GIRLS SAVE WHEAT, SURVEY DISCLOSES

Bread - and - Butterless Meals,
Corn and Victory Breads,
All Have Part in Conserving.

Hendricks Hall Pledges to Go
Entirely Wheatless; Other
Houses in Line.

Every sorority on the University campus is doing its best to conserve wheat according to a survey made this week of the efforts being made. Hendrick's hall heads the list, having pledged itself to go absolutely wheatless. All of the bread used is made in the hall kitchen, and owing to the fact that no wheat is used, no yeast bread can be made.

Chi Omega ranks next. All of the bread used by the girls is made in the Chi Omega kitchen, and the only time any wheat appears on the table is when baker's bread must be used in an emergency. Three times a week bread and butter appear on the table for dinner, other times the evening meal is even war breadless.

Others Also Hooverizing.

Other houses are making valiant efforts to hooverize. Alpha Phi observes wheatless days and two dinners a week are bread and butterless. Delta Delta Delta uses no bread at all in the evening and two days a week bread made without wheat is served. Corn and brown breads are the main stays of Delta Gamma, which uses very little wheat flour for anything. For dinner only one slice of Victory bread is served, and many girls who have pledged themselves wheatless do not eat even that.

Gamma Phi Beta has four meals a week without any bread at all, and for the other meals, Victory bread is used. Phi Beta Phi observes wheatless days when corn bread and muffins are served. Victory bread is used for other meals, although some of the girls refuse to eat bread at all. Kappa Alpha Theta always serves corn bread or muffins made entirely of substitutes for luncheon. Victory bread is served for dinner, but no butter is served, and this causes little bread to be used. Potatoes are served with gravy daily. Kappa Kappa Gamma observes wheatless days and serves Victory bread on other days.

Miss Tingle Wants Pledge.

Miss Tingle believes that every University woman who finds it at all possible should pledge herself entirely wheatless. "Plenty of potatoes and milk will furnish the nourishment needed," she declared in her lecture on "Food and the War" last Tuesday.

Kappa Sigma and Sigma Chi entertained with an exchange dinner Thursday evening.

CHILD EXPERT COMING

W. H. Slingerland to Inspect
Oregon Institutions.

Extension Division Will Finance
Survey by Sage Fund
Representative.

The extension division, in connection with the Oregon state child welfare commission, is going to finance a survey of conditions which exist in the state institutions for orphans and delinquent children.

The survey will be made by W. H. Slingerland, of the Russell Sage Foundation established in New York City. At the present time Mr. Slingerland is in Des Moines, Iowa. He expects to start west May 6, and will arrive here about the end of that week and assume the work under the supervision of the extension division.

The extension division has been contemplating an investigation of this sort for about a year. In some of the other states these inspections are made regularly and the result, according to statistics, has been that the institutions are working under a much better system.

"STARS AND STRIPES" IS RECEIVED IN CITY

Several copies of "Stars and Stripes" the paper published by and for the American Expeditionary Forces in France has been received by the United States National Bank from Amos West, a former member of the working force and now in the engineer forces abroad. The paper is a seven-column, eight page weekly and is a real newspaper. It carries some of the brightest matter ever written and is well calculated to cheer up the soldier boys. It includes a sporting page, dealing with sports in the United States and has many interesting and many humorous stories of soldier experience.

Not the least interesting feature of one particular copy is the penciled comments which Mr. West has placed on certain articles which attracted his attention or fitted in with his own experiences as one of the "S. O. R." (service of the rear) as the engineers were first designated. The paper states that this designation has been changed, but fails to give the new title. The boys object strenuously to the implication of that title, and the fact that they do not seem likely to get into actual fighting.

"Colors" is Made Impressive Ceremony by Sailor Lads

An impressive ceremony takes place in the south park across from the court house every night and morning during the visit of the naval recruiting party to Eugene.

The sailor lads have taken it upon themselves to see that the Stars and Stripes which fly from the tall flag pole are raised and lowered with true military form. It is raised in the morning and lowered in the evening to the notes of the bugle call, the sailors standing at salute during the ceremony. The sailors ask that the citizens show their respect to the flag by standing at attention wherever they may be during the ceremony, when they hear the call. Colors will be sounded tonight at 8:16 with a preliminary call five minutes earlier.

Pearl Davis and Gladys Hollingsworth went to Corvallis this week-end to attend O. A. C.'s Junior Week-end.
