

Fraternities Planning to Return To Their Former Haunts Next Term

Greeks Prepare to Move When Released From Military Discipline; Old Members Now in Service Hope to Return Home Soon.

The first of the year will see the return of most of the fraternities to their old haunts. With the demobilization of the S. A. T. C. and the return to normal college life, the initiation of pledges will be resumed which was forbidden under the military law.

The Sigma Chi members will return to their old home on the corner of 13th and Alder at the beginning of the next term, and the Gobs now occupying the house will have embarked for other voyages. Sixteen men now in school plan to move in, of which nine are pledges. They also expect to have back with them three men who will return to college from service, Walter Parsons, Keith Leslie and "Spike" Leslie.

The Alpha Tau Omega house on Oak Street, which was used for O. A. C. barracks during the recent camps, is already in process of being cleaned and polished for a home coming. The four older members and the fourteen pledges will begin moving in as soon as discharged from the S. A. T. C. but they will probably not be "at home" to callers before January 1st. They too expect to have back with them Morris Morgan, Rex Stratton and Joe Williams from service by that time.

The Sigma Nu house, the large three-story house on 11th and Pearl, is now being occupied by three members of the fraternity awaiting the return of the other members and pledges after their discharge from military discipline. About five members and fourteen pledges expect to join the three and Warren Gilbert, John Matheson, Sprague Carter and Flint Johns have written that they expect to return to the University immediately upon their discharge from the army.

The members of the Beta Theta Pi who now have a small house on 12th, will move back to their former home, white house on Mill and 12th, at the beginning of the next term. Curtiss Peterson is planning to come back to the University in time to join the 15 men here, of which 10 are pledges, in their home coming.

The new Phi Gamma Delta house on 14th and Alder will, in all probability, be occupied by the members of that fraternity as soon as they are discharged from the S. A. T. C.

The Phi Delta Theta house on Kin-aid and 13th has been leased by the University and is now occupied by the University band. However with the demobilization of the S. A. T. C. the lease will probably expire and the members of that fraternity hope to get into their house by the first of the new year. Fourteen men, including eleven pledges, will try and hold down a house built for twice their number. Seven members who are now in the naval training station at the University of Washington are trying to get their discharges in order to return to school here.

The 12-room house on 11th Street, owned by the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, is now occupied by some of the S. A. T. C. men but the fraternity will be in residence there by the next term. Five of the older men in school and seven pledges will be ready to move in soon and Paul Downard will return from service to be with them.

The Kappa Sigmas will move back into their own house at Eleventh and Alder streets as fast as they are discharged. Five of last year's members and eleven pledges will move from the S. A. T. C. barracks directly into the house, and besides these Lawrence Hershner, Donald Robinson and Lloyd Still will probably return.

Some of the furniture belonging to the men's houses has been in use in the women's fraternity houses while the men's quarters have been used as barracks, and the girls regret the giving up of some of it. The popular game will be "furniture, furniture, who has the furniture," at the beginning of the year.

MISS FITCH SPEAKER FOR Y. W. MEETING

Recently Home From France With Material for Book on Women's Work.

Miss Louise Fitch, head of the department of magazines for the Y. W. C. A. and national president of the Delta Delta Delta fraternity, who returned from France six weeks ago where she was sent by the Y. W. C. A., will be the speaker at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Bungalow.

Miss Fitch arrived in Eugene last night from the south where she was one of the speakers for the United War Work campaign. She was sent to France about a year ago to investigate the condition of the women of that country for the purpose of bringing this knowledge back to the United States. Her book, "Madame France, Warrior," will be off the press in about a month. It is being published by the Women's Press of New York, a bureau of the national Y. W. C. A. Industrial Centers Visited.

While gathering material for her book Miss Fitch visited about 25 industrial centers of France. She witnessed many air raids, and at one time on account of them, helped to take several hundred children from Paris to southern France. When the Germans entered Chateau Thierry on the night of May 30, Miss Fitch said that she had a bit of excitement, as she was helping care for the refugees in a canteen there.

Miss Fitch went overseas last spring along with a party of which Miss Elizabeth Fox, former dean of women at the University, now on leave of absence, was a member. She saw Miss Fox in Tours last summer, just as the latter was cleaning up her rest hotel in preparation for a family of "hello girls" who were to arrive.

She also met Dr. Bertha Stuart, formerly head of the gymnasium work for women here, at Blois where she is supervising the regulation of a child hospital. She also met Colin V. Dymont, professor of journalism at the University a few years ago, and DeWitt Gilbert, ex-'18, whom she chanced to meet at the Y. W. C. A. hotel in Paris. Miss Fitch also came upon several other Oregon people who were anxious to see an American woman and even more glad when they discovered that Miss Fitch knew a number of people here at the University.

"They sent all kinds of messages back with me, but since I had no idea of coming here I have forgotten them mostly," she said.

Miss Lee to Sing.
The subject of Miss Fitch's talk tomorrow afternoon will be her association work overseas and the war conditions of women over there. It is expected that the Bungalow will be crowded to overflowing with student listeners as there are no classes at the hour of meeting. Another offering of the afternoon will be a solo by Miss Eleanor Lee, instructor in the school of music. Joy Jenkins, chairman of the meetings committee, the Y. W. C. A., will preside at the meeting.

Miss Fitch is known on the University campus, as she was for a time chaperon of the Delta Delta Delta fraternity. While in Eugene she will be the guest of Miss Mary Perkins, professor of rhetoric, and American literature.

Although she arrived just last night, she has been scheduled to speak at several meetings in the city.

She will spend the week-end at O. A. C., where she expects to install a chapter of Delta Delta Delta and later she will install a chapter at Washington State college.

The Wednesday meeting hour of the Y. W. C. A. announced for this week is the new hour set for the regular association meetings each week, according to Miss Tirza Dinsdale, general secretary of the campus Y. W. C. A. There are no scheduled classes at this hour and for that reason it was chosen in preference to the former time which was Thursday at 4 p. m.

Fighting Eleven Wrests Victory From Washington

"They brought home the bacon." This can be applied to the Oregon team in their journey into the northland, where they met and subdued the representatives of the University of Washington. Coach Hunt and First Assistant Tony Savage. The score of the festivity in Seattle last Saturday was 7 to 0, with Oregon holding the 7.

The Washington team was no easy one to beat and they had a lot of the old "jazz" that makes the wheels move. In Eckman the northern university has a wonderful player. His work in a broken field is great and he is a wiz at running back punts.

Team Loses Trunks.
The big misfortune of the day was the failure of the Oregon suits to appear in Seattle. One of Mr. McAdoo's assistants, who have been running the railroads for the past year or so, pulled a boner and forgot to ship the Oregon trunks from the North Bank station in Portland where the team disembarked from the O. E., over to the Union station, where the Seattle train starts.

The team was finally able to beg and borrow enough wearing apparel from the Naval Training station to get going. Pat O'Rourke had a suit that was built for someone about Eddie Durmo's size. Mautz had a beautiful time getting anything to fit, and when he came out on the field he looked like one of the side-show attractions to be seen in the circus.

Touchdown Second Quarter.
Oregon scored her touchdown in the second quarter when after the backfield had plowed through the Washington line for about thirty yards, due in no small measure to the wonderful playing of Brandenburg, Francis Jacobberger took the pigskin over the last line line for the first and only counter of the game. V. Jacobberger converted.

The outstanding feature of the entire game was the work of the Oregon backs, especially Brandenburg, while V. Jacobberger made some nice gains along with his brother, and Blake, in the two chances he had to carry the oval, advanced it each time. Brandenburg appears a certainty for a half back position on the all-Northwest eleven.

Oregon Line Strong.
The Oregon line worked in fine shape in the game last week-end. Callison played a steady game, and Mautz and Harding surely did their part. O'Rourke and Trowbridge, who are about the class of the northwest when it comes to tackles, played their usual brilliant game. Howard and Wilson were there with bells. Those who saw the game in California, and the Seattle contest say that Howard played a much better game against Washington than he played in Berkeley the week before.

The Washington team has three or four good men among its members. Eckman, Carrigan, Place and Walker were all good. The men have not played together enough to make a perfect machine but they surely showed promise. In the last period they weakened somewhat, and the consistent hammering of the Oregon team put the ball on the Washington one-yard line. The whistle saved another score.

SIX IN GRADUATE SCHOOL

The number of graduate students in the University this semester is six, which, owing to the war conditions, is small compared to other years. The following students are in the graduate class: Margaret B. Edmondson majoring in Education, prepared at Washburn college; Ada R. Hall, majoring in Zoology, graduate of the University, 1917; D. E. Eddy Nesty, majoring in Psychology, prepared at the University of Southern California; Annie L. Rogers, majoring in Sociology, prepared at Oxford College; Ida V. Turney, majoring in Rhetoric, prepared at Beloit college; Sophus K. Winther, majoring in Education, graduate of the University, class of 1918.
