

LEAGUE COVENANT FAULTY, IN OPINION OF MR. HAWLEY

Believes Universal Peace Under Present Draft of Document Impossible

IMMIGRATION IS INCLUDED

Says Domestic Policies Should Be Left to Individual
Nations

The nations of the world cannot be bound together by the draft now under consideration for a constitution, according to the opinion expressed by Representative W. C. Hawley when he addressed the students of the University and a number of townspeople on "A League to Enforce Peace" at the assembly hour on Wednesday. After careful study Mr. Hawley has reached the conclusion that a document so weak in phraseology and indefinite in meaning could never bring about and maintain universal peace.

"If out of all this downfall we cannot derive some blessing for the future as a necessary compensation for those who have made the supreme sacrifice it will be most unfortunate," said the speaker. "In my judgement we must either have a League of Nations or a great standing army. One of these things appears to be inevitable. I am in favor of a League of Nations, but no document drafted by a man or set of men, no matter how sincere, that tends to take from the people of the United States their rights and privileges shall be the constitution of that League."

Better Document Must Appear

"No body of men ever yet lived who had all the wisdom of mankind," said the Congressman, but he expressed the belief that a much wiser and more definite and democratic document must and can be written. Every word must have its exact and definite meaning decided by court. The methods of appointment for each office with the duties and powers of that office stated, the position and powers of each nation should be mentioned in the constitution. The question as to whether or not the individual nations shall manage their own domestic affairs and the League govern only in national matters should be settled.

Mr. Hawley hastily reviewed the document as it now stands, dwelling on the alleged weakness of several points, all of which he believes must be made strong before the League can possibly become effective. The draft proposes twenty-eight nations in union, with an executive council of nine men. The five recognized great nations of the world are the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. "These men will hold the peace of the world in their own discretion or indiscretion," said the speaker, "no one knows how they are to be appointed; how long they will serve or how they shall vote."

President, World's Leading Man

"After the League has been established—and I believe in a League of Nations—the representative from the United States will be the second most important man in the world. Our president is the first. The people ought to know how this representative is to be appointed or elected. Will the second man in the world be appointed by our president and sanctioned by the Senate or will he be elected by the people? We do not know. "One of the most notable things has been the question of the Monroe Doctrine," said Mr. Hawley. After outlining the instances in the past when the doctrine has been applied, he asked, "Shall the Monroe Doctrine be thrown into the scrap heap and the council make the decisions? What shall be done? Shall we let this policy that has been tried and that has worked so well be thrown aside and pass out of the hands of the original friends of

Dean Allen Buys It Down Town and Wears It To Campus

Dean Allen sprung a surprise on the campus yesterday.

In which feat Dean Allen was only passing along the surprise, for he had just received one himself.

But that is another story.

The Dean appeared on the campus with a cane, which he had purchased down town—which appearance was much to the surprise of the oldest campus inhabitants, none of whom recalled anything of the sort in his past history. Dean Straub, who has been here since 1878 and has seen many canes come and go—but that, too, is another story.

Dean Allen went home with the cane slung over his arm, careless-like. However, this latest addition to his personality was noted by Mrs. Allen and the little Allens.

Just what happened further has not yet come to the ears of the Emerald reporters, who, according to the K. K. K. press agent, are marvels of persistence and inquisitiveness. However, it may be added—Dean Allen came down to the campus today without the cane.

SHAW BURLESQUE TO DRAW LAUGHS

"Androcles" to be a Scream;
Lion's Identity Not Yet
Made Known

Costumes and stage committees have been working in Guild hall all week in preparation for Friday and Saturday nights, when "Androcles and the Lion," Bernard Shaw's screaming burlesque, will be staged by the "Company," with all the art and finish that limited time and student talent will allow. The box office at Guild Hall opened this morning and according to Norvell Thompson, in charge, the comedy will undoubtedly be shown before a full house.

As yet the mystery of the "Lion" is unsolved and although campus gossip has attached the honor to several prominent dramatic students no one outside the cast is really certain. Friday night the secret will be divulged, and the Saturday night audience will go to the performance prepared to recognize the "beast."

Evelyn Smith is in charge of the costuming and has working with her Lillian Auld and Gwladys Bowen. Hostesses for the performance will be Theresa Cox, Gladys Diment, Frances Stiles and Ruth Young. Norvell Thompson is stage manager, and William Rebec is stage electrician. Following is the list of characters in the order of their entrance:

- Androcles, a Greek (Christian) tailor Mr. Thompson
- Megaera, his better seven-eighths..... Miss Hurd
- A Centurion Mr. Johnson
- A Captain Mr. Leslie
- Lavinia, a Christian patrician..... Miss Purington
- Lentulus, a fop..... Mr. Veatch
- Metellus, his friend Mr. Keeney
- Spintho, an ex-drunkard converted to Christianity Mr. Miller
- Farrovius, an evangelist, formerly a blacksmith Mr. Maddock
- Keeper of the Emperor's menagerie..... Mr. Hulin
- Calp-boy at the Coliseum..... Miss Gilstrap
- Julius Caesar Mr. Houston
- Christian martyrs, gladiators, soldiers, a lion, a puppy and a snake

R. O. T. C. INSPECTOR COMING

Colonel James G. Hannah, of the General Staff, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., is expected to arrive on the campus Wednesday, April 23, to make the annual inspection of the University R. O. T. C. He will visit the universities, colleges and high schools in the states of North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

GLEE CLUB READY FOR HOME CONCERT ON FRIDAY EVENING

Versatility to be Displayed in Program of Songs and Stunts

If you have ever sat and listened to the harmony of trained male voices blended in a program of unusual versatility ranging from heavy chorus work to dashing vaudeville, you can guess what the Men's Glee club concert at the Eugene theater tomorrow night is to be. Various towns which the club visited on the spring vacation tour have painted glowing pictures of the success of the concert, and testimony from John Stark Evans, director, shows that the production will be good.

"There was excellent material to work with this year," said Mr. Evans, "and the boys have worked hard to put on a good concert."

Posing as Henrico Caruso, Arthur Johnson, tenor, will give a perfect impersonation of that famous singer. "Singa da Carus" is the name of the monologue, and it's sure to get over, say members of the club.

"Rabbits" to be Feature
Another witty monologue called "Rabbits" will be carried out by George Doust, a clever comedienne of Salem.

Billy Morrison, Graham Smith and George Hopkins form the trio for the one-act musical skit, "Three Singin' Bones," which according to Paul Spangler, manager, will be the one big surprise and hit of the evening.

Curtis Peterson, baritone, and George Hopkins, tenor, will appear in solos. Oregon songs and popular selections will be features of the concert, mingled with heavier numbers by famous composers.

Fourteen members of the Girls' Glee club have consented to usher for the event. Since many of the churches are holding services in the earlier part of the evening the curtain will not rise until 8:45.

JOHN DIERDORFF RETURNS

To Take Final Examinations For Entrance to Annapolis

John Dierdorff, candidate for entrance to the naval academy, who lived at Friendly hall last term, is back on the campus for a few days to finish his final examinations, preparatory to entering Annapolis.

A series of six examinations including geometry, arithmetic, grammar, geography, and history must be taken at the Eugene postoffice and will occupy the time between Wednesday and Saturday. Mr. Dierdorff expects to leave for Annapolis the last of May. He is the guest of the U-Avava club during his stay.

FACULTY, DELTS, OREGON CLUB WIN IN TENNIS GAMES

Both Faculty Teams, Delts and Oregon Club Jump Into
Lead in League

STANDING OF TEAMS

Faculty No. One	Won	Lost
A. T. O.	1	0
Oregon club	1	0
Sigma Chi	0	1
Delts	1	0
U club	0	1
Phi Delts	0	1
Faculty No. Two	1	0
Beta	Postponed
Fiji	Postponed
Dorm	Postponed

The Oregon club tennis team, composed of Harry Westerman and Martin Sichel succeeded in eliminating the Sigma Chi from the tennis league, by defeating Graham Smith and "Bill" Patterson, who played for the Sigma Chi, 6-3, 6-3. Harry Westerman is the shining light of the doughnut games and is showing some real class on the court. The Delts won their first game by walloping the U. club to the score of 6-0, 6-0. Jay Butler and William Beck defended the U. club, while "Jack" Askey and Kenneth Smith won the match for the Delts. The Delt men look like possible champions, but they are going to find some stiff competition when they play the Oregon club and the Betas. The Betas have not been seen in action yet, but with George Beggs and Forrest Watson on their team they would have a chance for the honors.

Faculty team No. 2 won their game from Bill Cummings and Joe Ingram, who played for the Phi Delts. The faculty team of Larremore and Warner put up a stiff game, but the Phi Delts held them to a 6-3, 6-3 score.

The Beta vs. Fiji match which was to have been played Monday afternoon is still being postponed by these teams. They are holding up the whole schedule because of their delay, for the Dorm team will play the winner of this game. The new schedule will be announced just as soon as these teams play their games.

FORMER STUDENT TO WED

L. A. Hyland Engaged to Chicago Girl;
Will Graduate This Year

A clipping from a Chicago newspaper enclosed in a letter from L. A. Hyland, to Miss Charlie Fenton, alumni secretary, contains the news of his engagement to a Chicago girl, Clara Melms. Hyland was a student at the University in 1913 and 1914. He is now attending the Northwestern University and will graduate from the medical school there this year.

Hyland writes that he was in service with the medical corps for some time and then transferred to the S. A. T. C. He has accepted a position in Calloway, Nebraska, and will go there as soon as school closes.

He wrote to send his alumni dues and to wish the alumni magazine much success.

MISS HASLETT ON CAMPUS

Student Volunteer Officer Speaks at Bungalow Meeting

Miss Edith Haslett, national traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer, an organization of students interested in missions, who spoke at the Bungalow this afternoon, arrived on the campus on Wednesday, from California. Miss Haslett has been making a tour of the universities and colleges of California and this month she will visit the principal colleges of Oregon.

From August 25 to September 5, Miss Haslett will be one of the lecturers at Seabeck, Washington, coming from Asilomar, California, which is also a conference grounds of Y. W. C. A. for students from the southwest. While on the campus Miss Haslett will be entertained with a dinner given by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at the Bungalow on Friday night.

Well, Anyway, It Was Some Noise While It Lasted

It was one o'clock. All the good Chi Omegas were in bed. All the others were in bed too. Suddenly the whole house awoke with a start.

"Good Heavens! What on earth is that noise?" they asked one another. A weird, scratching, shrieking sound permeated everywhere. It continued for about two minutes and finally died out in a blaze of noise. The Chi Omegas looked about in a startled manner. There was silence for a few seconds and the noise broke out again.

At the Theta house, the Alpha Phi house, and even the Sigma Nu house, the noise awoke the inmates. It sounded like a cross between a siren and the breaking up of a hard winter. For a half hour it continued intermittently, and finally died away for good.

The next day frenzied calls to the police department and Lo Zengo La Snoope, the Emerald sleuth, set the wheels of investigation in motion. It was afternoon before La Snoope unearthed the mystery. He was walking in front of Villard hall when he himself heard the weird noise. By the time he managed to get control of his nerves and stop himself, he was near Springfield. With indomitable courage and heroic self-sacrifice, he made his way slowly to the heart of the noise. As he neared the Sigma Chi house a look of comprehension spread over his intelligent face. He understood.

The whole Sigma Chi personnel was on the front porch, each face beaming with a sort of parental pride. In the center of the group, worshipped as a shrine, was a new jazz phonograph.

The city authorities decided to allow them to keep their new toy, after they had promised to purchase the most soft-toned needles obtainable, and to refrain from using it after dark.

NINETEEN WOMEN FORM NEW LOCAL

Alice Hamm, Eugene, and Anna
Vogel, Coburg, Officers of Sigma Delta Phi

A new local sorority of University women was announced this morning. Nineteen girls, now living in town, have formed the club under the name of Sigma Delta Phi. They will establish their own home in the fall and will petition for a national.

The local has the endorsement of President Campbell, Dean Louise Ehrman, Dean John Straub, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Boynton and Mrs. E. P. Datson, who are giving their co-operation to the girls in their new organization.

President Campbell said today: "I am glad to learn that this organization is being formed. It will help to solve the problem of housing at the University next year. I know the students in Sigma Delta Phi are young women of fine University standing and I have no doubt of the success of their plans."

The officers are: Alice Hamm, of Eugene, president, and Anna Vogel, of Coburg, secretary and treasurer. The other members are Florida Hill, Lois Gray, Dorothea Boynton, Vera Tobey, Elsie Marsh, Metta Olsen, Bernice Robb, Mary Turner, Marion Andrews, Leola Greene, Germany Klemm, all of Eugene; Margaret Mansfield, of Prospect, Frances Blurock, of Vancouver, Wash., Dorothy Prairie, of Portland, Irva Smith, of Waterville, Leah Wagner, of Wilsonville and Helen Gronholm, of Astoria.

R. O. T. C. HEADQUARTERS MOVED

The new headquarters of the R. O. T. C. are located in the barracks on University street, built for the S. A. T. C. last fall. The department moved from Friendly hall Tuesday. The offices for the staff officers are located on the first floor. The rooms are fairly large and bright with new white paint. The supply rooms are also on the first floor. The upper story will be used for gallery practice and for lectures, according to Colonel W. H. C. Bowen, professor of military science and tactics.

MULTNOMAH NINE TO BRING SEMI-PRO TALENT SATURDAY

Former Interscholastic Baseball
Stars Included in Portland Lineup

"SHY" EXPECTS HARD GAME

Wilson to Do the Pitching and
Leslie to be on the Receiving End for Oregon

The University of Oregon baseball team will clash with the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club nine on Cemetery ridge next Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The game will be the first real contest of the season in which the varsity will meet a strong team and one that knows baseball. The game this week should give "Shy" and the students a chance to see the team in action and to compare their playing with that of a seasoned team.

The Multnomah club team has an abundance of Portland semi-pro talent on their roster and are planning on a season without any chalk marks in the lost column. Many of the men playing for the club are former Portland interscholastic stars and are well known in Portland baseball circles. Among those who are pasting with the fast Portland team are such players as Hughie McKenna, former short stop for Columbia university; Girth Cole, former Lincoln star, and a number of others.

Probable Lineup Given

"Shy" is expecting a hard game with the Multnomah team and does not consider that his team will have everything its own way. The battery for the club nine has not been announced but they are reported to have exceptional strength in these two departments. Some of the men on the visiting team have just returned from service and are playing better ball than ever before.

"Chief" Wilson will probably start the game for Oregon and Eddie Durno may get a chance on the mound before the afternoon is over. "Jiggs" Leslie is expected to do the receiving for the varsity as Durno will probably not be used behind the bat. "Herm" Lind will be stationed at first base for the varsity, and second will be taken care of by either "Billy" Morrison of "Desertseeker" Campbell. At short the varsity will have "Billy" Rhinehart, who will show for the first time since returning to college. Johnny Houston is slated to take third. Houston is showing well as a fielder at the third station but as a hitter he simply is not present.

Gamble Strong Batter

In the outfield there will be "Ever-ready" Gamble and "Dot" Medley and probably either Campbell or Morrison. Huntington has not announced just who will take the third place in the outfield, but it is expected that whoever does not take the second base job will be found gambling in the outer garden.

On the varsity team there will be at least three batters who should get busy in the Saturday game. They are: "Herm" Lind, "Dot" Medley and Johnny Gamble. Gamble's strong point is that he can bat from either side of the plate, making him as effective against left hand pitchers as he is against right. Other strong batters on the team are Rhinehart and Campbell. Morrison is valuable in that he draws more free transportation than any other man on the team. Campbell is one of the best sacrifice hitters that "Shy" has around the lot.

MISS KELLEMS IN NEW POST

Vivian Kellems, '18, has recently accepted a position at a salary of seventy-five dollars a week with the Salvation Army to solicit funds for a drive that is being made in the South. Her headquarters are at Montgomery, Alabama. Miss Kellems has been with the Radcliffe Chautauqua bureau since December. Up until that time since her graduation she has been doing civil service work in Washington, D. C.
