MOST OF CAMPUS FAVORS CHANGE TO STUDENT CONTROL

atics department: "I think that next year will be the most favorable time for taking up the matter of student control. Never before has the student body taken up the problems of University life and of civic work as they have since the United States entered the war. They handled the serious problems that arose with the judgment of men and women and were a wonderful help to the faculty. I think that the faculty has never been so proud of the help of the student body as they have during the past two years. I believe that with the men back, as they practically all will be back by next fall, that next year will see the University better prepared for self-government than it has ever been before in its history. This is because of two reasons, the students have handled responsible problems and are used to them, and the men coming back no longer look at things as boys but as men. Discussion is good now but the ideal time for organization is next fall. "If the students are willing to take the responsibility then there will develop real leaders that will be prepared for life, and the accomplishment of this end will be worth all the efforts put into the responsibility of student control."

Council Members For It.

Members of the student council and other students have added their say to the discussion.

Herald White: "It is an ideal thing to work for but I am not sure that the student body is capable of taking hold of it now, for it will mean a radical change, and in their period of readjustment there is a certain amount of antagonism among the students anyway. A failure would prove disastrous to the college. I am not in favor of trying it right now."

Ella Dews: "Student control is the only official means of administering and executing the regulations that are necessary to govern any group of students."

Helen Brenton: "University students are supposedly beyond the kindergarten stage and as responsible members of the community are perfectly capable of self-government."

Herman Hind: "I think it is a good thing and if it has been worked out elsewhere, it can be done here."

BOTH DEANS LEAVE CAMPUS

No One to Sign Voluminous Quantity of Excuse Blanks.

Wanted, one highly honorable individual to act in the capacity of a college dignitary! When the deans are away—well, there is no one to sign the voluminous quantity of excuse blanks—that undeniably worth while process by which students make amends with the world for cutting lectures, classes and even cutting remarks.

The fact is, that no office hours were kept in the deanery this morning or yesterday afternoon. Dean Straub left the campus yesterday noon for a tour into Idaho and eastern and central Oregon, where he is scheduled to make some 25 or more addresses before high school students in the interests of the University. He expects to be gone about two weeks during which time he will win a crowd of people into coming to the University next year—even as you and I were captured not so many years ago. He's going to do the country up in great style; he's going to stop at Boise City, Payette, Nampa, Weiser, Ontario, Baker, La Grande, Joseph and every other little village interested in the wonders of higher education and the possibilities of such as offered at Oregon.

In the meantime, however, Dean Ehrmann has not yet returned from her tour into the southern part of the state, where she too has been speaking for the University, with a particular emphasis on the woman's building fund.

OREGON MAN MAY RETURN

Howard McCulloch, Flying Cadet; Instructor at Mather Field.

Howard T. McCulloch, a junior in the class of 1917, who was a flying cadet in the air service, received his discharge January, 1919, and in a letter to Emma Wootton Hall, secretary of military affairs at the University, states that he intends to return to the University if possible.

Mr. McCulloch was graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, and the school of military aeronautics and received his commission at Mather field, Sacramento, California, as second lieutenant.

From the time of receiving his commission he had flying distinction and was an instructor at Mather field, Sacramento from October, 1918 to January, 1919. Previous to this enlistment he spent ten months on the Mexican border with troop A, Oregon cavalry.

"I started flying training with 'Chuck Dundore,' he writes, 'and both of us had our only crack up within 50 feet of each other and at the same time. Both on our 'solo' trip.'"

WOMAN'S BUILDING FUND IS FAR SHORT

More than half of Eugene's $25,000 fund for the benefit of the Woman's Building fund remains to be raised after nearly a week of effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce.

Of the $12,000 raised, $1,000 was subscribed by President Campbell, who made the first contribution to the fund. Other members of the faculty are among the contributors.

While the work of raising the whole $25,000 appears to be dragging, the committee in charge is by no means discouraged. New life is to be put into the campaign next week in the hope of having the first $25,000, to be matched by state appropriation, raised in time to insure an early start of construction on the building.
