

DRILL SHED MAY BE TURNED INTO GYM

Poor Accommodations Hinders Proper Amount of Basketball Practice.

The University faculty has recommended that a committee be appointed to see what could be done in regard to remodeling the present drill shed into a gymnasium, in hopes of overcoming the present handicap of insufficient floor space for indoor sports. The drill shed as it now stands is of little or no use to the University and is used only by those in charge of military work as a place of shelter, on stormy days, or serves as a temporary garage for "Bill" Hayward's car. The shed is exposed to a clean sweep of the wind up Thirteenth street and is even undesirable for drilling purposes.

The present gymnasium is not large enough to accommodate the varsity, freshmen, doughnut league, and other teams which desire to play. Practice for the freshmen and the varsity is now limited to a half hour a day, which leaves little time for the doughnut leaguers, or the faculty.

It must be understood that only tentative plans have been made, and this is one suggestion for solving the floor space problem. The board of regents will meet on Tuesday and will probably reach some sort of a decision then. The financial problem must be taken into consideration, also.

Dean Walker Makes Plans.

Dean Walker has plans laid which will be followed if this proposed idea is carried out.

A floor will be laid and a wall eight feet high will be made as a protection against wind. From this wall to the roof will be stretched wire, making an open air gymnasium. The lower floor will be divided by two removable partitions, thereby making three separate rooms, big enough to allow indoor baseball, volleyball, and basketball. Two floors will be used by the students and one by the faculty. The removable partitions will allow two big tennis courts where summer and winter practice may be carried on. It also may be used for a large indoor baseball diamond, or a basketball floor for the varsity games, overcoming one of the present drawbacks. This building will have the largest floor-space of any building on the campus and can be used for University functions other than athletics.

Two Stories to Be Built.

Between the girders, a floor will be laid upstairs, and a stairway built at one end. Only part of this space will be utilized for a time at least, leaving room for offices or storage of equipment. The upper floor will have five handball, volleyball or squash courts, with proper lighting and ventilation. This new building will be connected with the upper floor of the present gym by a bridge, so one may have access to both places easily.

The approximate sum needed will be a trifle under $5,000. This includes remodeling and equipment. "The building could be used for military purposes on stormy days as it is now or for any University function," says Dean Walker.

The realization of this plan depends upon financial developments and the action taken by the Board of Regents Tuesday. Dean Walker thinks the building could be completed in two or three weeks.

STUDENT PRODUCES POEM

Margaret M. Nelson's "Faith" is Published in Oregonian.

Margaret M. Nelson, a freshman in the University, is the author of a poem entitled "Faith," which was published in the Oregonian Sunday, January 19.

Miss Nelson, who is 19 years of age, is a graduate of the James John high school in Portland. She is the daughter of Samuel Nelson, 314 N. Willamette Boulevard, Portland.

Her poem follows:

FAITH
I won't believe the things they say;
I know they can't be true,
For nothing false could ever live
In you, dear heart, in you.

How can they think your lips deceive,
Your eyes express a lie?
They cannot see, they cannot know
Your heart, your soul, as I.

I do not judge the words, dear heart,
You may to others speak;
Who, hearing them, account you false;
I know the flesh is weak.

The many things we say and do,
Because we are of clay,
Do not reveal the soul of us,
Or show the truth away.

I read your lips—not what they speak,
But what they can't declare.
I read your eyes; not what they say,
But what is masked there.

Your mortal life may never bring
Your own dear self to me,
Since it must go the earthly way
To reach eternity.

Yet faith will make me strong, dear heart,
Your soul, I know, is true;
Through all man's condemnation, love,
I keep my trust in you.

I won't believe the things they say;
I know they can't be true;
For nothing false could ever live
In you, dear heart, in you.

HOW SEXTON DIED IS TOLD

Former Oregon Man Was Leading Squad Against Machine Gun Nest.

How Harold Sexton, a student in the University in 1915, died in France, is told in a letter written by his mother, Mrs. O. F. Sexton of Stockton, Cal., to relatives in Eugene.

"Just three days ago we received a letter from the captain of Harold's company. He told us how Harold was killed; said Harold was leading his squad in outflanking a Hun machine gun nest. He was in the first wave that went over the top. He was struck by six machine gun bullets in the chest and abdomen and was killed instantly. The captain said he was a fine soldier and such a good comrade. He also gave us the location of his grave. It is near the town of Very, France.

"Harold was listed wrong in the official telegram and the captain said it was a mistake of the casualty department. Harold had always been a corporal in Co. L, 363d Infantry."

DEBATING CLUB REVIVED

To Be Reorganized at Close of Intramural Season.

The University Debating club organized by Prof. R. W. Prescott, the latter part of last year, with Herman Lind as president and Abe Rosenberg, secretary, is to be reorganized at the close of the intramural debating season.

This club was organized to create interest among the students in debating and to give those students who took particular pleasure in debate an opportunity to learn its details in a practical way. The intra-mural debate league is now performing this duty, but when that incentive has passed there will be a need once more for a revival of the debating club of last year.

Professor Prescott is looking forward to the reorganization of the club with anticipation not only because it represents an organized effort on the part of the students to promote the activity in which he is most vitally interested, but also because this organization shows a determined effort on the part of the students of the University to promote a great intellectual college activity.

DOROTHY SANFORD IS LEADING SCHOLAR

Dorothy Duniway Stands Next, and Arthur Hicks Third in Honor List.

Heading a list of twenty students at the University who made an average of "S" or more last term is Dorothy Sanford, a senior in the University from Portland. Miss Sanford is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority and made 12 hours H, and 3 hours S.

Dorothy Duniway, a junior in the University, city editor on the Emerald and member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, and a graduate of Lincoln high school, Portland, is second in the list with 10 hours H and 5 hours S.

Owing to the conditions caused by the S. A. T. C. interfering with the men's study and also keeping the girls of the library all evening. The list is not as long as in normal years and only four men's names are on the honor roll. These are Arthur Hicks, a freshman from Canyon City, who is third highest among the scholars of the University. The other men are Reuel Moore, Norton Winnard and Emerald Sloan.

With H as 4, and S as 3, the percentages of the students were as follows: Dorothy Sanford, 3.80; Dorothy Duniway, 3.66; Arthur Hicks, 3.54; Irva Smith, a junior from Waltherville, 3.50; Grace Knopp, a junior from Eugene, 3.38; Marie Ridings, 3.25; Reuel Moore and Marie Turner, 3.23; Mabel Laing, 3.17; Nancy Fields, 3.16.

An average of 3 or S was averaged by the following students: Hallie Hart, Ami Lagus, Mary Matnes, Dorothy Parsons, Charlotte Patterson, Hazel Shattuck, Emerald Sloan, Marguerite Straughn, Norton Winnard and Mrs. Zona Boyd.
