchase the products from the girls for use on the table, and the funds will be given to the Red Cross. H. M. Fisher, superintendent of grounds, gave the girls the ground and had the plowing done today for them. Frances Elizabeth Baker, a senior at the hall, has charge of the gardening, and according to her, the girls are enthusiastic and prospects for a crop are good.

OREGON NINE BEATS WILLAMETTE, 15 TO 1

Methodists Go Down Before Varsity in First Salem Game; Early Season Training Shows.

Art Berg Pitches and Gives But One Hit; Steers Has Gala Day at the Bat.

Salem, Ore., April 5.—(Special to the Emerald.)—Oregon ran bases until the cows came home in the first game of the season against Willamette University here this afternoon, on Syceland field. The lemon-yellow athletes ran up a total of 15 runs, 17 hits and 9 stolen bases, while Art Berg held the Methodists to one run and one hit. Oregon clearly showed the effects of early spring practice, and handled the ball much more clearly than their opponents.

Bill Steers had a gala day at bat, getting five clean blows, one of them a double, in five trips to the plate. Grebe smashed out a triple, Lind a double and Dunton a home run. Not an inning went by that the Varsity failed to take advantage of both in the run and hit columns. Each man on the team made at least one run and one hit.

Art Berg was in rare form and had a no-hit game up to the sixth frame. He sent six men back to the bench via the fan-out route, but spoiled his record with four walks and hitting three batters. Brewster, the first Willamette twirler, had little on the ball, and was hit freely. He gave way in the fourth to Spiess, who fared little better. Coach Mathews saved his best bet, Dimick, for O. A. C. Saturday.

To attempt any detailed description of the run-getting would be too monotonous to put in print. The Varsity fielded in good style. But three errors were charged up. One when Dunton threw wild to second, again when Lind dropped a throw which had a Willamette baserunner trapped off base, and when Sheehy fumbled a grounder. The infield worked like a well-oiled machine

REDDIE'S SENIORS TO PLAY IN ALL-STAR PRODUCTION

Fourth Year Dramatic Interpretation Students to Present "The Faithful Shepherdess."

Fletcher's "The Faithful Shepherdess," will be produced in Guild hall by Professor A. F. Reddie's senior class in dramatic interpretation, April 18 and 19. The cast again promises to be "all-star," being made up of students, all of whom have scored successes in former plays.

Mr. Reddie will appear as the Satyr. Other prominent parts are taken by Frances Frater, Margaret Crosby, Helen Bracht-Maurice, Jo Driscoll, Hester Hurd, Ruth Young, Claire Gasler, Frances Schenk, Charlotte Banfield, and Norvell Thompson.

The play is full of interesting incidents. There are four sets of lovers who, through a magic potion, become hopelessly involved, the right pair never seeming able to meet. At no time are there more than three people on the stage together.

The setting for this play promises to be the most elaborate of the year. The action takes place out of doors. There is to be a hillside covered with grass, a waterfall, and a brook in which the barefoot shepherdesses are to wade. According to Frances Schenk, the waterfall is to be real running water, and not a painted picture.

The costuming will be handled according to a new plan. Each of the actors will furnish his or her own costume, as costuming and makeup are a part of the study of advanced students in the department.

LEADER HAS FULL WEEK

Speeches Will Take Up Full Schedule for Commandant.

Colonel Leader will have another busy week. Wednesday he speaks three times, at Monmouth, Independence, and at Albany. Thursday he will inspect the O. A. C. battalion, together with five men from the first and one, Dean Hayes, from the second battalion. Those to make the Corvallis trip will be announced Tuesday.
