OREGON SPIRIT SHOWS SLUMP

Last night at the first regular student body dance since the influenza ban has been lifted on the Oregon campus, there were at least fifty men who came alone, even after it had been announced that dates were the order of the evening. Counting these fifty men and the ones who did not go at all, then there must have been about half of the girls of the University who had no opportunity to go to the first real student body dance of the year.

And again, counting these fifty extra men, every girl who did attend the dance including a few who came in groups should have danced every dance. But, every girl did not dance every dance by any means, in spite of the efforts of the floor committee to make the student body dance a dance for all of the students who were there, and not for a few.

We have heard a lot about Oregon Spirit and Oregon Tradition this year. They have put over the United War Work drive, won the football game, made a success of the Emerald campaign. And the very first essential of Oregon Spirit is good sportsmanship — backing University activities to the very last ditch and taking the trouble once in a while to wonder whether your fellow student is enjoying his college life as well as you are.

Last night was intended to be a democratic dance. One of the traditions that it seemed unnecessary to remind Oregon men and women of is that the student body dances are for everybody. And especially are they for the freshmen men and women, since it is surely through general participation of the freshmen in all-University affairs—whether it be a rally, or a student body dance—that the Oregon Spirit of democracy and good sportsmanship may be passed from class to class. Comparatively speaking there were fewer Freshman girls at the dance than any other class. And surely a spirit of good sportsmanship and good fellowship is neither made or kept when a few, and the same few, have opportunity to take part in certain activities, either social or of any other sort.

Last night the sort of Oregon Spirit that was evidenced was the sort that lets groups of girls sit around the wall while groups of men gathered together and talked among themselves. And all this in spite of the sincere effort of the floor committee to revive the real Oregon Spirit among the crowd.

Are you one of the men who were too careless to ask a girl to a dance she had a perfect right to go to, and then you went alone and danced with the girl some other man brought? Are you one of the men who came and stood around the door with a big group and calmly watched girls sit out dance after dance?

Are you one of the girls who "were very sorry but you had another engagement" when an Oregon man asked you to go to the student body dance, and then you went to the Rex perhaps, with another girl and crabbled all evening, just because you weren't quite satisfied with the invitation?

If you are, you have missed by a long way the real meaning of the Oregon Spirit, which means first, good fellowship and democracy and sturdy co-operation to make Oregon the school that everyone will be glad to call alma mater and will leave with the happiest of memories. H. B.-E. R.

O. A. C. SOCCER GAME PUT OFF TWO WEEKS

Places on Varsity Strongly Contested; Line-up to Be Decided Soon.

The soccer game with O. A. C. has been indefinitely postponed. The nearest probable date will be two weeks from Saturday. O. A. C. is having trouble getting her team in condition and announced she could not promise a game sooner than this and have a team of which she was confident. As soon as he returns from the California football game, Lieut. E. E. Badeloff will make arrangement for this game.

According to Coach Riley, Oregon's chances are good, and were it not for the fact that military duties and enforced obligations to things military has up to the present time taken the men away from regular practice, the team would give any soccer combination in the country a "run for its money," because as Riley put it, "the material is here."

Harry Langton, "Art" Ritter, and "Dan" Patterson are running well as forwards and make up a combination that will take some playing to beat. J. H. Schmeer, a steady player and hard worker, is holding down the difficult and important goal position. In the backfield "Sam" Lehman and Ralph Knudson have been showing up to best advantage, followed closely by A. S. Teller, Lyle Bain, Harold Conley, "Monty" Montgomery, Johnny Dierdorf and L. J. Ellis.

"Shots" Puts Crimp in Home Games. Coach Riley is anxious to stage another inter-company game the early part of next week, but "shots" and vaccinations are not conducive to scrimmage of the nature that such a game would undoubtedly bring forth. Therefore, since vaccinations are an uncertain quantity, another game between the two rival organizations is not apt to take place for another week.

The men have been having both field and blackboard practice. The blackboard practice is from nine to ten in the evenings and gives them a thorough review of the plays. The field practice has been stiff. After the inter-company game Wednesday Coach Riley found the weak points in his lineup and strengthened them. The places on the varsity and for the proposed game with O. A. C. are strongly contested and the team cannot be selected until the next few days.

Players Show Up Well. In the inter-company game last Wednesday Langton, Dan Patterson, Schmeer, R. J. Patterson and Knudson showed up well for Company A. In Company B, Cox, Leslie and Montgomery played good ball. In the first part of the game Company A showed fine team work and their backs several times saved the day by well placed kicks. In the last half Company B's backs stiffened and kept the ball well in A's territory.

RUBY BOGUE GETS POSITION

Appointed as Physical Director in Albion (Idaho), State Normal.

Ruby Bogue, of Eugene, a senior in the University, yesterday received an appointment as director of physical education in the Albion State Normal school, at Albion, Idaho. Miss Bogue will start on her new duties January 1. She has completed practically all her work in the physical education department, in which she is majoring, but has not received her degree, being a member of the class to be graduated in June, 1919.

Miss Bogue has been active in all University and campus activities, especially women's sports. She was head of golf last year and played on the varsity basketball and hockey teams. She is at present vice-president of the Women's League.

Campus Social Activities

Dinners, dances, teas and perhaps most of all the enthusiasm aroused by the Oregon-California game this afternoon have gone to make the week-end a notable one in the social calendar of the University students. Oregon men, who have been bound for so long by the iron fetters of the "flu" ban are finding it difficult to meet all their engagements, for at last the pendulum has swung and swung indeed, with great force. Plans for entertainment on the campus during the Thanksgiving holidays are well underway by those who are to remain in Eugene during the vacation and those who have the opportunity of going to their homes next Thursday are busy looking up railroad bulletins and are investigating the train schedules. In all, there is excitement on foot, and the rumor that "the old campus is going to hum this year" is no empty pass phrase.

Last night the Eugene armory was the scene of the first real student body informal of the year and the careful plans of the committees in charge to make it one of the best of college dances may be said to have materialized. Laughing, chattering students thronged the armory at 8:30 and the dancing started promptly. Hendershott's orchestra held down the platform in the center of the floor and played with a vim that allowed no lagging.

The corner for the patrons and patronesses was comfortably arranged with easy chairs and red, white and blue bunting hung from the balcony formed the only decoration used. Paul Jones' were in order and added greatly to the pep of the evening. The dancing lasted until 11:30 which gave plenty time for the fifteen dances and two extras which were marked on the programs. Spectators in the balcony came and went during the evening to watch the dancing.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were: President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Dean Louise Ehrmann, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Colonel and Mrs. W. H. C. Bowen and Colonel and Mrs. John Leader. Members of the student committee in charge of affairs were: Nish Chapman, chairman, Ella Dews and Jack Dundore. The faculty committee consisted of Dean Louise Ehrmann, Miss Mary Perkins, Colonel W. H. C. Bowen and Lieutenant W. F. G. Thacher.

The members of Kappa Alpha Theta are hostesses this evening for a very informal dance in their chapter house. Autumn leaves and chrysanthemums are to be used in the decorations and a special dance is to be a feature of the evening. Patrons and patronesses are: Dean Louise Ehrmann, Dr. and Mrs. John Board, Mrs. F. L. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Vance and Mr. and Mrs. David Graham. The guest list includes: Lieutenants R. S. Zimmerman, A. B. Eganey, C. G. Willis, Frank Spratlen and R. H. Partridge, Ensign W. C. Heppenheimer, Arthur Ritter, Don Portwood, Forrest Watson, Bill Daugherty, Richard Martin, Eugene Boylen, Jack Dundore, Ralph Burgess, Francis Jackson, John Houston, Lyle Bain, Don Patterson, Douglas Mularky, Bill Hollenbeck, Paul Hamilton, Harold Connelly, Phil Owens, Ray Moores, Martin Sichel, Allard Heitkemper, Chuck Huggins, Hugh Thompson, Hal Nicolai, Harris Ellsworth, Walcott Buren, Sterling Patterson, William Lyle, Charles Comfort, Bruce Bailey, Maurice Mann, Bud McDonald and Boyd Hayres.

Honoring Miss Tirza Dinsdale, local Y. W. C. A. secretary, who has been in Portland for several weeks working on the United War Work drive, and who returned to the campus Wednesday, the cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. entertained with a surprise dinner Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Bungalow. The hostesses themselves arranged and prepared the dinner which was unique in every way. Clever place cards and crepe paper decorations were effectively used. The evening was spent informally around the fireplace and the Round Robin letter written by the cabinet members were read.

Members of the Association Collegiate Alumnae met this noon for luncheon in the grill room of the Hotel Osburn. Mrs. Boudinet Seeley spoke on the duties of an alumnae association and reports were given by the heads of various committees. This was the first meeting of the organization this year and over fifty members were present.

The drawing room at Hendricks hall was the scene of a very pretty tea Thursday afternoon when Dean Louise Ehrmann and Mrs. Edna P. Datson entertained over 150 of their friends in honor of Miss Gertrude Talbot, head resident at Hendricks hall and Mrs. Anne L. Tannahill, national grand president of Pi Beta Phi, who is a visitor in Eugene this week. Pink chrysanthemums and ferns were artfully arranged on the tea table which was presided over by Mrs. W. H. C. Bowen, Mrs. John Leader and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher. Heads of the various women's fraternities assisted in the drawing room. Lucille Parsons and Elizabeth McHalley were at the door. Several delightful musical numbers given by Miss Charlotte Banfield and Miss Theodora Stoppenbach. Over 150 town and college women called during the afternoon.

Honoring their pledges, the sophomores and upperclassmen of Delta Delta Delta, are entertaining with an informal dancing party in their chapter house this evening. The Thanksgiving idea will be carried out in the decorations in which autumn leaves and yellow streamers will play an important part. A jazz orchestra will be the feature of the evening. Dean Louise Ehrmann, Mrs. C. B. Cox and Mrs. J. H. Gilbert will act as patronesses for the affair. The guest list includes Alys Sutton, Jack Holden, Don Orput, Dick Lyans, Nelson Dezendorf, Ed Lindsey, Sid Tewksbury, West Frater, Vern Dudley, Mac Wilkins, Don Dalgleish, Don Vanboskirk, Cliff Manerud, Don Oxman, George Mayo, Wayne Laird and Stan Atkinson.

Mrs. Aaron Chatfield, Delta Gamma chaperon, was the inspiration for a clever tea given this afternoon by the members of Delta Gamma in their chapter house. Autumn leaves and fir boughs converted the rooms into lovely rustic bowers. Mrs. C. C. Page and Mrs. W. F. Gilstrap presided at the tea table. Over 150 women called between 3 and 5:30.

Wednesday dinner evening guests of Gamma Phi Beta were Mrs. W. A. Kuykendall, Mrs. T. E. Stebno, Mrs. S. M. Calkins, Mrs. John Porteous, Mrs. V. C. Brock and Mrs. A. C. Dixon.

Miss Elizabeth Hogg, Miss Gladys Gorman, Miss Norma Dobbie were dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma Wednesday evening.

Lillian Miller, 'S, of Pioneer, is the house guest of Mrs. Kathryn Johnson at Hendricks hall for the week-end. Miss Miller will leave Monday for Marshfield where she has a position in the high school.

Miss Dorothy Sanford and Miss Dorothy Reed motored Friday to Marcola, where they will spend the week-end with friends.

MILITARY POLICE ON BEATS MONDAY

Will Watch Out for Violators of Rules; Honor System in Main Continues.

Strict military discipline, with all S. A. T. C. men marching to classes and with military police on the campus all day, will be inaugurated Monday. Colonel Bowen said this morning. Six or more men will be on military police duty daily. They will wear army bands of lemon yellow with "M. P." in olive drab letters. They will not have the power of arrest, but will report to the officer of the day the names of any men, who do not adhere strictly to military discipline.

"We wish to place the men largely on their honor," Colonel Bowen said this morning. "The military police will watch chiefly for small breaches of rules, such as smoking on the campus. In the evenings they will be on duty down town to see that no man is without his pass, and when the uniforms come, to see that all are properly uniformed."

The officer of the day will be one of the lieutenants, will have charge of the inspection of the barracks and the inspecting of men on the parade grounds.

The same men will not serve on police duty all day, but will be relieved, so that study and recitation hours will not be interrupted. Probably eighty men in the companies will serve on police duty altogether, so the burden on each will not be heavy, Colonel Bowen explained.
