

GLEE CLUB GIRLS TO HAVE FINE TIME

Tour of Coos Bay is Looked Forward to Expectantly; Program Revised

In the more or less gray dawn of next Wednesday morning the Girls' Glee club will leave Eugene for Coos Bay, where they have planned to take the country by storm with their newly-worked-over concert program. The club will sing in Marshfield Wednesday evening and then go on to Coquille, Myrtle Point and Bandon, returning here Sunday, April 27. According to Don Orput, advance agent for the club, the Coos Bay towns are anxious to receive the girls.

"The most interesting part of the trip," said Margaret Mansfield, manager, "will be the boat ride from Myrtle Point to Bandon, a distance of 23 miles, which takes the steamer three hours. The girls will leave Bandon Sunday morning at 4 o'clock and return to Myrtle Point where they take a 7 o'clock train for Eugene. The Coos Bay people have been very generous in offering their homes to the girls and several of them have spoken of dances and other entertainments in honor of the club."

The program used by the club in their home concert has been revised, and the girls have been working this week on the new features. At Marshfield the concert will be held in the Noble theater, the best in town, and the high school boys' and girls' literary society has started a contest in the sale of tickets.

"All the guarantees are good and the contracts are exceptional," said Don Orput, who did the advance work, "and all indications point to a successful trip."

EX-STUDENT WILL RETURN

Barkley G. Loughlin Has Experience With Balloons and Big Guns

Still another former student planning to return to school upon his discharge from the army is Barkley G. Loughlin, who is still in service in France as a second lieutenant in the field artillery.

Loughlin was a student in the University in 1916-17 and enlisted in the field artillery at the close of the year. In January of the next year he went overseas and has been there ever since. He took part in the battles of Seicheprey, Chateau-Thierry, Soissons and several others.

He says on his questionnaire returned to the office of military records of the University, under the heading of experiences, "Varied and exciting from the time of entering the submarine zone and all the way across, to pointing heavy artillery against our foes and taking balloon observations of the enemy movements from four thousand feet elevation."

LEAGUE COVENANT FAULTY, IN OPINION OF MR. HAWLEY

democracy into those of the great powers of Europe?

Japanese Influx Feared

"Shall we let our immigration laws be made by the League and have the Pacific coast 'Japanized' is another problem. If Japan is admitted to the League on an equal standing with the other nations will she not demand entrance into the United States and what will prevent her from gaining that permission. Japan has already said that if the question of immigration is not left to the League she will not enter. If the freedom of people to pass from one country to another should be in the hands of the League there will be an inevitable disaster. If the privilege was granted Japan by the other powers and the United States refused to let the Japanese enter, then the other twenty-seven nations would declare an economic war on us and refuse to trade with us. I will not support any measure that says to the people of the United States that they must become a dumping-ground for the whole world."

In conclusion Mr. Hawley said that the only kind of a League we can have is one that deals only with international problems. It must not attempt to regulate domestic policies. It must, however, be a league that says there cannot be another rival League. It must be supreme and we will grow to love it for what it is in the same way that we love and honor our union for what it stands for.

PAUL TRACY TELLS OF LIFE IN ARMY

Sends Regards to Dean Straub and Other Oregon Professors of the Campus

Influenced by courses at the University toward the "examination" of things German and rejoicing in things American," Paul E. Tracy, a student at the University during 1917-18, writes to President Campbell of his service with the army of occupation. His letter follows:

"Since leaving the University of Oregon I went through training camp and left for France June 30. Our 218th Aero Squadron was attached to the First Pursuit Group which was then flying in the Chateau-Thierry offensive. We went to work in the group as a repair shop complement. Scarcity of motors during the St. Mihiel, Argonne-Meuse drives kept our mechanics very busy. My particular work was magneto repairing.

Swift Little "Spads" Used

"I might say the machines were the swift, little "spads" used for pursuit and patrol work. The aces of the 95th, 94th, 27th, 147th, and 135th Aero Squadron are well known to all. Rickenbacker, Chambers, Meissner, Campbell and the balloon ace, Lieut. Luke, of the 27th, flew from this field.

"Our Park was sent with the 94th into Germany. We are now stationed in an old German fort in Coblenz-Lutzel, across the Moselle from Goblentz proper—waiting for our time to be sent back.

"I enlisted as a mechanic, with no ambitions to become a general. Prof. Bates set me thinking on the German system of thought, as seen by study of Bernhardt, Nietzsche and the historian Treitschke. Am still examining things German, and rejoicing in things which are American.

Oregon Days Profitable

"Give my regards to Professor Straub—the good old Greek, and to Professors Thacher and Bates. Although at the University but a short time, I remember many profitable days spent there.

"It may interest Professor Perfect, the bandmaster, to know our Park has a volunteer band of 25-pieces. I am playing a solo cornet. He had a lot of reproachful looks for me when I used to blast out sharps and flats for him."

Y. WIRES MISS DINSDALE

The Y. M. C. A. members yesterday sent a message of good luck and best wishes to Miss Tirza Dinsdale, former campus secretary, who sails today from New York for France, to do Y. W. C. A. work.

Interfraternity Athletic Council will meet in "Shy" Huntington's office Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. All houses should have representatives at this meeting. Baseball schedule to be drawn up and discussed.
