

EARLY EUTAXIANS BOUGHT LIBRARY

Mrs. Ellen Condon McCornack Tells of First Days of Society

"The early years of the Eutaxian literary society and its connection with the Laurean literary society" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Ellen Condon McCornack, member of the first class to graduate from the University and a charter member of Eutaxian, at the meeting of that organization Tuesday evening at the Bungalow.

The Eutaxian literary society started as a debate and a literary society. J. L. Wortman, affirmative, and Henry McGinn, negative, gave the first Laurean debate on the question: "Do reigns of time portend downfall of republic." "This seems a foolish question now," said Mrs. Cornack, "but it was suited to that time. The affirmative side won, but the world did not stand still, and soon afterwards the Eutaxian literary society was formed.

Controversy Over Name
"There was quite a little trouble over the name, so one of the girls, who was a minister's daughter, went to her father and he suggested the name of 'Eutaxian,' meaning we sustained."

"The first Eutaxian meeting were held upstairs in Deady hall, which was at that time unfinished. Later, the regents requested the room and the two literary societies, the Eutaxian and the Laurean, were given an unfurnished room. The janitor gave them empty candle boxes to use as chairs and when the boxes gave out, the members sat on the floor."

In time the two societies furnished these rooms by giving entertainments. All the students then registered in the University belonged to either one or the other society. Some time the two societies would hold joint meetings and at commencement time they would cooperate in inviting a commencement speaker and the two societies would bear all the expense of the speaker.

Books Were Lacking
The University at that time was lacking in books. The Societies were debating the live questions of our country and needed reference works, so the two societies again cooperated and bought the necessary dictionaries, reference books and libraries. "We had many budding young lawyers on the campus at that time," said Mrs. McCornack. The committee which was appointed to form the consolidation of the two societies in order that they might own property was Judge R. S. Bean, Emmis Wallace and Mrs. Irene Dunn Williams, who was the chairman of the committee. More socials and entertainments were then given to pay for the library. The members went through most of the pioneer experiences for on one occasion they went out to gather wild strawberries for a supper and a shower came up which gave them a thorough drenching.

Stood for Women's Equality
"The question often arises as to what the University would have done without the two societies. Now you have your sororities, student body organizations and your clubs, but then we had nothing but the Laureans and the Eutaxians to solve the problems. The two societies did one valuable thing for the University and for the women when they handed down the tradition at Oregon that women are on an equal with men. At other colleges and universities at that time women were not wanted on the campus, but at Oregon, through the two societies, women were treated as co-workers with the men, and the girls were made to feel at home on the campus."

Oregon Spirit Handed Down
"The two societies may also be said to have started and handed down Oregon Spirit. The students were made to feel loyalty, responsibility and to love their Alma Mater. The spirit which is prevalent in the University today is the same as that spirit which originated in the Laurean and Eutaxian literary societies."

The early Eutaxian meetings were conducted much as today. The question for discussion was announced before the meeting and everyone would look up some references. Then there would be open discussion at the meeting, with sometimes singing and other forms of entertainment.

ACADEMIC SCIENTIST HERE

Dr. Dickerson, of San Francisco, to Talk to Science Club

Dr. Roy E. Dickerson, honorary curator of mollusks, at the California Academy of Science, in San Francisco, will be a guest of the Science club this evening. He will give an address on "The Sierra Nevada mountains and the Mojave Desert," illustrated by colored slides.

The meeting will be held in the geology lecture room in Johnson hall at 7:30. All students and those interested in geology are invited to attend. Dr. Dickerson is a former collegemate of Dr. E. L. Packard, instructor in geology. Both received their doctor's degree at the University of California. Dr. Dickerson is at present connected with an important California oil company. Dr. Packard expects to do field work this summer and fall for the same company.

MARSHALL SELLS FICTION

Ex-Student Gets Six Stories Accepted in Month; to Visit Campus

Edison Marshall, ex-17, of Medford, in a letter to E. W. Allen, dean of the school of Journalism, says the short story market was never better, that all his stories are selling fine. He has just sold two each to the Red Book and the American and one to Munsey and Popular.

These were written in the first month home from the army. Mr. Marshall says that Colonel Leader made a great hit when at Medford talking a short time ago, and hopes to have the pleasure of hearing him again. He says he is coming up to the campus some time soon for a long visit.

GARRET VISITS CAMPUS

Former Football Star Serves Twenty-One Months Overseas

The first Oregon student to return to the campus from overseas service wearing three stripes was Vernon Garrett, ex-16, who made a short visit this week with his fraternity brothers at the Sigma Nu house and left for his home in Medford Tuesday night. Garrett had twenty-one months service in France and Belgium. He was with the ambulance section of the University of California and was with the French army the entire time, with the exception of five weeks in the Argonne and Champagne, when he was with the American army.

Garrett was well known here as one of Oregon's football stars. He went overseas in August, 1917 and returned March 16, 1919. He was in the defense before Verdun, the defense of Montier, Soissons, and Noyon and in the Marne offensive north of Chateau Thierry in July, 1918, the Champagne offensive in October and in the Argonne in November. Garrett was also in the March retreat with the British Fifth army. He was wounded only once during all his time in active service; and then only slightly.

EDUCATION AGENT DUE FRIDAY

Edwin T. Reed, special agent of the United States Bureau of Education will visit the University extension division Friday, to work out a system for the cooperation of the extension division in the establishment of community centers in Oregon.

ALMACK GOING TO COOS

John C. Almack, director of the University extension division will make an extension trip to Coos county next week. He will go to North Bend, Marshfield, Coquille and Myrtle Point, where he will visit the high schools and conduct the educational tests.

MEN'S BAND TO GIVE CONCERT AND DANCE

Best Classical Music and Jazz For Affair Friday Night At Armory

The University Men's Band will be heard in concert at the Armory Friday evening; and will play for a dance to be given after the concert. The members of the band, 30 of them, have been practicing faithfully for the past two months for the concert and they have every piece down pat and are ready to show the University folk that they are among those present.

The band has somehow been associated with football rallies and parades, and the idea seems to have become almost universal that it is impossible for the band to play classical music or be seen in concert. It must be admitted that the band is always on hand for football rallies and games and will probably be seen at the baseball games this spring. What would a rally or a serpentine be without the band?

To Show Appreciation

But now the band is giving a concert, and if the Oregon students really enjoy and appreciate the work the band does for the athletic rallies and games there is no better way to show this than to get out and support this enterprise. The band is the one student body organization on the campus that has not received any support or help from the student body funds and all of the receipts, over and above expenses, will be turned in to the funds of the student body. The band is also the only musical organization on the campus that is not being sent on a trip this year and should at least get a large amount of support at home.

The first half of the evening will be devoted to the concert and Mr. Albert Perfect, director of the band, has announced that there will be plenty of good music during this part of the evening but none of the popular melodies will be played then. During the dance all of the latest "jazz" numbers will be turned loose and with Earl Voorhies and his trombone taking a heavy part the dance music is going to be great. Members of the school of music faculty are acting as patrons and patronesses for the dance.

Editors to be Guests

This is the fourth year of the band under Mr. Perfect and he believes that the concert this year is the best balanced musical program that has been presented during the time of his supervision. The state editors, who will be here in convention this week-end, have been invited to the concert as guests of the members of the band.

The tickets have been placed on sale and may be obtained from any member of the band or from Mr. Perfect at the school of music.

The program for the concert will include the following numbers:
Overture—Raymond ..... Thomas
Selections—Bohemian Girl ..... Balfe
Clarinet Solo—"Two Little Bullfinches" ..... Klig
Norman Byrne
Ballad—"Landkjending" ..... Grieg
Sextette from Lucia di Lammermoor ..... Donizetti
Morris Morgan, Reuel Moore, Earl Voorhies, Robert Hays, Robert C. Hall, F. N. McAlister
Intermezzo Characteristic—"Royal Ann" ..... Perfect
Ann ..... Perfect
Duet—Till's Serenade ..... Till
French Moore, Morris Morgan
Selection—"Songs of Our Oregon" ..... Arranged by Perfect
Dancing immediately after the concert.

HURN STILL IN FRANCE

Sees Several Oregon Men "Overthere"; Home Soon

Karl Onthank, secretary to the President, has received a letter from William Hurn, who was in the University the year 1909 and '10. Hurn is still in France in the service but expects to be sent home in the near future. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega. His letter in part reads as follows: "Your letter of the 12th came today and will shoot right back at you. Missed seeing Janney but a few days. He is at Coblenz, Germany, but got Spike's address from him, also 'Bob' Riggs and a few of the other fellows. Riggs is at Arly Field, Paris. Ralph is going to look him up."

I played in even greater luck on seeing Ralph as he was here for three days. He toured France on basketball team and had a great time.

We get the Oregonian here pretty regularly and I note that Oregon was the coast champion in basketball. Great stuff.

"Spike" is a lieutenant at Bordeaux. Going to school. I have received one letter from him.

I met the whole bunch of fellows in the 3rd Oregon in Portland and you must remember that I visited the chapter in 1916. Remember Croner, Potter, Simpson and all of that gang. Give them my best. Also the same for Doc Brosius.

I am slated for a return home this month, though when I will eventually arrive I don't know. The wife can inform you as to that.

By the way, Mike, whenever you are in Portland go and see her. She is in the office of the Northwestern Electric company in the Pittock block. She has heard a lot of you and would be very glad to see you.

Wish that I had written this on the typewriter now. With all the work there is to do here we are unable to get pen points and I am standing on my ear trying to guide a "stub."

Hoping to see you "toot sweet," fraternally,
"BILL"

GREGORY TO GO TO ROSEBURG

C. A. Gregory, professor of education, will go to Roseburg Friday to conduct his last class in the extension course of educational measurements for the teachers of the city schools of Roseburg. Dr. B. W. DeBusk, professor of secondary education, and John C. Almack, director of the Extension division, will have charge of the last half of the course, which is six classes

MEN'S GLEE TO GO AGAIN

Trip Including Albany, Salem and Portland Plan; Same Program

A second trip which will include concerts in Albany, Salem and Portland is the tentative plan of the Men's Glee club, according to Dean Walker, student manager. The concerts will be given on May 1, 2 and 3 if the final arrangements are made.

Mr. Walker is very enthusiastic about the trip as the concert which was given here last week-end showed that the club has a program which is exceptionally worth while. "I hope the concert can be given in Portland, especially," he stated, "since it would be a great boost to the University." Practically the same program which was given at the home performance will be given during the trip, he said.

MEMORIAL COLLECTION GROWS

Forty more books were added yesterday to the Pauline Potter Memorial collection in the form of the complete works of Shakespeare, Temple edition, donated by Carl N. Homer, Mrs. Homer's husband, who is now living in Seattle. A total of about seventy books have been donated to the collection thus far and other volumes will soon be added.
