

COLONIAL ASSEMBLY PLANS COMPLETE

Faces Selected for Tableaux; Casts Chosen for Plays to be Presented.

The committee composed of Mrs. John Leader, Nell Reidt, Professor W. F. G. Thacher and members of the art department, has selected the faces for the living tableaux to be presented at the colonial assembly on Washington's birthday from the masterpieces of the eighteenth century which will be represented by the following girls:

Colonial Costumes Wanted There is much beauty and grace in the old English portraits and the committee is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of making exact reproductions of the selected subjects. The committee hopes that every young woman on the campus and every faculty woman will take this opportunity to dress in the lovely, quaint costume of the colonial period and thus add greatly to the beauty and success of the whole affair.

From the dramatic interpretation classes Miss Charlotte Banfield has chosen a cast for each of the plays which are to be presented at the assembly. "Counsel Retained" will be supported by the following students: Peg Wolfington, Ruth Young, Richard Greville, Claire Keeney, Edmund Burke, Oden Johnson.

Committees for Decorations The committee on stage decoration and properties has been appointed and is already working on the stage effects. The lighting is to be in charge of David L. Stearns. Ruth Graham, Evelyn Smith and Kathryn Johnson are working out the costuming effects. The stage decoration is in charge of Helen Purington, Dorothy Wootton, Marion Ady, Marion Taylor and Pearl Craine.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

All this week has been very busy socially, with the Mu Phi supper party Wednesday night, the subscribers' tea at the bungalow Thursday afternoon, and with the well-filled week-end, the social ball has been rolling constantly. This week-end has been very much occupied with the Hendricks Hall dance at the Osburn last night and the Friendly Hall dance at the Osburn Hotel tonight.

Tonight the men of Friendly Hall are entertaining at a dance at the Osburn Hotel. The men and their guests will dance in the palm room and dining room. Punch will be served during the evening to the dancers. Patronesses of the affair are Mrs. Edna Datsun, Miss Gertrude Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher and Dr. and Mrs. John Boward.

The marriage of Fay Clarke, 12, to Julian Hurley, member of the state senate, was solemnized at 8 o'clock this evening at the Delta Gamma house, of which sorority the bride is a member.

The marriage service was read in front of an altar of banked ferns intermingled with yellow daffodils. Eight members of the local Delta Gamma chapter dressed in white and holding wide satin ribbons of gold and white formed an aisle through which the bridal party passed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Dean John Straub, wore a dress of old ivory satin, with an imported lace veil. The wedding veil, which was the groom's mother's forty years ago, was caught with orange blossoms, which were sent from California by a personal friend of the bride.

As the bride came down the aisle, members of Delta Gamma sang the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, accompanied by Aurora Potter at the piano and Alberta Potter, violinist. During the ceremony Rena Adam sang "Because" and Miss Lucile Yoran sang "For You Alone."

Guests at the wedding were: President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Yoran, Mrs. Cecelia Dunn, Miss Amy Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bean, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, of Ontario, K. K. Kubli of Portland, Robert D. Lytle of Vale, Lucile Huggins, Jennine Huggins and Olive Zimmerman of Portland, Daryl Belot, The Dalles; Helen Hall, Portland; Claribel Williams, Portland; A. M. Hurey, Vae; Heen Colbreath, of Portland; and all the active girls of Delta Gamma.

Thursday afternoon from three to four the advisory board of the Y. W. were hostesses to about two hundred townspeople and faculty of the University. Members of the advisory board are Mrs. R. T. Burnett, Mrs. W. P. Fell, Mrs. J. M. Miller, Mrs. A. E. Caswell, Mrs. Wm. Moll Case, Mrs. Walter Morton, Mrs. Donald Young, Miss Mary Perkins, Mrs. M. H. Douglas, Mrs. E. L. Knapp, Mrs. A. R. Sweetser and Miss Amy Dunn. There was no receiving line and the tea was entirely informal.

Dorothy Collier is hostess tonight at dinner to all the women both in college and in town who have ever attended a Y. W. C. A. conference at Seabeck, Wash. Guests of Miss Collier are Miss Tirza Dinsdale, Mrs. C. H. Edmondson,

Mrs. Wm. M. Case, Essie Maguire, Helen McDonald, Mary Moore, Mabel Weller, Blanche Nelson, Lillian Hausler, Jeanette Kletzing, Helen Brenton, Eloine Leighton, Marion Andrews and the hostesses.

Tomorrow at four the studio of the music building will view the first of a series of studio teas given by Miss Eleanor Lee, instructor of voice, in the School of Music. Members of Miss Lee's classes will be guests, and four of the girls and Miss Lee will sing. The girls are Mildred Blaker, Laura Rand, Dorothy Dodds and Fredricka Travis. Miss Lee intends to have several of these informal teas in the very near future.

Guests of Sigma Nu Sunday will be Mrs. Lloyd Tegart, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. William Barker.
