

FORMER STUDENTS MEET IN NEW YORK

"Oregon Overseas" Bulletin Brings Knighten, Patterson Together.

The meeting of Wily Knighten, ex-'19, now in the ordnance office at Port Newark, N. J., and Chalmers N. Patterson, '16, now in the ordnance department in New York, was made possible by the "Oregon Overseas" bulletin recently issued by the members of the editing class of the school of journalism. Karl Onthank, secretary to President Campbell, just received a letter from Mr. Patterson.

"Thank for me the people who sent the copy of 'Oregon Overseas,' he writes. 'Wily Knighten has been here for about nine months and I nearly eight, but neither knew the other was here until the copies came. We had an all-day visit yesterday. If only such lists were issued every month or so we would have found each other months ago and could have had several nice trips together this summer.'

Get-Together Party Planned.

There are a number of Oregon people in New York, Mr. Patterson writes, and a get-together party is being planned by them for the near future. It is their desire, he explains, to show the Oregon boys about New York when they return. "If you get in touch with them," he requests, "tell them my phone number is at the laboratories, Chelsea 1000, extension 589. Miss Ruth Duniway of the class of 1910 who is at the Y. M. headquarters, would like to get in touch with them."

He closes by saying: "I expect to return to Oregon in the next few months, though I may stay a couple of years. New Yorkers think I am very peculiar because I prefer Oregon to New York. But it would take a good deal to keep me here like some of those who have vegetated here."

New Addresses Given.

"My work has been very interesting, but we are not yet publishing any of the work done here. I suppose as soon as the treaties are actually signed, all this will be told. All together I am not sorry to have had even a small part in the wonderful work done here, even though there have been times that I have wished I could have been with the boys over there."

"Wily Knighten's address is now Ordnance Office, Port Newark, Newark, N. J. Your list did not have the name of Jay L. Fisher. His address is M. R. S. U. 321, Camp Halibrid, Bks. 503, Baltimore, Md."

OREGON MEN WILL RETURN TO CAMPUS

Former Students Hope to Re-enter University in Winter Term.

With only 40 of the S. A. T. C. who have officially signified that they do not intend to re-enter the University for the winter term after the demobilization of the unit here, the prospects are that there will be as large a registration next term as there was at the beginning of the fall term, which opened with a registration of 1375, of whom only 496 were women. The reports that one-third or one-half of the men on the campus will leave are exaggerated, said Registrar A. R. Tiffany.

A number of men in the training camps and S. A. T. S. throughout the country, who have formerly attended the University of Oregon, have written here expressing their intentions to re-enter school for the winter term, if possible. Many more have written for credentials to prove that they are University students, so that they may be discharged in time to begin the winter term. Without the credentials they would have to await general demobilization.

Those who have consulted Karl W. Onthank, secretary to the president, about re-entering school are Rex Stratton, Camp Lewis; Delmar Powers, Fort Stevens; Morris Morgan, Portland; Lee Waldron, Camp Lewis; Nellis Hamlin, Camp Grant; Lieutenant Leland Haine, Fort Monroe; Acie Dell McLain, Bremerton; Arnold Koepke, S. A. T. C. at Corvallis; Everett Pixley, naval training at Seattle; Joe Byge, Reed College; Curtiss Peterson, S. A. T. C. at the University of Washington; Jacob Chandler Harper, aero squadron, England; also a number of boys at the North Pacific Dental College.

MISS BANFIELD ACTS AS JUDGE.

Miss Charlotte Banfield, of the dramatic interpretation department was one of the judges of the tryouts for the Eugene high school dramatic department, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon. Out of 41 applicants 20 were accepted.

Noisy Ford Stops Class on Campus From Seeing Flyer

"When the airplane flies over, we will all go to the windows and watch it," promised one of the professors to the members of his class Wednesday morning when, at the sound of something like a Ford the students became much more interested in what might be going on out doors than what the teacher was saying.

The sound grew louder, every one was half way out of their seats for many had not seen the bird-like machine sail over the city the night before, and it would be their first view of a real Curtiss machine in action. A few got to the windows when they saw on the street below a Ford automobile with a trailer, attached, clattering up the street.

"It is only a Ford," the professor said and the class resumed their seats, content to wait until the buzz of the airplane announced its coming but it didn't come, and after class they found out to their dismay that the passing along the street hadn't made so much noise after all, and they had missed seeing the airplane.

COMMITTEE TO HELP KEEP CAMPUS CLEAN

Decisions Reported on Dances and Fortune Hunter at Council Meeting.

Henry English, Tracy Byers and Donald Dalgleish were appointed as a permanent campus committee at a meeting of the student council, Wednesday, in Dr. Gilbert's room in the library, to see that the campus always presents a good appearance, is well cleaned up and that the grass is not trampled down or paper scattered over it.

Nish Chapman, chairman of the dance committee, reported $70.06 taken in at the student body dance held in the armory November 22. The disbursements for the dance were $79.59 plus a jitney bill. But $19.35 was taken in at the matinee dance last Monday afternoon and this more than makes up for the expenses of the other dance.

The student social affairs committee was instructed to draw up some constructive suggestions, with regard to student body dances and present them to the faculty in January. Until some action is taken, there will be no more student body dances this college year, according to faculty ruling allowing only two such dances a year. That number has been already exceeded.

Ella Dews, chairman of the play committee, reported that "The Fortune Hunter" would be given about the second week in February under the direction of Miss Charlotte Banfield through the dramatics department. Miss Banfield readily offered her services as coach, a matter which was very much appreciated by the student council.

Karl Onthank spoke for a few minutes on how the student council grew up about three years ago and how it had tended to bring together the faculty and students.

EUGENE HIGH PLAYS ESTACADA SATURDAY

Strong School Teams Will Meet on Kincaid for Final Gridiron Contest.

Remembering your prep school days, and how excitement ran when the championship game of the season was to be played in your home town? That is what is going to happen next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 when Eugene high school will meet Estacada high school in a real game of football on Kincaid field.

Both teams have a long string of victories behind them, Estacada having even entered the sacred sanctum of Portland high schools and defeating some of those teams, and tying with Jefferson, which is in the lead in the interscholastic league of the city. Estacada has thus far scored 145 points against opponents, and has never been scored against. Eugene high has played and won four games this season, scoring a total of 128 points, against their opponents 13. According to one of the players on last year's Jefferson high team and who has watched Eugene play, says at the present time Eugene has the edge on any of the Portland teams.

Miss Velma Rupert, Laurel Canning, and Aulis Anderson were dinner guests at the Alpha Phi house Wednesday night.

Copenhagen, Dec. 5.—Several persons were killed and wounded during riots Tuesday in Cologne, which continued all night, according to reports received here today. Machine guns were turned on the rioters.
