

OREGON CONFIDENT OF BEATING CLUB IN OPENING GAME

Multnomah Will Bring Strong Lineup; Hard Fighting Likely on Saturday.

PROBABLE LINE-UP GIVEN

Coach "Shy" Huntington this afternoon announced a tentative line-up for the Oregon game Saturday. It is as follows:

- Center—Layton.
- Guards—Gilbert, Mautz.
- Tackles—Strauchan, Trowbridge.
- Ends—Hanser, Wilson.
- Quarterback—F. Jacobberger.
- Right halfback—Chapman.
- Left halfback—Brandenberg.
- Fullback—Blake.

Plowden Stott will probably be referee. The umpire has not been decided upon, but it is likely that the Multnomah team will be allowed to bring some Portland man.

While there is confidence on the campus that Oregon will win the opening game of the season with the Multnomah Athletic club on Saturday, one of the hardest fought battles of the season is expected.

The Winged-M will journey to Eugene full of confidence and will undoubtedly put up the snappiest kind of football. In a recent long-distance conversation with Dean Walker, George Bertz, manager of the Multnomah team, said that he had an exceptionally strong eleven, and that they were out after the scalp of the Lemon Yellow.

Oregon will go into the game having had only one week of practice—the least ever had before an opening game. Due to misunderstandings and conflicts, many of the men have not appeared regularly, and Coach "Shy" Huntington has had little chance to whip them into shape.

The Varsity this year will probably be composed almost entirely of last year's freshman team, and so far, it is an unknown factor. Saturday's game will be a real test and will give a line on the season's prospects. In spite of the enormous difficulties encountered, it is expected that Oregon will once more turn out a winning team.

The Multnomah team is said to have an unusually strong line and Coach Philbrook is counting largely on that to win the victory for the Portlanders. Hughie McKenna, a former Columbia University star, will appear in the club's line-up, and much is expected from him. The backfield of the Winged-M has been greatly strengthened lately by Fred Rehbein, a former Lehigh University halfback.

Coach "Shy" Huntington will make no predictions concerning the outcome of the game.

"It is impossible to say who will win," he said. "I understand that the Multnomah club has a strong team. We are working under exceptional conditions and it would be foolish to attempt any prediction at this time. The only thing to say is that we will do the best we can for the University, and we expect the University to do its best for us in support."

"I am not satisfied with the support the team is getting at present. There have been seventy uniforms issued, and forty men on the average, are reporting for practice. That means that some one is not doing the right thing by the college. There must be more men out. There are plenty of husky men about the campus, and every one of them should be on the field at four o'clock every afternoon.

Spectators Wanted at Practice.

"We also want more people out to watch practice. The University must let the team know that it is backing it to the limit. The grandstand should be filled every afternoon. If you have the Oregon Spirit, come out and encourage the team."

Scrimmage was held on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Tomorrow the team will have light practice, and run through signals, preparatory to the game.

The whistle will blow at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, following the annual underclass mix. Student body tickets will admit to the game. Members of the S. A. T. C. may obtain their tickets upon application at the registrar's office.

If One Could Only Sing Without Opening One's Mouth; But ---

Wanted: Someone to discover how to sing without opening the mouth.

The bright person who is fortunate enough to invent some plan will be allowed to attend the community sing at the armory. But unless such a one is discovered no University student will be able to give his vocal cords and chords exercise Friday night, according to an order issued by President Campbell at the assembly Wednesday.

The people of Eugene and the students of the University were to have a chummy little gathering and display their patriotism and singing qualities. But the health committee decided that such a rally would raise a lot of dust, which would find plenty of open doors during the rendition of such things as the "Star Spangled Banner."

Fear that after such a rally there would be more people who could say "I opened my mouth and in-flu-en-z-a," caused the abandonment of the idea.

Instead of letting the deadly germ circulate in a crowded armory, the students are to hold a rally all their own out on Kincaid field to give the first football game of the year the right kind of a send-off.

Friendly Hall Men Eat From Hands of Celebrities on K. P.

"This army life ain't so bad," you know, when you have millionaires and prominent statesmen hanging out the chow."

"What'd' ye mean millionaires? Those fellows on K. P. today? Well, what do you know about that?"

All of which gives the gist of several bits of conversation which were flying about the big new cafeteria in Friendly hall, on the campus, where the men of the Oregon State Officers' Training Camp are assembling for mess these days.

For some prominent men were on kitchen police duty that day. Prominent among the waiters who kept the long serpentine moving was Harry L. Corbett, Portland capitalist.

Henri Cloutier, late manager of the Multnomah hotel, in Portland, was in the group with Corbett. Others who did their bit among the plates and kettles were State Senator Julien Hurley, of Malheur county, and Plowden Stott (Stanford '07) former noted athlete, now Portland lawyer.

More than 250 men are enrolled in the Officers' Training Camp, and they take their turns at keeping the home fires burning by carrying trays, peeling potatoes, clearing tables and otherwise helping keep the formidable aggregation of militant appetites in check.

FRAME NEW CONSTITUTION

Athletic Association to Bar Fresh Without First Term Work.

Freshmen girls are not to be admitted to the Women's Athletic Association until they complete their first term of college work with an average of "M" and making 30 points in athletic work, according to the new constitution adopted by the association at its meeting Tuesday.

To fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Margaret Bailey to return to college, Eva Hansen was elected treasurer of the organization. Adelaide Lake was elected reporter, and Ami Lagus custodian. The heads of sports are to be chosen by a nominating committee which will be appointed soon.

According to the new rules adopted, a girl to retain her membership in the association must make 30 points in her sophomore year, and 25 each in both her junior and senior years. Points are awarded principally for participation in contests. For interclass contests 2 points are awarded, to members of champion teams 3 points are given, and to Varsity players 5 points.

A girl may also win one point if she substitutes for one-half of a contest. For an "A" grade in posture 4 points are given.

Women's sport will not be organized until the heads of sports are chosen. Maud Lombard, who was elected president at the spring election, presided at the meeting.

CAMPUS AFFAIRS SUSPENDED UNTIL MENACE IS PAST

Rapid Spread of Colds and Grip Brings Drastic Faculty Action.

All campus and student social affairs and public and student gatherings except regular classes are prohibited until further notice according to a special announcement issued this morning by John F. Bovard, chairman of the student health committee at the University.

Dangerous cases of influenza have not yet developed the announcement states but the number of severe colds and gripe and the danger of the rapid spread of these as well as of the influenza make it necessary that every means of precaution be taken to prevent an epidemic. The whole number of cases at last report was 179.

The total number of men confined yesterday was 42. Of this number, 35 are at the Mercy hospital, three at the Eugene hospital, 33 at the S. A. T. C. hospital, three at home and 55 confined to quarters. Fifteen men of the O. T. C. were reported sick yesterday.

The Kincaid house on Fourteenth and Alder Streets is to be used as a temporary infirmary for the women until the house on University Avenue is ready for occupation. Miss Margaret Morris trained nurse will have charge of the sick women here. Yesterday 17 cases of bad colds among the women had been reported. Of these seven were Hendricks Hall residents, four Alpha Phi, one Tri Delta, one Theta, two Kappas and two outside girls. All serious cases are to be moved to the Kincaid house.

Dean Ehrmann spoke to the Hendricks Hall girls yesterday urging them to take every care of their health. She announced that every girl must have a thermometer in her room and not allow the temperature to rise above 72 degrees. This step was taken because most of the girls had unconsciously kept their rooms too warm.

LEE BARTHLOMEW QUILTS

"Emerald" Business Staff Short Handed; Freshmen are Eligible.

Another vacancy on the staff of the business manager of the Emerald is thrown open through the resignation of Lee Bartholomew, who was appointed recently after he had secured some two hundred subscriptions to the Emerald, topping all the other solicitors. The place will be filled from the business staff which at present consists of but two or three aside from Harris Ellsworth, manager.

The business staff is short handed, and much in need of either girls or boys to aid in gathering the advertising copy for the Emerald, according to Ellsworth. Freshmen are eligible to this activity. New members of the staff will be given a chance for the circulation manager position to be vacated by Bartholomew. The Emerald "O" awarded to the best reporters and leading members of the business staff last year will be continued this year, and with the present small business staff practically every one beginning early in the year will be able to get the award, Ellsworth said.

MIX MAY BE POSTPONED

Under Classes will Hold Meetings to Decide.

It is possible that the annual sophomore-freshman mix, which in past years has been a preliminary to the first football game to be played on the Oregon campus and which this year was scheduled to take place Saturday afternoon, will be postponed a week because of the epidemic of sickness which has swept the campus.

Several men of the freshman and sophomore classes are on the sick list, which, with the fact that many of the huskies of both classes will take part in the football game Saturday afternoon, makes it look advisable to members of both aggregations to call the meet off until the following Saturday. The mix can then be staged as an individual feature of the day.

Both classes are meeting this afternoon to decide upon the matter.

Pajama Parade Friday Night To Be One Fine Old Jazz Fest

Plenty of Pep will be Produced if Plans of Managers Materialize; So Trot Out Those Old Garments and Don't Forget, Din is Demanded.

And the girls will laugh long and loudly. And the boys will have a good time. And best of all—Oregon pep will be started up with a fervor for months will chase away the battalion of "no pep" and "lack of student spirit" bugs which for the last two weeks have threatened the students of Oregon as badly as have the Spanish influenza bugs.

In a few words, A PAJAMA PARADE IS TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT. These few words need no explanation to old men at Oregon. To the new men they might be confusing. For years Oregon students feeling the need of student body spirit and Oregon fight, have held a pajama parade on the evening of the day before Oregon's first football game. They have always been big jazz-arousers and one of the things which students have remembered in their after years. This year is to be no exception. The parade is to form at the library, on the campus, at seven o'clock, EVERY MAN in the S. A. T. C. and if possible the O. T. C., is expected to be present AND wear his pajamas. There is absolutely no limit to the color, size or shape of said articles of raiment and in fact the louder and more fancy they are the better the crowd likes 'em. Costumes of all sorts are encouraged. It is possible that a series of prizes will be offered to the men who appear in the best comical costume. If you have no pajamas or a costume—wear your Nighty! But be there and come prepared for a regular time with lots of noise.

A number of stunts and special features are being arranged for the downtown trip, but best of all, it is going to be one old noise fest which will start the old Oregon fight going with a resounding crash which will be heard from Corvallis to Washington.

Lyle McCroskey and Herald White will act as Yell Kings for the evening. Both have a number of new ideas in the way of costumes and stunts and will be glad to explain about the parade to any of the new men who do not know what the pajama parade at Oregon is or what it really means to Oregon students.

THIRTY TRACK MEN REPORT FOR WORK

Bill Hayward Urges New Students to Turn Out for Team.

Thirty track men reported to the gymnasium, Tuesday afternoon, for the first track call. The team will be composed of the eighteen-year-old men. Therefore, the young men, regardless of past experience, are urged to come out. Bill Hayward does not want experienced men from which to pick the team. Any man that can put one foot in front of the other, and is willing to work, will have a chance to make the team. Shister and Lyle, both of last year's squad, reported and appeared to be in good condition.

The first work will be cross country running. This is to put the men in good condition for the future track work. Bill Hayward has arranged to have the old men have charge of the events in which they have experience. It will require a lot of hard and steady grind to develop a winning team, but the men are coming out with the old "fight." These are times in which every man must keep himself in good physical condition and every man that is able should turn out for track. It will require the hearty co-operation of every man in the University to live up to the traditions of Oregon. So get out early and start immediately so that each man will have a chance to make good.

The men will practice every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon. The track will be put in good condition and every opportunity will be given the men to make good. The first meet has not yet been definitely settled but will probably be in the course of the next few months.

425 ENROLLED IN S. A. T. C.

Training for Limited Service to be Given 27 Men.

The final registration figures are at last counted at S. A. T. C. headquarters: 425 have enrolled. Ten of this number are under eighteen years of age and seven have been rejected. About thirty or forty are still to take their physical examinations.

Twenty-seven have been put in limited service on account of physical disability, in most cases due to defective eye sight. These men will be trained in the quartermasters, ordnance and chemical warfare departments.

There will be no vocational branch of special technical training.

Only men registered before September 12, 1918, are to be inducted now. Special forms for individual induction are being forwarded from headquarters.

THREE GRADUATES OF UNIVERSITY DIE

Two Are Victims of Influenza, One Is Killed in Action in France

Earl Cobb, who graduated from the University in 1912, died Monday at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky, according to a letter received yesterday by his father, S. B. Cobb, a Portland lumberman. Mr. Cobb had been ill with Spanish influenza for a week. He attended the second Officers' Training Camp at the University of Oregon and was ordered to Camp Taylor a month ago. He was also a graduate of Portland Academy. His widow who was Ada Kendall, graduated from the University in 1912 also. Besides Mrs. Cobb he is survived by a three and a half year old son.

Claud Still of Milton, Or., whose death was announced and later denied, died a few days ago at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, another victim of Spanish influenza. He was a graduate of the University and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. His brother Lloyd Still, is now at the University in the S. A. T. C. He leaves a wife who is working in a Y. W. C. A. hostess house somewhere on the Pacific coast. He was a member of the tank corps.

Lieutenant Robert H. Sherwood, a graduate of the University of Oregon Medical school of 1916, was killed in action in France. His death was reported on September 15, 1918. After a year's intensive training at a navy hospital in San Francisco he took the public health examinations required of all men in his class and received the second highest honors in the United States.

MANLESS PLAYS WANTED

Dramatic Classes Suffer for Lack of Masculine Members.

The list of plays for the winter's public performance is not yet decided upon by the Dramatic Interpretation department. Because 64 girls and only one man have registered, plays which call only for women are being sought. These will probably have to be morality plays as there are very few high class plays of other sorts, according to Miss Banfield, instructor in the department.

A feature of the winter's work is the organization of "The Company" a special advanced class, which will present all of the productions of the season, drawing material from other classes as needed. "The Company," represents "H" students and is limited to 12 members. So far this class includes Ruth Young, Hester Hurd, Gladys Diment, Katherine Hartley, Frances Frater and Helen Purington. Rehearsals will be held Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock.

COMFORT URGES SUPPORT FOR ALL CAMPUS ACTIVITY

Sacred Traditions Must Be Guarded, Says New President.

PLEA MADE TO STOP SPREAD OF INFLUENZA

Band Men Have Equal Chance With Other S. A. T. C. Men For Commissions

A general plea for students to interest themselves in college activities of all kinds characterized the first student body meeting of the year held in Villard hall Wednesday morning. Captain Charles Comfort, who was installed as student body president at the meeting; President Campbell; Bill Hayward, track coach, and Dean Walker, graduate manager, united in urging all to participate in active college life.

Speaking of the years of work that have been necessary to bring the student body to its present point of organization, President Comfort called on all students to meet the new conditions of the year as business men are meeting their troubles.

"In order to keep the student body intact, in order to keep student activities up, we need the active interest of every man and woman," stated President Comfort.

Preserve Oregon Traditions.

"That the traditions of Oregon, which have been made sacred through the students' love for Oregon, should not be violated was another plea made by the president.

"Oregon students never walk on the Oregon soil," he explained to the new students. "Nor do the juniors or underclassmen sit on the senior bench. Some traditions, such as the Varsity room in the men's gym, will have to be given up, but let us keep all those we can."

In speaking of the Oregon spirit, President Comfort stated that all those who enter into the activities of college life get that far-famed spirit, which means "fight and fight for Oregon."

President Campbell urged that everyone meet the problem of preventing the spread of influenza as if it were a problem of the battlefield. He advised obedience to orders, cheerfulness and good courage.

Keep Courage Up.

"Let this situation be a test of your morale," he added. "Your war work will come in keeping up your courage and spirits. Also keep up your college organizations."

Dean Walker explained the situation that faces the student body this year, both in a financial way and in the matter of broken-up organization.

"There is a big need for hard, self-sacrificing work by everybody," said Dean Walker. "The only way you can get the broad college experience is to get in the games for all there is in it."

Bill Hayward spoke on the track and

UPPER CLASSES TO ELECT

Juniors and Seniors to Fill Vacancies At Next Class Meetings.

New class officers will be elected to the vacant offices in the two upper classes at the next meeting. Gladys Smith, vice-president of the junior class, has called a meeting of the juniors for Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to elect a president for the place left vacant by Harry Jamieson, now in the navy. The seniors will meet probably sometime this week, nothing definite has been decided about the time or place. The seniors need a new class secretary to take the place of Helen Downing, who has not returned to college.

Tuesday afternoon the sophomores held a class meeting. Odine Mickleson, class treasurer and sole remaining official of that class, acted as chairman pro tem and conducted the elections for new class officers. Ed Durno was elected as the new class president, defeating Leith Abbott, the other nominee for the office, by one vote. John Kennedy, sophomore class president elected last spring is now in the navy. Unanimous votes were cast for Margaret Jones, as vice-president, and Gladys Hollingsworth, secretary.
