OREGON'S NEW POSITION

During the last two years Oregon has received honors and earned a reputation outside its own state as no other university in the west. This year Oregon has grown to a new position among western educational institutions.

Much of the credit goes to the several Oregon instructors, chemists, and research workers who have turned down larger salaries from eastern schools to continue their work at Oregon because they like this University and its spirit a student body and faculty.

Oregon's new standing in American college athletics also is now recognized. A foundation for this was gradually built at Oregon by continually successful football teams under Bezdek and the great track men placed in the coast conferences for Oregon by "Bill" Hayward with the result that Oregon was represented at the last Olympic games with a representation above the average for a western University. Before that time eastern men had not thought of the westerns as competitors. When Oregon followed this gradually built reputation by the defeat of Pennsylvania's winning team from the east at Pasadena, lemon yellow fame spread and the "lemon yellow" peril was no longer confined to coast conferences.

This year, however, conditions in University life have changed. Oregon is still holding her new niche in American University life.

Acting in his capacity as secretary-treasurer of the American Council of Education, a position given him as a result of Oregon's new position and because this very position of his University was a lasting recommendation of his ability among American University heads, President Campbell, of Oregon, was one of the leaders, who framed and caused the military department of the United States to adopt for 300 American colleges the present Students' Army Training Camps one of which is located at Oregon.

All last summer the eyes of American Universities were fixed upon President Campbell and his few associates in Washington. That itself was a distinction alike for a western University president and for a western University.

But Oregon has gone farther. Under the plan for the S. A. T. C. which President Campbell helped work out, the S. A. T. C. unit at Oregon has achieved recognition as a model for the other universities of this section.

This latest tribute to Oregon came yesterday through the visit of Chancellor Edward C. Elliott of the University of Montana, head of the educational section of the S. A. T. S. in the northwest, who is touring the units in this district.

Oregon will be held up as an example of efficiency to the other military units in this district, Chancellor Elliott said while here. He gave warm commendation to all connected with the Oregon organization.

Mighty Oregon!

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

Why did you come to Oregon? To get married? To study Military Tactics?

To have a good time? To learn how to make a big income? Or are you after knowledge?

You won't be disappointed if you are after any of these, but there are some other things to remember. The citizens of Oregon made possible your opportunity and demand useful men and women from the University. To be a really good citizen it is necessary to be more than a highly trained, efficient workman. A man or woman is not fully developed until he has learned through contact with other people, what sympathy means, until he can see the other fellow's view point.

If you do not learn to mix at college your chances later will be greatly diminished. The four years at college are four years of living. The standards set at college will be held through life.

To deepen sympathy is to improve judgment. With an increase of knowledge comes the realization of the worth of people.

Don't neglect the study but get into student activities. Live while you are going to Oregon. H. B.

LATE FACULTY LIST HAS 24 NEW NAMES

Directory Shows 23 Instructors of Last Year's Staff Missing.

This year's faculty directory is being compiled by Miss Charlie Fenton, clerk to President P. L. Campbell and secretary of the University alumni association. It will probably be out the first part of next week. There are 24 new instructors on the campus, while 23 of last year's faculty are missing.

The directory includes the following new instructors but as yet does not list their addresses:

Lieutenant Rueben S. Zimmerman, personnel office.

Celeste Foulkes, assistant in botany.
Reta Hough, assistant in chemistry.
Annie Laurie Rogers, assistant in commerce.

Helen Flint, assistant in chemistry.
H. T. Boyce, assistant professor in commerce.

Helene Delano Vosper, assistant librarian.

G. E. Finnerty, assistant in education.

J. C. Almack, acting director of the extension department.

Mabel Dorsey, instructor in public speaking.

Gladys Gorman, assistant professor in physical education.

Norma Dobie, instructor in modern literature.

Earl Packard, professor of geology.

Charles Huntington, physical trainer for men.

Antoinette Shumway, assistant in household arts.

Helen Rhodes, professor of art and architecture.

Robert L. Barron, professor of violin.

Eleanor Lee, teacher of voice.

Colonel W. R. Bowen, commanding officer of the S. A. T. C.

Captain Klare F. Covert, U. S. A., officer in the S. A. T. C.

2nd Lieutenant Edward E. Radcliff, U. S. A., officer in S. A. T. C.

2nd Lieutenant Frank Spradlin, Jr., U. S. A. in S. A. T. C.

2nd Lieutenant Roudi H. Partridge, U. S. A., in S. A. T. C.

2nd Lieutenant Cornelius G. Willis, U. S. A., in S. A. T. C.

Eleven in the Service.

Many of the members of the faculty who were on the campus last year have not returned. Some of these have been called to the colors, some have resigned to take up new lines of work, and some are away on leave of absence.

In the service are Roy Andrews, at Camp Taylor, Kentucky; Roswell Dosch, second lieutenant stationed at Reed College; Professor F. S. Dunn, on his way to Italy as Y. M. C. A. secretary; John Stark Evans; Deau Elizabeth Fox, in war work in France; B. L. Granger; Alfred Powers, Camp Kearney, California; A. G. Shelton, second lieutenant at the Rockefeller Institute, New York; R. B. Teachout, on a psychological examining board at Camp Lewis; L. O. Rosenberg, with a camouflage section in France, A. P. O. 731; Giles M. Rich, on a psychological examining board at Camp Kearney, California.

Those who have gone to other colleges or schools are Hugo Bendick, Pennsylvania State College; Professor A. P. R. Drucker, Colorado College, Colorado Springs; Hazel Rader, Oakland, California; Roy M. Winger, professor of mathematics at the University of Washington.

WOMEN REQUESTED TO MAKE SANDBAGS

Colonel Leader Must Have Trench Material Next Week.

Red Cross work in the form of making sand bags may be undertaken by University women, if a suggestion made by Colonel John Leader to a meeting of the executive committee of Woman's league held Wednesday is carried out. Because the Y. W. C. A. bungalow is in use as a gymnasium for the women, regular Red Cross work has been postponed until later, although work in organization has already been started by Bernice Spencer, chairman.

ONLY ONE APPLIES FOR WEST POINT

Kiby Miller, of Medford, S. A. T. C. Man, Takes His Examination

One applicant, Kirby Miller, was examined this morning for admittance to West Point by the examining board which met at ten o'clock in Professor E. E. DeCou's room in Johnson Hall. Should Mr. Miller pass the examination, he will receive his appointment the first of November for the full term of training at West Point.

Mr. Miller is a resident of the first congressional district of Oregon and is now a member of the S. A. T. C. His home is in Medford.

The examining board composed of Professor E. E. DeCou, chairman, Colonel W. H. C. Bowen, Major Eric W. Allen, Dr. E. S. Bates and Dr. C. H. Edmondson, will recommend applicants who have passed both the mental and physical tests to Congressman W. C. Hawley who will finally make the appointment. Previous records in scholarship and a high school education or its equivalent and within the age limit of not under 18 or over 22 and at least five feet in height are required of all applicants who qualify.

The second examination for admittance to West Point occurs next Wednesday, and James C. Fuller is the only one so far to show his telegram which grants him the permission of trying for the appointment to the national military school. This examination will be conducted along the same lines as the other it is thought, though full instructions and the questions have not yet arrived. Should the questions fail to arrive before the examination the examining board here has received orders to make out the questions. This examination is open to men in the whole state and no limit has as yet been put upon the number of men who may be selected. Colonel Bowen will appoint the five examining officials for the board.

ETHEL MURRAY IS CALLED

Oregon Girl Expects to Start for France Sometime Next Week.

Ethel Murray, a member of the class of 1919 who took the reconstruction course offered at Reed College this summer and who for the past few months has been an assistant there and engaged in playground work received her call for overseas service on October 5, and will probably start for France sometime next week.

WOMEN REQUESTED TO MAKE SANDBAGS

Colonel Leader Must Have Trench Material Next Week.

Red Cross work in the form of making sand bags may be undertaken by University women, if a suggestion made by Colonel John Leader to a meeting of the executive committee of Woman's league held Wednesday is carried out. Because the Y. W. C. A. bungalow is in use as a gymnasium for the women, regular Red Cross work has been postponed until later, although work in organization has already been started by Bernice Spencer, chairman.

The sand bags are needed for building trenches, said Colonel Leader, who declared that the women of the University would be performing a real patriotic duty in making the bags. No definite decision has yet been reached in regard to this work. Two hours of Red Cross work each week for each woman in the University was decided upon by the executive committee as its recommendation.

All-Girl Dance Planned.

Plans for the sponsor-sponsee dance, given annually for the freshmen women, were made and a dance will be given as soon as possible after the ban is lifted on public gatherings, according to Dorothy Flegal, president of Woman's League. Organizations of Triple "B" and Triple "C" were done away for this year by the executive committee, after the decision that these organizations never paid for themselves in former years and served poorly the purpose for which they were formed, furnishing a social organization for sophomore and junior women. Triple "A" will continue.

The following committees were named by Miss Flegal for the Woman's league for this year:

Committees Are Named.

Social committee: Ruby Bogue, Era Godfrey, Lois Macy, Evelyn Smith, Leta Kiddle. Athletic association: Maud Lombard, Harriet Garrett, Hazel Rankin. Municipal service committee: Louise Davis, Frances Stiles, Helen Woodcock. Consumers' League: Grace Hammerstrom, Ethel McGilchrist, Elvira Thurlow. Sponsor committee: Frances Elizabeth Baker, Ruby Bogue, Marion Coffey. Finance committee: Reba Macklin, Nana Axtell, Melba Williams. Women's building committee: Helen Anderson, Gladys Hollingsworth.

War fund work: Marion Coffey, Madeline Slotboom, Lucile Caswell. Executive board personnel: Dorothy Flegal, president; Ruby Bogue, vice-president; Maud Lombard, woman's athletic association; Eva Hansen, secretary; Reba Macklin, treasurer; Dean Ehrmann; Frances Elizabeth Baker, sponsors; Louise Davis, municipal; Grace Hammerstrom, consumers' league; Helen Anderson, women's building; Marion Coffey, war fund; Essie Maguire, Y. W. C. A.; Melba Williams, glee club; Ethel Waite, Entaxian; Madeline Slotboom, Kwama; Mabel Weller, Tre Nu; Bernice Spencer, Red Cross.

NEW BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS

The librarians are still collecting books for the soldiers, sailors and men of the lumber camps. The books may be left down-stairs in the library at any time of the day.
