

OREGON FIVE WINS THREE GAMES OUT OF FOUR ON TRIP

All Conference Clashes Won; Team Eager for O. A. C. Friday.

DURNO TOSSES 184 OF SEASON'S SCORE OF 344

Contests this Week Decide Whether Varsity Goes to California.

(Alexander G. Brown.)

The University of Oregon basketball team returned to the campus Sunday evening after a very successful week's campaign throughout the Northwest, winning three out of four games while on the trip.

According to the score book, which tells many things often overlooked, Oregon did not win the Idaho game by the grace of the referee on personal fouls, as stated in the press report.

Different Rule in Force

In the game at Moscow this ruling was not in effect, but another rule was agreed upon by the coaches of the respective teams whereby upon four personal fouls being called on a player the opposition was given the opportunity to toss two fouls.

The two games against the Washington State College team were about the hardest of the season, according to members of the team who returned. The Oregon trossers were going strong, and they are getting ready for the contests with O. A. C. this week-end.

Aggies to Fight Hard

In any event the Corvallis team will be here with all the fight that they are able to muster and they will put up a great game. Basketball is one game that comparative scores tell very little about.

About this time in the season the sporting statistician begins to figure up the total scores of the home team and compares the relative strength of the various departments.

Durno Piles Up Points

Eddie Durno has been the big point winner for the varsity. On fouls Eddie has converted 90 out of a possible 134, which gives him an average in the department of .671.

The fact that Oregon has scored almost 100 points more than her rivals speaks well for the brand of guarding that has been done by Chapman, Brandon and Jacobberger.

Lozengo LaSnoope Emerald Sleuth on Trail of Mu Cow Mu

At great trouble and expense, the Emerald has employed a highly-trained detective to ferret out the different secret organizations on the campus, and startling revelations will be made from time to time.

There are many secret societies on the campus whose existence has never been suspected. The membership of these societies is made up of representative and characteristic men of the campus, and nearly all of them have high ideals.

One of the first, which Lozengo unearthed, is the ancient and venerable society named Mu Cow Mu. Its avowed purpose is to supply better milk for babies of Springfield. Hence its musical and expressive name. Mu Cow Mu was organized by King Solomon, following a long appeal by his eighty-eighth wife—a native of Springfield.

The Two Tonic club, for the extermination of the Germans, and the respiration of moustaches, is claimed by Lo Lozengo, to be another of the secret organizations which he is exposing.

Trey C. Beers and Harry Irish have also founded a club and their avowed purpose, is eternal war on the sandfleas of Mt. Hood. The good work of this club has caused much favorable comment everywhere except on Mt. Hood, and it is expected that the club will live a long life.

CAPTAIN KUYKENDALL IS DEAD IN FRANCE

Oregon Graduate, Football and Track Star, was Head of Ambulance Unit.

Captain John Eberle Kuykendall, graduate of the University in the class of 1908 and one of the most famous of Oregon athletes, died in Lemans, France, of spinal meningitis, Sunday morning. News of his death reached his brother, W. A. Kuykendall, of Eugene, Monday, in a cablegram which arrived simultaneously with one announcing his serious illness.

Captain Kuykendall organized and commanded the University of Oregon ambulance company, in the ranks of which are included many students and graduates. Almost immediately on the declaration of war, in 1917, he set at work organizing the unit and in the fall of that year he went with it to Camp Lewis, leaving with his command for France in July, 1918, attached to the 91st division.

The company went through some of the hottest fighting on the western front last fall without losing a man, and Captain Kuykendall's death was the first in the unit in France, now on the eve of returning home.

In his college days Captain Kuykendall was one of the best all-around athletes ever developed at the institution. He played quarterback on the varsity for three years, being selected in his senior year as all-Northwest quarter.

Captain Kuykendall was also a member of the athletic council while in college and later an alumni member of the council.

He was married to Miss Winifred Had.

WOMEN'S BUILDING WILL PROFIT $125 BY COLONIAL PARTY

Plays, Tableaux and Dances Entertain Visitors from Portland and Eugene.

As a result of the Colonial Assembly held Saturday night in celebration of Washington's birthday, under the direction of the Women's League, at least $150 will be accrued to the fund for the new women's building, according to a report made this morning by Melle Parker, advertising and business manager, who is well pleased with the success of the fete.

About 500 University, Portland and Eugene people visited Guild hall, the "Y" hut and Hendricks hall during the evening, and everywhere gay and charming ladies in quaintly beautiful silk and satin colonial costumes greeted the guests.

The affair was the biggest social undertaking on the campus this year and was an artistic success.

The plays, "Counsel Retained," featuring Ruth Young, Claire Keeney and Ogden Johnson and "The Prince of Court Painters" with Charlotte Banfield, Norvell Thompson and little Elizabeth Thacher making up the cast, were both a testimonial of the excellence of the dramatic work accomplished by the University under the direction of Miss Charlotte Banfield.

Five Receive Guests.

Johnson hall foyer, with its stately marble pillars was an appropriate setting for the charmingly gowned ladies in the receiving line, who with their faces framed by highly coiffured and curled powdered hair were reminiscent of a bygone and picturesque day.

At the hut, a gilt picture frame draped with a curtain of old blue formed the setting for the tableaux, which were copies of old English masterpieces portrayed by Mrs. John

OREGON TO HONOR MEN LOST IN WAR

Memorial Services for University Dead will be Held in Villard March 9.

Committees have been appointed for the Memorial Day program in honor of the graduates and former students of the University who gave their lives in the service of their country during the war, and plans are being made for the services to be held in Villard hall, Sunday afternoon, March 9.

Letters of invitation to the services will be mailed this week to the parents of the forty men whose names are on the University honor roll.

There will be a special musical program, and a speaker who has not been decided on as yet. Men from each class which has given the life of one or more of its members will read the names of the members of their class from the honor roll of the University.

The committees which have been appointed are: Music, Dr. J. J. Landsbury, dean of the school of music, and John Stark Evans, professor in the school of music; decorating, A. F. Reddie, professor of dramatics, and a student committee composed of Bee Weatherbee and Lyle McCroskey; for the speaker, Eric Allen, dean of the school of journalism, Karl Onthank, secretary to the president, and Herald White and Douglas Mullarky.

DR. CASWELL IN PORTLAND.

Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics in the University, is in Portland this evening where he will attend a meeting of the New Era committee of the Presbyterian synod of Oregon. Dr. Caswell will represent the Willamette valley at the meeting. He expects to return tomorrow morning.

FACULTY ORGANIZE ATHLETICS; WILL ENGAGE IN SPORT

Dean Walker, Director, Says He has Promising Material.

The men of the faculty made definite plans for their athletic program for this year and elected officers at a special meeting yesterday afternoon in Dean Straub's room. Dean Walker, graduate manager in charge of athletics, was chosen director, Dr. Warren D. Smith manager, and Professor Robert W. Prescott, chairman.

The faculty will put out teams for the doughnut league in handball, tennis and baseball and will start training at once. Regular gymnasium work will be given three days a week under the direction of Dean Walker. The faculty chose Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4:30 to 5:30 as their "gym periods." They will take their exercise in a special faculty division of the new outdoor gymnasium. Classes will be held this week Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 4:30, but beginning next week, the other schedule will be used.

Classes Are For All.

"We want it emphasized," Director Walker said this morning, "that these periods are for all the men of the faculty who wish to come out for this exercise." Games will be played in addition to the regular exercises. Volley ball will probably be one of the most popular, thinks Mr. Walker. The faculty have reserved for them special dressing rooms, private lockers, and private showers and everything will be fixed for their convenience.

Although the principal idea of this new arrangement for faculty athletics is to give every man a chance to get exercise and to develop "athletics for all," teams will also be worked up to participate in the doughnut leagues, "just to show the youngsters," as Dean Walker puts it, "that they don't know everything about athletics."

Some Promising Material.

The faculty has promising material for teams in the various sports. Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the department of geology, is a University of Wisconsin track man of prominence and Sam Bass Warner is a Harvard track man. In tennis, men who have played are Robert W. Prescott, professor of public speaking, who was a tennis shark in his college days at the University, Dr. Smith, Dean D. Walter Morton, head of the school of Commerce, A. R. Tiffany, registrar, Sam Bass Warner, W. F. G. Thacher, professor of rhetoric and W. E. Milne, professor of mathematics.

In handball, most of these men, together with Dean Walker, who is an all-around athlete, will compete with the doughnut league artists.

The faculty will also develop a fine baseball team, says Mr. Walker. He doesn't know where any of his material is to come from as yet, but he says he knows it is here and he will get the men out.

DE FELL UNDER ARREST

Former Instructor Held on Charge of Impersonating Instructor.

Professor John Ferdinand Harthan De Fell, former instructor in foreign languages in the University has been arrested in Los Angeles on the charge of impersonating a sailor in the United States navy. Officers found on searching his room a discharge from the army, showing that he has been a member of the students' army training corps at Stanford University.

Professor De Fell declared upon his arrest that he had been ill-treated while serving in the language department at the University and that following his resignation from the faculty he was accused of being a German spy, a draft evader, and a dangerous alien enemy and was held for three weeks in his rooms at the University club at Portland upon the complaint of the district attorney. He was finally released.

Since his discharge from the army he has been employed, he says, on secret experiments for a firm of chemists in Los Angeles.

Further investigation of the case will be made by the war squadron of the Los Angeles police force.

Dr. Straub Discovers $1000 Check on Desk; But It Is Not for Him

A check for one thousand dollars! "This must be a joke!" Such was the reaction to the unexpected when Dean John Straub discovered on his desk Monday morning said check made out to him and bearing the signature of Mrs. W. F. Jewett.

"I must find out about this," and the dean hastily thumbed over the leaves of the telephone directory in search of the name signed to the check.

"This is Mr. Straub speaking," when he got his party.

"Just w-what does this c-check m-mean?" he inquired.

"Oh! it is for the woman's building, and it is really so? I just found it on my desk," he explained.

"It has been there since Saturday night, you say? What time? Ten o'clock?"

Thus the people interested in the University lost the chance Saturday night, by a hearty vote of thanks, to recognize the gift of Mrs. Jewett, for Dean Straub says that if he had received the gift before leaving he can think of no more fitting place to have made the announcement at the colonial assembly given to raise funds for the woman's building.

As it was, the check lay on the desk and for 36 hours of grim silence before the belated thank you was given to the donor, who, however, could feel amply repaid by the big smile worn all day yesterday by Dean Straub.

"I made the check out to Dean Straub because he is to me the father of the University, and through him I learned of the needs of the institution," Mrs. Jewett stated yesterday, adding that she wanted to show that she was willing to do a little to help the University. Mrs. Jewett's home is in Gardiner, Oregon, but she is living at 1464 Fairmount boulevard with her daughter, Narcissa, who is a freshman and member of Pi Beta Phi, attends the University.

TENTATIVE DEBATE TEAMS ANNOUNCED

Men's Organizations Pick Representatives for Series.

Tentative teams have been announced for further debates by all the men's houses and the following people will probably represent the organizations which survived the first elimination in the doughnut debate league:

Affirmative vs. Negative.

Friendly Hall—George Shirley and Stanley Eisman opposing Deleta Tau Delta—Raymond Koessel and Elmo Madden.

Delta Tau Delta—Carlton Weigel and Raymond Lawrence opposing Beta Theta Pi—Forest Watson and Richard Martin.

Beta Theta Pi—Eugene Kelly and Curtis Peterson opposing Sigma Nu—Steven Mathieu and Willard Hollenbeck.

Sigma Nu—Barton Sherk and Sprague Carter opposing Phi Delta Theta—Ben Ivey and Roscoe Roberts.

Phi Delta Theta—Ed Durno and George Black opposing Oregon Club—Len Fishback and Dewey Probst.

Oregon Club—Day Bayly and Arthur Hicks opposing Friendly Hall—Arthur Johnson and Remy Cox.

The men are working on the question, "Resolved, That the United States should cancel the French government's debt to the United States government."

With Herman Lind, head of the men's debate league, back on the campus after a basketball trip, there will probably be a meeting of the fraternity representatives this week to decide on whether or not they want to accept the judges for their debates as chosen by the women. At this time the matter of halls for the various debates will be chosen and a chairman appointed for each place.

STUDENT PRESIDENT BACK

Herald White, president of the student body, returned to the campus Monday morning after having been confined to his home in Cottage Grove by illness for the last week. He says that he is feeling fine again and all ready to resume his work.

UNIVERSITY BILLS PASS LEGISLATURE; BUILDING ASSURED

$235,000 is Appropriated, of Which $135,000 is for Maintenance.

WORK MAY START SOON ON WOMAN'S STRUCTURE

Money will be Available in $25,000 Blocks to Match Outside Gifts.

Passage by the state senate Monday of the $235,000 appropriation bill for the University, assured both $135,000 in addition to the millage tax for the maintenance of the institution and $100,000 for the long-planned Women's building on the campus.

The $100,000 granted for the women's building, under the terms of the bill, will be turned over to the University as soon as equal sums raised from private sources are obtained, according to the agreement made by the sponsors for the building with the legislators.

This means, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to President Campbell that work on the new building can be begun in the near future, since there is now available in cash and bonafide pledges, between $20,000 and $25,000, for the building. Plans, to be drawn under the direction of Dean Lawrence of the School of Architecture, will provide, it is understood, for a building to be erected under the unit plan, for the first unit of which $50,000 will soon be available. The full cost of the structure will ultimately be $200,000.

In addition to the $135,000 appropriated for maintenance for two years, the millage tax provides almost $300,000 a year.

The vision of a women's building on the campus, conceived six years ago by Miss M. Ruth Guppy, dean of women at the University in 1913, is about to be realized, as it is expected that the $100,000 appropriation bill will be passed by the state legislature in a few days, as recommended and voted on Monday night, February 3, by a joint ways and means committee from the house and senate. An equal amount will be raised by popular subscription, and a $200,000 building will be erected. Work on the new structure will probably begin this spring if the legislature passes the bill.

It was through this realization by Miss Guppy of the total lack of buildings and facilities that the Women's League was organized and since that time all the young women of the student body have been working for the greatly needed building. In 1915, Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, of Portland, a member of the board of regents, undertook to further the cause of the women's league, with the result that $20,552.39 of the required $100,000 is in the bank and drawing interest, according to a report made by Mrs. Gerlinger, who appeared before the ways and means committee and spoke of the necessity for the building. What she said was indorsed by Mrs. Charles H. Castner, of Hood River and Mrs. George McMasters, of Portland.

Alumni Contribute.

The first one hundred dollars raised by popular subscription came from the Oregon Alumnae residing in Portland, Gamma Phi Beta, of which sorority Miss Guppy is a member, gave $25 a year to the fund until last year, when due to war conditions, they were unable to raise the amount.

Of the gifts to the fund, the donors are all students, alumni, women's clubs and friends of the University. The largest individual gift was made by Miss Genevieve Thompson of Portland, in memory of the late D. P. Thompson. She donated $3,000.

The senior graduating class of 1917 gave $377.50; the proceeds of a lecture course in Portland, given by Colonel John Leader, Dr. George Rebec, Dr. B. W. D. Busk, Mrs. Walter Burrell and Mrs. W. D. Wheelwright accrued $314.50. Portland Oregon alumnae $1,000; senior class of 1918, donated $700. Progressive dinner (students) added $314.50.

Sixteen Give $500.

Sixteen gifts of $500 each have been donated. All donors of this amount or
