ROSWELL DOSCH

Again the influenza has taken as toll one of the finest and most useful of citizens in the passing of Lieut. Roswell Dosch in Portland a few days ago.

To him was not given the glory of death on the battlefield of Europe—but his service was no less noble, his sacrifice no less great. For the spirit of his enlistment in the Officers' Training Corps at the Presidio was that of offering his whole service to his country with perfect willingness to serve wherever his country should place him.

After his study abroad he came back to his native state, Oregon, and in the three years as instructor in modeling and art, he had come to occupy a permanent place in the hearts of University people, as well as others who knew him personally outside of his classroom. His interest in the well-being of the University never flagged—his last work was the modeling of the memorial figure in honor of the soldier dead of the University of Oregon. This model figure which was to have been developed in bronze, was, unfortunately, broken by accident.

The friends of Roswell Dosch will miss him sorely, and the University of Oregon has lost a member whose place can not quite be filled. The most fitting tribute we of the University can pay to him is just that of deepest loss of a true friend and of pride that he should have given his own interest to the University of Oregon, and his greatest service to his country.

EXTENSION MONITOR OUT SOON.

The Extension Monitor, a publication issued by the University extension division will be ready in a few days. This edition gives a summary of the activities and information concerning the work carried on by the extension division during the year. This edition was especially prepared to be presented before the State Teachers' Association, which meets in Portland the last of December. It was originally planned to publish the Extension Monitor once a month, but owing to the war, only five editions have been put out this year.

LARAWAY OFF FOR FRANCE

Naval Medical Reserve Member Sails on Matsonia.

Thurston Laraway, ex-'20, now a member of the naval medical reserve, is probably now in France having sailed on the S. S. Matsonia one week ago Saturday, according to a letter received by Ida V. Turney, instructor in English from her sister, Mrs. P. B. Laraway of Hood River, mother of Mr. Laraway.

While in New York Mr. Laraway met and visited with his cousin Howard Cooper of O. A. C. in the mechanical engineering department of the navy. He had just received his ensign commission.

MORE TEACHERS READING

5,000 Circle Certificates Issued; Increase of 1,500.

Five thousand reading circle certificates were issued this year to teachers in the state by the University extension division. This is an increase of 1,500 over the number issued last year, when but 3,500 certificates were issued which was the smallest number since the first year the University offered the reading list.

The decrease last year was due to the fact that the state superintendent of schools did not require reading circle certificates for that year from teachers who attended the National Educational association which was held in Portland during the summer of 1917.

It is expected by John C. Almack, director of the extension division, that the number of applicants for reading circle certificates will be much larger this coming year. One reason for the expected increase is the new correspondence course offered with the reading circle certificate for the year, also one hour of University credit. According to Mr. Almack, about 150 applications for reading circle certificates for the year 1919 have already been received, which is a much larger number than is usually received so early. Most of the reading is done during the summer months.

According to the state law all teachers not in the first class districts, must read one reading circle book from either C. A. C. or the University each year. In some city schools the superintendents are requiring reading circle certificates from the teachers. About sixteen books comprise the list offered by the University. In order that there may be no conflicts, the list offered by O. A. C. deals only with industrial education.

TWO OREGON GRADS WOUNDED IN ACTION

First Lieutenants Dorris and Burgard Recovering in English Hospital.

Lieutenant Ben F. Dorris, graduate of the University in the class of 1915, and Lieutenant John Clark Burgard, graduate in 1916, are in a British hospital in France, recovering from wounds received in action on the Belgium front, November 2, according to word received by Mrs. E. P. Dorris, of Eugene, Tuesday. Mrs. Dorris was informed by the war department last Friday that her son had been wounded in action. The news received Tuesday came in a letter from Lieutenant Dorris himself.

He says that his principal injury is a broken jaw, but that he is being treated by a specialist and hopes to come out with only a slight scar.

Wounded Same Day.

Lieutenant Burgard was wounded on the same day as Lieutenant Dorris and they are in the same hospital. Lieutenant Burgard was hit in the side by two fragments of shells. One of the pieces, writes Lieutenant Dorris, went straight through one side, but Burgard is getting along nicely.

Both lieutenants were in the 91st division with Company F, 362nd infantry. They sailed last July. Dorris received his commission as second lieutenant at the first officers' training camp at the Presidio and was made first lieutenant just before sailing. Burgard received his commission as first lieutenant at the Presidio.

Advanced in Belgium.

Lieutenant Burgard was placed in command of Company H in the advance on the Belgium front November 2, when the captain of the company was wounded. Burgard was wounded at eight o'clock that morning and the command was turned over to Lieutenant Dorris, who was wounded two hours later.

Dorris is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Burgard, of Beta Theta Pi. Both were active in college affairs. Dorris was president of his class in his senior year and business manager of the Oregana.

COUCH HEAD OF COMPANY

To Remain in Army for Awhile, Then Will Return to University.

A letter received from Ray Couch, who was last year major and commanding officer of the University battalion, by Karl Onthank at the president's office, says that he is now commanding a full company of men at Camp Hancock, Georgia. Couch won his commission as a second lieutenant in the last machine-gun officers' training school Camp Hancock. He expects to stay on in the army for some time and later to return to the University and finish his course. Couch had a very severe case of influenza but has now fully recovered and is expecting to play on the officers' football team of his group in the camp.

HUT MONEY IS GIVEN TO WAR WORK FUND

Women's League Abandons Its Former Plan; $80 in Hand Already.

The women of the University decided to give to the United War Work campaign some eighty dollars which was collected last term on the "Hut in France" fund, at the first mass meeting of the year, held Tuesday. The money was donated by seniors in the majority and could not be readily returned to the donors. It has also been decided to drop the matter of collecting the remainder of the pledges that were made last spring in behalf of the prospective hut.

A committee was appointed to co-operate with Karl W. Onthank, secretary to the president of the University, in bringing the University service flag up to date, because no stars have been added to it since last term when it was unfurled. The members of this committee are Edna Gray, chairman, Margaret Mansfield, Nellie Reidt, Carol Monague, Harriet Garrett.

It is the opinion of Women's League that it might be instrumental in helping to get noteworthy speakers for assembly periods, to stop over here in Eugene. A committee to take this matter in hand was appointed and includes Ethel Waite, chairman, Beulah Keagy, Gladys Hollingsworth, Laura Rand and Ruth Graham.

A committee consisting of Phileas King and Gretchen Colton was named to attend to compiling a report of the food conservation work done by University women during the summer months from October to June. This report is to be sent to Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger, regent of the University of Oregon, who intends to represent this institution at the north-western convention of the National War Work committee.

Miss Louise C. Ehrmann, dean of women, spoke to Women's League on the "Triple Opportunity." She urged the women to put their shoulders to the wheel and to work for themselves, the University and the nation. Miss Ehrmann emphasized the necessity of high scholarship and spoke of a number of scholarships open to the University women.

LIEUT. GARRETT NOW ADJUTANT.

Lieutenant A. I. Garrett is now adjutant to Colonel W. H. C. Bowen, commanding officer of the S. A. T. C. Lieutenant Garrett, who has been in the service since January 1, 1916, came here from Kansas City, Missouri. Lieutenant Edmund Register, former adjutant, will supervise military drill.

OLD OREGON SPIRIT SHOWN

Matinee Dance in Men's Gym Celebrates Victory; New Song Sung.

The old Oregon Spirit came to the front yesterday when the student body announced a matinee dance in the men's gymnasium in honor of the victory of the football team last Saturday on the Washington gridiron. Students crowded the gym from four to six and danced with a pep that made evident the fact that the affair was a celebration.

A serpentine led by Billy Morrison circled around the hall and gave rousing yells in honor of the team. A new song, written by Bill Bolger and put to the tune of "Mighty Oregon," was sung by the group and was greeted with much enthusiasm by the students. As the serpentine filed out the dancers stood up and sang "Mighty Oregon." The new words written by Bill Bolger follow:

Oregon brought home the bacon,
Like the Yankees got the Rhine,
It was Washington they raided,
How they pounded through her line.
Just another of our victims,
But the story is not done,
For we'll keep it up forever—
Now you're fighting, OREGON.

Oregon, you are the victor,
You are noted for your fight,
You have gained it by your Spirit
That right wins over might.
We will stand behind your warriors
And we back them every one,
For we love the grand old college,
It's our Mighty Oregon.

With the old Oregon fight, the University orchestra was on the job early to help along the celebration and furnish music for the dancers. They were as willing to stay beyond the University regulations as were the dancers themselves. But regulations were obeyed.

S. A. T. C. BASKETBALL END

Regular Varsity and Fraternity Teams to Continue

Intercompany and platoon basketball has been called off owing to the almost immediate demobilization of the S. A. T. C. Lieutenant Edward Radcliffe, who is in charge of the S. A. T. C. athletics, announced at the last athletic meeting.

There will be the regular varsity and freshman teams, however, and the fraternity league. The season is close at hand and a few have appeared for practice already. There is a large number signed up.

The basketball cup, which has been up two years, has been won twice by the Sigma Chis, but it will be up again, as it must be won three times by the same organization to become a permanent trophy.

MEN RETURN TO OREGON

Fourteen Students Report From Camp Taylor; Others Coming Later.

Fourteen Oregon men, who went to Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky, November 8, returned to the campus last night for transfer to the S. A. T. C. here. They report that the other twenty-three men at the camp will be discharged today. Some will return at once to the University and others will spend Christmas in eastern cities and return to the campus for regular college work the first of the year.

The men who came back last night are Herman L. Lind, Raymond F. Koesel, Mark Irwine Hanna, Albert M. Woertendyke, and Mark R. Crain, all of Portland; Ben Breed, The Dalles; William Otis Holmes, Philadelphia, Pa.; Valmar Lyle McCroskey, Bellingham, Wash.; Elmo Madden, Seattle, Wash.; Guy E. Sacre, Monmouth; Edward B. Twining, Oswego; Carlton B. Weigel, Omaha, Nebraska; and Clyde Nelson Compton, Broadmead, Oregon.

Students of art taking architectural subjects, structural engineering, art teaching and art courses, see Dean Lawrence next Wednesday or Thursday afternoon.
