

HAROLD SAY TAKES POSITION ON PAPER

Veteran of 65th City Editor of Guard; Maurice Hyde Moves Up.

Harold B. Say, ex-19, who returned with the Sixty-Fifth, has taken a position with the Eugene Daily Guard, succeeding Maurice H. Hyde, '17. Mr. Hyde, in turn, succeeds Harry N. Crain, ex-'18, who has resigned as news editor of the paper.

Mr. Say was on the campus Sunday and Monday renewing old acquaintances. He expresses great joy at getting home, but has a warm spot in his heart for France. He likes it so well, he says, that he would enjoy going back there for a year or two if a satisfactory opening offered.

Verdun was the hottest place he was in during the war, Mr. Say reports. Through an error in sending up munition trains in broad daylight, in full view of German observers, the battery's position was revealed, and it was only their sheltered position just behind a hill that averted disaster for the battery.

Having had previous experience in telephone work, Mr. Say was assigned as an instructor in the telephone school at Limoges for five months. This was most enjoyable work, he says. Limoges, ordinarily a city of 100,000, had 500,000 inhabitants during the war. The French people treated the American soldiers with great kindness, even opening their homes to them, which is an unusual favor in France. Admittance to one home usually meant similar treatment by a large number of others, and the men were well entertained.

Though the battery was often under fire, there were very few casualties, and Harold came through without a scratch.

Mrs. Say, who was Miss Lillian Porter, a classmate of her husband, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, will come to Eugene from Portland within a few days, with their baby daughter, to make her home.

GYMNASIUM GIRLS TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Class Work, Games, Folk and Interpretative Dancing to be Presented.

Middies will be freshly laundered, bloomers neatly pressed and gym shoes probably receive their first coat of blacking of this year before next Thursday night, when the women of the physical training department will give an exhibition of their work in the mens' gymnasium. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged and the proceeds will be given to the women's building fund.

This demonstration is to consist of a display of the regular work undertaken by the classes of girls required to take physical training for the first two years of their college life. The advanced class of girls, composed of majors in the department, will appear in advanced marching and gymnastics. Interpretative dances will be given by the class in esthetic dancing, and Danish and Swedish folk dances by the folk dancing class.

About 150 freshmen girls will appear in relay games, these games being the same as those introduced on the gymnasium floor during the regular class period.

All girls in the department, including those in corrective classes, will take part in the grand march. Following is the program for the evening:

- March All Classes
- Hungarian Csardas (Brahms)
- Esthetic Dancing Class
- Circle darts ball Freshman Girls
- Shepherds Dance (Ed German)
- Esthetic Dancing Class
- Sophomore drill (marching and gymnastics)
- Sophomore Girls
- Freshman relay games—over and under, all up, shuttle.
- Folk Dancing—..... Folk Dancing Class

GLEE CLUBS PRACTICING

St Cecilia Mass to be Given During Spring Term.

Practices are being held in the School of Music, for St. Cecilia mass which will be given during the spring term, under the direction of Professor Robert Louis Barron. The score of this oratorio, by Gounod, has been received by Professor Barron and the orchestra are hard at work on the music.

John Stark Evans, who is training the choir, made up of the combined men's and women's glee clubs, will be at the piano. The choir have already rehearsed and given in public a small part of the music and the entire performance promises to be very beautiful, according to the ones who are directing it.

The solo parts will be taken by Melba Williams, soprano, George Hopkins, tenor and Curtiss Peterson, bass. The exact date has not been arranged.

EUGENE MERCHANTS GIVE TROPHY FUND

Cup, Gold Balls and Medals to be Given Winners in Basketball.

Eugene merchants contributed $115.50 to make up a sum with which to buy trophies for the members of the team which wins the state championship in the interscholastic basketball series which will be held in the mens' gymnasium this week-end starting Friday night, and for the men which are selected as members of the state all-star interscholastic team, after the series are completed.

A committee consisting of Dick Avison and Joe Trowbridge took charge of the soliciting and have ordered the awards which will be here in time to present to the men after the championship game Saturday night. The committee has ordered six gold basketballs, about the size of a dime in circumference, to be given to the men who are chosen as members of the all-star team, and six gold medals, round in shape with half of a basketball raised in the center of the piece, for the members of the winning team. All awards will be appropriately inscribed.

The chief prize for the winning team of the series will be a large silver cup given by the gymnasium department of the University. It will be known as the University of Oregon state interscholastic basketball championship and will be awarded each year to the team winning the state title at the meet held under the auspices of the University of Oregon.

The contributors to the fund are: Yoran Printing House, $10; McMorran and Washburne, $10; Schaefer Bros. (Ax Billy), $10; Seth Laraway, $10; First National Bank, $10; J. B. Anderson, (Tollman studio), $10; United States National Bank, $7.50; Bank of Commerce, $5; Hauser Bros., $5; H. Burgoyne (The Rainbow), $5; T. C. D. Wade, $2; Coe's $1.

"TRIPLE A" WILL MEET

Freshmen Women Urged to Attend Last Meeting by President.

An important meeting of Triple A will be held in Professor Howe's room, Villard hall, Wednesday at 5 o'clock according to Helen Clark, president.

"Every freshman girl is a member of Triple A," said Miss Clark, "and is urged to attend this meeting, first, because it is the last meeting for the term and plans for future work must be made at this time and secondly, because the freshman women should back Triple A financially and at present many of the girls have not paid their pledge of $1.50 made before Christmas."

THE JOURNAL CLUB MEETS

Organization Discusses Friday Harbor and Research Work.

The Journal club held a special meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock at which all students interested in Friday Harbor and the Puget Sound Biological Station there, were invited. Friday Harbor and the possibilities for research work there were discussed. A class made up of a few of the science professors and University students plan to do scientific research there next summer.

◆ Each fraternity house is requested to send a representative to Dean Walker's office in the mens' gymnasium Thursday morning at 10:50 o'clock to draw from the lottery to determine which high school basketball team they will entertain over the week-end. Drawing will be made between 10:50 and 11:00 o'clock.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

There were several line and box parties at the Eugene theater last night to see "Frills and Feathers." The freshmen of Beta Theta Pi and their guests occupied the boxes, while several other groups had line parties.

Tonight the women's houses on the campus are exchanging dinner guests again. This will probably be the last exchange of the term, but the custom will no doubt be continued after spring vacation.

Torch and Shield is entertaining tonight at an informal dance. There will be no social events this week-end owing to final examinations next week.
