FRESHMEN AIDED BY FATE AND WEATHER

Hendricks Hall Initiation Started at an Early Hour by Sophomores.

An excellent energetic group of girls aided by fate and the weather go to make up a Freshman class at Hendricks hall, that the sophomores will have to get up very early in the morning to beat.

By the stealthy footsteps and muffled laughter heard around the nice hour of 5 Thursday morning, the upper class women realized with a sigh that freshman invitation by the sophomores had begun.

But the stealthy footsteps were not those of esteemed sophomores routing out supposedly sleepy frosh. Instead they belonged to the hastily formed vigilantes' committee of freshman who took it upon themselves to awake their own members, get them over to the trysting place ahead of time and thereby steal a march on their worthy superiors.

Strange to say, it all worked well, instead of marching over in twos under the personal supervision of the sophomores they were on the steps of the Ad. building when the latter arrived and impudently greeted them with a song disclosing the fact that the secret information of what the badges were to be had somehow leaked out.

Roll was called and in due ceremony each girl was presented with a green clothespin to be worn during the time of initiation, which is two days. Then one by one they filed back to the hall.

But clothespins are minor details and the least of their worries. What is more inconvenient, not to say aggravating at times, is not being able to speak at the table (except in terms of "yes, please," and "no, thank you.")

Then, too, napkins are to be worn around the neck, the back door is the only means of entrance, a courtesy must be effected before speech is possible to upper class women, no jewelry of any kind may be worn and they are not to sit in the living room except on the floor.

What worried the freshmen most was the thought of appearing on the campus always with a raised umbrella. In fair weather the effect would be startling. But here again the freshmen were lucky. When morning dawned it was found that umbrellas were a coveted possession and not a burden.

MISS TINGLE URGES SAVING

"The ending of the war will make a great deal of difference in home economics," said Miss Lillian Tingle, head of the home economics department, today. "No orders have been received as yet concerning food concentration after the war, but indications before peace was declared pointed out that there would be an increased need for conservation now.

"All foods must be carefully conserved now, although there will probably be some relaxation about bread because more ships will be available to bring in the long distance wheat. At the same time there will be an increased demand from overseas. We must aid in providing food for the repatriated people and for the prisoners of war. The difficulties of shipping to neutral countries will be lessened and a demand for food will come from them."

"The United States family will have plenty to eat but it will have to economize in order that there may be a fair distribution of food for all countries. The entire outlook is much brighter now, but we must not relax. Food conservation has brought an increase in the health of the American people and this should be a lesson to us and to the generations to come. It has been a marvelous education to us and one which was badly needed, because the people of the United States have been the most bountifully fed, the most dispeptic, and the most extravagant people in the world."

SHAVER WINS COMMISSION

Dr. J. H. Gilbert has received word from his brother-in-law, J. W. Shaver, that Mr. Shaver is to receive his commission as a lieutenant in the 16th Engineers very soon. Mr. Shaver enlisted and went to France as a private with the first contingent of engineers.

At present he is working in the engineers' office assisting in the compilation of material concerning the history and work of the engineering corps in France. A biographical sketch of every member of the engineering corps is to be included in the work.

J. W. Shaver was a reporter on the Portland Oregonian before enlisting.

He doesn't expect to return to the United States soon, because, he says, there is a great deal of work in France for the engineers to do.

GREEN RIBBON MYSTIFIES

Hendricks Hall Girls Form New Holy Order of Doughnut.

Residents of Hendricks hall received a slight shock Wednesday night when it was found that some of the most esteemed members of the hall were wearing on the left side a large and very conspicuous bow of tissue paper and green ribbon.

Of course great secrecy was effected, but finally at the close of the dinner hour when one of the wearers of the tissue paper badge announced in a thoroughly matter of fact way that the members of "The Holy Order of the Royal Purple Doughnut" would hold a meeting immediately afterwards, excitement ran high.

CHURCH CALLS STUDENTS

Y. W. C. A. Is Making Plans for Sunday.

The Y. W. C. A. is planning to make tomorrow "Go to Church Sunday" for the students.

The ban on meetings will be lifted by them and the Eugene churches will resume their regular services.

Dorothy Flegel, chairman of Bible Study committee of the local association, has arranged for a representative in each house to advertise "Go to Church" Sunday.

They are: Chi Omega, Wanda Nelson; Delta Delta Delta, Florence Riddle; Gamma, Phi Beta, Nita Hunter; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Mary Irving; Kappa Alpha Theta, Donna Spencer; Alpha Phi, Lucile McCorkle; Delta Gamma, Edna Grey; Pi Beta Phi, Mildred Steinmetz; Hendricks hall, first unit, Austrid Mork; second unit, Beulah Keagy; third unit, Marian Bowen; fourth unit, Kathryn Johnson; fifth unit, Ronaldo Cameron.

The influenza epidemic upset the plans for Bible study classes planned by the association, and the committee is endeavoring to get the women enrolled in Sunday school classes of the various churches of Eugene.
